INDIANS

Promised Surprise by Coach

On Thanksgiving Afternoon, at 2:30 Redland Field, there will be staged the most spectacular football game ever played in Cincinnati, when the Xavier squad lines up against the Haskell Indians.

The Redskins have the most powerful eleven in their history; the week before last, they won from St. Louis University 21 to 7; last week they cleaned up Marquette and have defeated some of the strongest colleges of the Missouri Valley. Admitting the strength of the Indians, Coach Joe Meyer yet says that Xavier will give the Indians the surprise of their lives. Both teams play the same style of football, open field work and forward passes. Xavier has the best team in its history, and would give any college aggregation a stiff battle.

A great crowd is expected; the consistent work of our team this year has gained it a large following and no one who saw the Indian Game last Thanksgiving Day will miss it this year. The Indians won, 7 to 0, in the previous encounter, but the game was nip and tuck, up and down the field and the Indians were mighty glad to hear the whistle's final blow.

The gridiron at Longue Park is laid off down the first base line. The pavilion seats are right back of the Xavier bench. The west end of the pavilion in the center of the field, the best location to be had, has been reserved for Xavier coolers. Let every Xavier man take his place in these sections, with his girl, if need be. The team needs effective and consistent rooting to help it to victory.

Let everybody boost the game and help swell the crowd to such proportions as never before attended a St. Xavier affair.

Mr. E. C. Fassinger, of the Senior Accounting Class, Income Tax Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Office, favored the students with a lecture on the making of corporation income tax returns, which is one of the most important functions of an accountant. His explanation of the procedure from start to finish proved enlightening and instructive and was greatly appreciated by the students.

PRESIDENT ELECT Swells Xaverian Relief Fund

The conversation drifted over on the topic of the Xaverian Relief Fund for the starving women and children in Central Europe. "Why," she modestly remarked, "I can help along. I won two bets on Mr. Harding: One was for a new hat, which represents about $15 and another for a box of candy, which will probably cost about $5. I will get the losers to give me my prizes in money and shall be perfectly happy to add it to the Fund."

XAVERIAN

Victorious in Competition

The School of Commerce and Sociology, but more particularly the Senior Accounting Class, are very elated over the laurels brought home by Richard Finn, '21. These laurels consisted of the first prize of $10.00 awarded by the Cincinnati Chapter of Certified Public Accountants for the best paper written on an accounting subject by a student associate member.

Competitive papers were submitted and read before the Association by Students of U. C. and the Y. M. C. A. correspondence schools and St. Xavier, and a vote cast as to the best paper. The subject under discussion was "Capital Expenditures." Five papers were read. Mr. Finn received fifteen out of nineteen votes.

This is a splendid record. Seniors are very proud of their classmate and Xaverians of their fellow student. The incident furnishes another proof of the thorough and efficient training given by the professors of St. Xavier College and demonstrates the qualifications developed by the students thru this training.

SODALISTS

Resume Meetings at Avondale

Despite the many existing handicaps, the College Sodality was reorganized for the coming year on October 29. Attendance at this and succeeding meetings has been excellent. It is to be hoped that the interest thus far shown will be maintained throughout the year.

For the present the Sodality meets in one of the large recitation rooms in Alumni Hall, in which a quasi-shrine of the Blessed Virgin has been erected. Upon the opening of Hinkle Hall, the chapel therein will be used for Sodality meetings. Fridays, at 11:30 A. M. has been set as the Sodality time, it being most convenient to a majority of students.

As usual, Sodality will this year take an active part in missionary work and the spread of Catholic literature. The weekly collections for missionary purposes, known as the Penny Collection, are again being made. No student in College should consider himself exempt from taking an active part in the work of the Sodality.

RE-UNION

Of Xavier S. A. T. C. Men

The second annual re-union of the old St. Xavier Student Army Training Corps will be held in Cincinnati on the evening of November 24, 1920.

The object of these re-unions is to strengthen those ties of comradeship formed during the Great War and to extend to St. Xavier the renewed pledges of gratitude and support of those who were privileged to study within her halls during that important period.

All former service men of the unit are not only cordially invited, but we confidently expect them to attend. A large number of out-of-town men as well as local boys have already enthusiastically declared, "We wouldn't miss it!" You may be assured no effort will be spared to make this one of the most enjoyable events of the year.

