

I Am From

I am from the blissful long island sound, bittery cold ice rinks, beautiful weathering seasons and the taste of bitter iced coffee.

I am from the land of the free and the home of the brave, not having to worry about a roof over my head or food on my plate, living most people's dreams.

I am from the rich, privileged town that others wish they could call home.

I am from the place that does not fear discriminating against the rest.