The out-of-town boys are urged to stay over and root for St. Xavier in the Thanksgiving game, and many of them will sacrifice a turkey dinner to do this.

Now, to those who have not as yet made up their minds to attend, if there are any, we say: "Your old pal will be there looking for you. Are you going to disappoint him?"

PLANS

Being Made for Prom

At the meeting of the Junior Class, of the Arts College, on November 4, the Committee for the Junior Prom was appointed as follows: E. J. Anthony, Chairman, and Carl Wenstrup, Frank Aman and Charles McCarthy.

Upon the invitation of the Juniors the Senior Class appointed Lawrence Kete, John Danby, Bert Aman and Eugene Eckerle to assist the Juniors in making the Prom as decided a success as the one last winter.

Nothing definite has been given out although it is generally understood that the dance will be held sometime in January.

"WATCH US!"

Say Arts Sophomores

A deep impression was made on the minds of the Sophomores of Liberal Arts on November 5. A bit of pep was injected in the '1923' hopes that day which will not wane for many moons.

James Fay, whose spirit is evidenced by the size and shape of his mustache, brought the boys to their feet with an appeal during Public Speaking period. The enthusiasm engendered was increased by an appeal from Mr. Liebold one of the "dubs" of the football squad. At the conclusion of this speech a meeting was held to choose a class president. The nominees were Fay, Cushing, Hart and Eberts. The voting was most enthusiastic, and when the smoke rolled away, Fay was leading by a plurality of our vote.

THE MULFORDISTS

With a record of but two absentees among an enrollment of nearly three score, the Ad-Sales Class made the November "get-away" a really notable night. The new administration has taken hold with cheerful enthusiasm and an expressed determination to eclipse the achievements of every class that preceded them.

They sprung a surprise on "The Professor" at this session and with a vociferous unanimity the class adopted "The Mulfordists" as their name in compliment to their instructor. It was an appreciation that brought from their tutor the declaration that by their vote of confidence they had laid a heavier load of responsibility upon him to try and hit over 300.

In addition to the "Big Four," Harold A. Thorburn and Miss Dorothy Schmitt, were added to the Executive Committee and Robert J. Nieman was pressed into service as Director of Class Publicity. Mr. Nieman is one of the editors of "Impressions," the house organ of The H. Nieman Company.

An Ambassador of Formation

Looking forward the class has a splendid program outlined to cover the weeks before the Yuletide holidays. Jesse M. Joseph, President of The Jesse M. Joseph Advertising Company, was the first of the November Ambassadors of Formation. Mr. Joseph is devoted in his loyalty to St. Xavier College. Year after year he comes before the Ad-Sales Class and devotes an evening to the subject: "Laying Out a Newspaper Advertisement." As the "architect" of the Golds, Klins and for years the Potter Shoe Company copy, he was well qualified to speak on the subject as a Master of the Art. Mr. Joseph this year presents three Joseph Medals, Gold, Silver and Bronze, for the best layouts submitted in competition by the students. He gave a chalk talk that was hugely enjoyed and he received an old-time typical outburst of approval as he finished.

Facing the Crowd

The Ad-Sales "folk," in their earnest effort for greater self confidence, are learning to "find themselves." Every member of the class is expected to face his associates and give a five to ten minute talk on some subject allied to either of the subjects close to their business hours. To get through the entire list and give each the opportunity for valued training, at least three or four students are assigned to take part on each night. The inaugural of the feature was superlatively interesting and successful. Miss Bernadette Anthony told of her experiences as a traveling saleswoman for Silver, Burdette & Company, the Chicago school text people. Then Joseph A. Barron, with the Baldwin Piano Company, made good use of his time. The last of the initial trio was Miss Alvina A. Bertram, with The Triumph Manufacturing Company. She told of the ins and outs of the game of selling baker's machinery.

Trends to Look Forward To

LEIBOLD

Elected Head of Alumni

On Wednesday evening, November 3, the Alumni Association held its annual election of officers. Albert W. Liebold was chosen President; Judge Edward T. Dixon, Vice-president; Francis A. Gancho, Secretary; Thomas M. Geoghegan, Financial Secretary; Robert B. Tramm, Treasurer and Gregor B. Moorman, Historian.

The honorary Vice-presidents are always a unique feature of the Alumni ballot. The candidates for this office are chosen to represent each decade of the graduate students of the College. The following were elected: John A. McMahon, 40's; Francis H. Cloud, 60's; James A. Sebastian, 70's; Rev. Matthew P. O'Brien, 80's; Rev. Joseph H. Tiesem, 90's; James J. Grogan, 00's; Elmer L. Conway, 10's.

The Executive Committee, which is elected to an advisory position, will be Captain Louis Colfax, Messrs. Oscar Dwyer, Walter Schmitt, Harry J. Gilligan, J. Herman, Thuman, Joseph B. Verklann.

The Faculty member, who will act in the capacity of moderator, is the Rev. Joseph C. Flynn, professor of English Literature in the College of Arts.

SECOND ACCOUNTING

The Co-operative Accounting Class

We Juniors are traveling along at a lively clip. Mr. Crane, our instructor, is very adept and is more liberal with his problems but thru his clear explanations, the class is grasping more and more the intricacies of Accounting puzzles.

We have established the plan that our Regent so heartily endorsed, "The Co-operative Plan," and its results have produced a spirit which no other class can boast of.

Watch us closely and see for yourselves the strides we are making. Will tell you more later.

Just a little reminder. More than 70% of the students in our Class have subscribed for "The Xaverian News." Let us help the President make our class 100%.

to tell of "Direct Mail Advertising." On the 19th "Insurance Night" will be celebrated. Harrison Stratton Mulford, of the Union Central Life Insurance Company, a son of the instructor and President of The Lions, will speak on "Little Adventures in Selling Life Insurance," and Morris H. Isaacs is also expected. On the 26th, a post-Thanksgiving talk will be given by Mr. Mulford on "Life's Bargains." It will be a Souvenir Night. The class has already pre-empted the night of December 17 for a little Christmas frolic.

Nearly half the members of the class responded to a call for ads to be used to increase both interest in the class and add to the membership. The quality of these early specimens of class work was exceptionally good. Of the many submitted, Miss Anne L. Dwyer, with The Lawton Company, drafted the first of the series, and it was displayed in The Catholic Telegraph of the 4th. It is not too late to join the pep dispensers among the Mulfordists.

LAW NOTES

The Law Class will hold a mock trial on the night of November 16, at which the usual formality of a trial will be had. One of the faculty will preside as Judge, and a Jury will be drawn. John P. Rogers, assisted by Thomas Gallagher and Joseph C. Bird, will try to condemn the accused to death or worse, while the firm of Doyle and Dorr and assistants will put their best legal talents to work in defense of the accused.

You have to haul it to St. Xavier for Push. Miss Overman is now associated with former Governor Harmon.

It is with great pride, that through the daily press we are informed that the honored President of our Class, has been appointed an Election Judge at the County Seat of Butler County. (It carries about five days work per year on a five day salary.)

In a recent conversation with the Mayor and Chief of Police, the Law Editor was requested to extend the thanks of the City and Officials for the legal work imparted to one of their official family. His Honor further stated that any complexing legal question is always referred to Joe Bird.

Have you noticed how busy Gregg Williams is at the Court House examining titles since he had a year in real property.

What is the matter with Benz lately—the Arbnckle stuff has been conspicuous by its absence.

Have you noticed the studious attitude of Robert, at class, always on the job and so serious.

Subscribe to THE XAVERIAN NEWS and lend your support to the College publication. Do it now—see Rogers or Doyle.

Eshman advises that the recent rains have worked wonders in the ground, and that the fall planting is progressing up state and is well under way.

What is the trouble with the first year class—come on fellows, warm up—take an interest in the meetings—stick—we need your co-operation and you need us—when we get together there is no class that can measure up to us—look at our representation on the Football team, and did you notice what a real team it is, too.

Sign Shown by First Accountants

Brevity may be the soul of wit but in this case it is the best manner of describing the situation in the class of the embryo accountants. There is not a single vacant desk left. In fact, the only thing that Gutting has is a chair. We hope that no one gets away with it.

Mr. A. H. Brendel, who has had charge of this class for the past four years, is again in charge. He is assisted by Mr. S. H. Hittner, a graduate of the Accounting Class of '18. Nuff said.

With every new session of the class, the work becomes more interesting and incidentally more detailed. At the last session the entire class was dismayed when they learned that their Petty Cash had been robbed to the extent of $15.00. (Law students take notice.) It was a plain case of Petit Larceny. The theft was traced to a boy-clerk in the store who was getting $7.00 per week. (This was before the Deluge.) It was afterwards learned that the boy needed the money to pay his wife's bill at the grocery store. The loss was charged to P. & L., and the incident closed. The Sociology Class, however

TALE OF A PEANUT PUSHER

Bernard Coughlin, premier member of the Freshman aggregation, placed, in his Democratic orator, a freak bet on Jimmie Cox to win; propelling a peanut about the exterior of Alumni Hall with the aid of a small stick. On the other end of the bet was a farsseeing individual, Thomas Galtes. Coughlin lost the bet and humiliated in spirit accomplished the feat in twelve minutes flat, amid the rejoicing and derision of the attending concourse of unsophisticated Freshies.

This little poem is respectfully dedicated to the occasion.

(Time—'I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles')
 I'm forever pushing peanuts,
 Pushing peanuts on the ground,
 Through mud and rocks,
 Cause I bet on Cox.
 I lost my bet and I'm sore yet,
 Peanuts always hiding,
 Hiding in the cracks,
 But I'm forever pushing peanuts,
 Pushing peanuts round St. X.

OUR BIG GAME

One thing we are going to be mighty thankful for this Thanksgiving Day, 1920, is the sporting feast the Athletic Association has arranged in the form of the Xavier-Haskell game.

This game is THE athletic event of the year at Xavier. It will mark the close of one of the most brilliant football seasons in our annals. It will, we fervently hope, be the final triumph of Coach Meyer's crew, a crowning addition to that long list of victories since the opening game. And not only do we want this game to complete the victory list, but also to secure revenge from the Redskins for last year's defeat.

If you were one of the fans so fortunate as to witness the game last year, you won't need any urging to attend again. You know what a splendid game you saw there, yes, splendid even in defeat. If you would see the same brilliant exhibition of a great clean sport, unclouded by mercenary motives, you must not miss the Thanksgiving game.

But a far stronger motive should impel you than merely to see a great football game. That fighting gang of blue sweatered players is Xavier's team, our team.

They're Xaverians, every one, fellow students of yours and mine, representing St. Xavier in the domain of athletics and striving to place her in a top notch position. They need support; we owe it to them from a sense of loyalty. Don't you care at all if St. Xavier wins or not? Aren't you proud of the way our team has been "cleaning up" on the opposition this fall? Are you so lethargic or dead that you can't get a little thrill out of this thought? Are you so indifferent to this college activity that you would allow the most trivial difficulty to keep you away from the Haskell game?

Xaverians all! Let's be out at Redland Field 100% strong! Let's talk it up among our friends! Let's show Cincinnati what Xavier spirit is! Let's be regular Xaverians!

Yes, they are all fools but you and I.

"IN UNION—"

We trust that with the perfecting of the various departmental organizations there will soon be a revival of The Xaverians.

For the benefit of any of our readers who may be uninformed, we state that The Xaverians was the interdepartmental student union of St. Xavier last year. It was established to secure harmonious and united action by the different departments in all activities tending towards the betterment and growth of our Alma Mater. One important outgrowth of this co-operative spirit was the establishment of THE XAVERIAN NEWS in its present position as the representative organ of all St. Xavier.

The organization of a student union a year ago was the first attempt made at St. X to weld the departments together. With no precedent to follow and no past experiences to serve as a guide, it was but natural, despite sincere and earnest efforts of the leaders and students, that it did not quite reach the aims hoped for. We think that possibly there should have been more energy directed towards developing the social side, and acquainting the students of different departments with one another.

Surely the idea prompting the formation of a student union is most splendid. Not only excellent, but it is a real necessity at St. X. The conditions here, such as the different location of the departments and the time of holding classes, do not tend naturally to joint action. Yet we are all working in our own way toward a common end. Shall we not combine our energies then, since "in union there is strength?"

And if we build with such high aims as the co-ordinating of student activities, the fostering of friendship and good will, the uniting of our efforts for the welfare of St. Xavier, can we not use patience and persistence to make it a worthy structure?

EDITOR'S MAIL

(Brief expressions of student opinion are requested for this column. Unsigned communications will be ignored. Name will not be published if writer so requests.)

Editor The News:

I have attended every home game this fall and am quite disgusted with the rooting shown so far. It might be better to say lack of it, especially in regard to recent games. We had a fine crowd at the Rose Poly game. Our boys made a number of sensational plays and yet, excepting several in the early part of the game, not a cheer rewarded them for their efforts. Of course the crowd did more or less rooting, but I mean mass cheering with regular yells. Fellows, what do you suppose that crowd thought about our school spirit? We've got a team but we don't give them decent support. The team's advertising St. X, why don't we follow up that advertising by showing the spectators that St. X has college spirit.

Yours for more pep,
Just A Student.

Our Question Box

(Note:—The co-eds have been sending in questions to be answered in this column—they think I'm a physician!)

Dear Doc:—

How can I discover blemishes on the face?

Sincerely,

Saccharine Sue.

My Dear Sue:—

There is an old method known to science, wherein the bottom of a skillet is polished and the fudge observed therein. However, later medical research advises thus: Take a plunge into very hot water (about 120 degrees C) and rub the hands over face until you come to a boil.

Give me a good recipe for coal slaw. Ambitious.

Slave three lumps of soft coal, add three Fordful of gasoline, grated rind of deer knob, juice of two granham crackers, dash of ground glass. Use hot language until varnish on the piano ribs, send in a ten-blow, call the coronor, sing and gravely serve.

AN APPRECIATION

Our readers have probably noticed the generous amount of space given to Xavier affairs, especially athletics, by the Cincinnati Post. The team has most certainly earned the right to occupy a prominent place on local sporting pages. Merit does not always win recognition, but it has with the Post. THE XAVERIAN NEWS wishes to express its appreciation to the Post for the fairness displayed to St. Xavier.

FOR MEN ONLY

One thousand dollars! Yes, that is the pledge of St. Xavier Hi for 1920-21. Are we good for it? Most certainly. Is it too much? Ask yourself how long you—just you—could live on one thousand dollars. Does it require any effort on the part of each one? Not much, but it does require good will.

One cent! What connection has that with one thousand dollars? The very closest. Are you good as your word? If not, please don't tell anyone that you are a Xaverian. If your word is good, don't fail to contribute one cent a day, as you openly pledged yourself to do, a few weeks ago, and in this way the quota of $1,000 can be reached. Only on the honor of the students could we have pledged a thousand dollars, and only on the good will of the students can we expect to fulfill our pledge.

When in church, you don't dodge the collection box, do you? And when the Young Ladies' Society gives a church social and Miss Lady of the Lake comes to you and says, "W-a-l-t-e-r, don't you want to buy this or that thing?" do you dodge the basket or refuse the Lady of the Lake? We hope not. Why are you so generous? Is it because of popular opinion that you are afraid to resist? Of course not. Very true then, no one will say aught to you if you refuse the missions, but if you will come across with your pennies, the souls of the ten thousand pagans lost every year will cry out against you.

So remember your pledge and hand over those odd pennies. Get your neighbors and friends interested, and if you induce them to come across, remember, you will get as much credit as if you had given it yourself.

A friendly rivalry exists among the classes in the effort shown by all to top the list of subscribers for THE XAVERIAN NEWS. The eagerness and loyalty in subscribing for THE NEWS mingled with the desire to lead the other classes has had a most favorable effect on the number of subscriptions secured. However, there are about 200 students who are not subscribers to their own paper. That's nearly half of the High School. Now the staff wants to make this paper your paper as much as possible, and that can be done by your handing in subscriptions. So don't be a slacker. Buy your own paper.

Position	Room	Students	Sales	%
1st	Second Year A	40	37	92%
2nd	Second Year C	40	30	75%
3rd	Fourth Year A	35	25	71%

CONCERT

By Orchestra Pleases

On October 29, the High School Orchestra presented a very impressive program to the whole student body in the Auditorium. The success of Mr. Well in blending the musical talent of the High School is very pronounced. And the ability of the members of the orchestra, both individually and collectively, is very evident from the excellent showing which they made that afternoon.

The entertainment was opened with "America." Francis Kuppe scored a big hit by his singing, and the house showed their appreciation by insisting on an encore. Kuppe was accompanied by Murray Padback, violinst.

An intermission followed in which Father Klefer addressed the audience. As moderator of the Orchestra, he informed the audience that he had a membership of fifty-five boys. He also mentioned the fact that he had the School Band under his direction. Mr. Well then gave a very vivid account of a negro gospel meeting through the medium of his violin.

PLEGDED?

The penny collection for the past week indicates that the majority of the students do not know the meaning of the word "pledge." A pledge is not only a promise, but a guarantee that something will be performed or adhered to. Every classroom, except Fourth A and Fourth B is below its pledged quota. Get busy! Remember accomplishments surpass words.

DEBATE

Planned by Junior Lit.

The first meeting of the Junior Literary Society was held on November 3. The election of officers was the sole business of the meeting. After a hot, spirited contest between the nominees, it was decided that Edwin Dittman was president, Joseph Higgins, vice-president and John Murray, secretary. The Committee on Debates was next chosen by ballot. J. Harry Moore, with a big majority, was elected chairman; Dave Ryan and August Kramer, assistants.

At a second meeting on November 8, the purpose of the Society was pointed out by the moderator, Mr. Brickel, S. J. He made clear to all the importance of debating and the benefits to be derived therefrom. Next, the Committee on Debates selected a subject to be discussed at the following meeting, November 22. It was: Resolved that a department of education be incorporated into the cabinet, and that a sum of $100,000.00 be raised for the bureau, as an initial appropriation." The affirmative, Joseph Dell and Phil Kennedy; Negative, Leroy Grogan and Albert Schultz.

The interest displayed by all the members promises a brilliant future for the Literary Society.

A brilliant talker is not always liked by those whom he has most aroused.

MISSION NOTES

On October 29, Mr. Fricking delivered a short concise address in support of the foreign missions. He noted particularly that the missions in the years before the war were supported by the millions of Europe. Now since Europe is in a serious state of turmoil after the late war, the missions look toward the United States for their financial upkeep. The students of the entire High School stood to a man in pledging full support by every available means and in particular by reaching their quota of one thousand dollars.

GAMENESS

Displayed by Hi Team

With favorable football weather prevailing, the Xavier eleven met Newport Hi at Wisdomann's Park, Friday, October 29, before a large and enthusiastic crowd. Newport came off with the honors by a score of 33-6.

Newport bootled and lynch ran the ball back ten yards. Then Xavier worked a beautiful forward pass. Sprengard to Reynolds, that took the Kentuckians dumfounded. They stood helpless while the foot-footed half-back splatted over the goal line. Xavier failed to kick goal.

However, Newport came back strong and on Reynolds' kick off, they ran the ball up the field for 20 yards. Xavier held and Newport punted. Grogan got the ball but fumbled, Newport regaining it. Then, by a series of line blocks, the Kentuckians pushed the pigskin across the line, but failed to kick the goal.

With the score tied, Newport now had something to work on, and as she considerably outweighed Xavier, it was but a few minutes before another touchdown was registered. By the end of the first half, the score stood, Newport 20, Xavier 0.

In the second half, Xavier put up a stiffer battle, but Thomasson's wonderful line plunging for Newport completely broke down the blue and white defense. In this half Xavier's aerial work suffered severely, though it was a marked improvement over that of the Covington game.

During the last few minutes of play, Thomasson, the burly full-back, again got thru Xavier for the last touch-down of the game. The final score was Xavier 6, Newport 33.

XAVIER'S SPEEDY BACKFIELD

CIPHER

Handed by X to Rose Poly

The highly touted Hoosiers from Rose Poly on November 7, came, saw, and conquered—not, but returned homeward a sadder and wiser team. The reason was that in their 'game bag' was the small end of a 56-0 score. Rose Poly had the 'beef' outweighing us 15 pounds to a man, but that had little effect on the charges of the Blue and White Brigade.

Captain Cushing was right behind Davis in piling up the points. He ran the team very well and gained many yards from scrimmage. Wurzelbacher surprised the spectators with his end runs and all-round playing. Hellenthal and Marnell played their old reliable brand of football.

FILMLAND

The first installment of Fr. Finn's new story appears in the current number of 'The Queen's Work'. The action of the story takes place in that modern dreamland, the motion picture studio, as the title "Bobby in Movieland" indicates.

NEAT SUM

At the recent meeting of the Alumni Association it was reported that the sum of $600.00 was realized from the Geraldine Parrar Concert. This concert held on October 12, was arranged by the Alumni for the benefit of Xavier athletics.

Considerable credit is due Mr. J. Herman Thuman, well known in local musical circles, for the successful conduct of the affair. The securing of Madame Parrar for this concert was made possible by his efforts. (Mr. Thuman is an alumnus of St. X, and ever active and zealous in her behalf.)

"FOOTBALL AND KNOWLEDGE ST. XAVIER COLLEGE—"

The Natives of Cincy Know This by Heart

Say, brother, do you appreciate real syncopation? Well, just sing the afore-said little ditty to yourself with the accent mostly on the first sweet word. 'Cause right here in town, in our own modest way, the local kids are setting all corners on their ears—and there is real cause for jubilation. Ah-so-foot-ly!

Since our last issue the Saints have been merrily romping along with nothing to worry about except the lack of adding machines in the scorer's equipment. Of course, they cannot be held responsible for this oversight, and therefore they merely offer condolences and advice—mostly advice—given especially to all concerned, free-gratis.

But to get back to our knitting—do you know what mishaps were suffered by Hanover, Wilmington and Rose Poly? They are terrible to relate, but in all fairness we must tell them—stealing our hearts at the sad passages. Well—

St. Xavier 76 Hanover 0

They were nice boys and we liked them. Amen.

St. Xavier 88 Wilmington 0

They were nice boys, too, but we had to treat 'em all alike!

St. Xavier 56 Rose Poly 0

More nice boys, but Boo-hoo-hoo.

We cannot go on for lack of words. We simply state that the funerals were very impressive, looking much like parades. The pall-bearers were Davis, Marnell, Hellenthal and Wurzelbacher, while Cushing and Nappy were masters of ceremonies. The deceased were enclosed in large coffins, covered entirely by bunches of beautiful goals from touchdowns. These were thoughtfully sent by John Noppenberger, being 21 in number and divided as even as possible between the departed souls.

Shows Remarkable Strength

The big surprise of the local elections was the remarkable vote polled by Edward T. Dixon for judge of the Common Pleas Court. Dixon is a Democrat, yet he not only withstood the Republican landslide, but led all the candidates for the Common Pleas bench. He ran 5,000 votes ahead of the highest Republican candidate.

To illustrate the high esteem in which Judge Dixon is held, a staunch Republican newspaper of the city strongly advocated his election.

Judge Dixon is a graduate of St. Xavier, a typical example of the many who have gone forth with her influence upon them, and by ability and force of character have won the recognition of their fellows. We are proud of our alumnus.

THIS IS TOUGH!

She was young and very easy to look upon, furthermore, she was one of his campaign managers. They met for the first time and it was suggested that he come to her house, together with the rest of the ticket and talk over the campaign.

"Not on your life," he said. "Girls, you don't seem to know that I'm married."

You can't blame her; she did not know. How could she? Hence we suggest that all the married men in the School of Commerce and Sociology be required to wear some distinctive mark whereby they may be distinguished from the "others."

LESSON

In Defeat of Governor Cox

Bitter sweet can rightfully be termed the defeat of Governor James M. Cox for the Presidency. Bitter, because of the overwhelming vote cast against him not as a man but because of his political relations. Sweet, because it earned for him the title of the greatest campaigner that history has known.

Governor Cox's dauntless courage and political stamout throughout the entire campaign has never seen an equal. With the odds against him from the very beginning to greater ones at the end, he met them face to face with a smile and never gave up hope. Wherever he went he attracted vast throngs and received ovations that would have made any candidate smile from ear to ear. A single headed fight, against a powerful organization, it was a courageous one.

Governor Cox's campaign is a lesson in courage to every American. He is the type of a man the American loves and respects. In other words, he went down with colors flying and not surrendered.

Warren G. Harding will be our next President. Regardless of one's political feelings we are all Americans and should give him our undivided support. Mr. Harding will by no means tackle an easy proposition. The present administration has made mistakes. Mistakes are only natural. Every administration makes them. We are all humans. Mr. Harding will have quite a problem in satisfying the demands of Borah and Johnson yielding to the desires of Messrs. Lodge, Penrose and others, saying nothing for the demands of the Democrats for equal representation, an opportunity to apply the Golden Rule.

To wish a man failure is cowardly. To wish him success is honorable.

Now altogether, ladies and gentlemen, three cheers for our next President, sincere wishes for speedy recovery of our President and better success to Governor Cox the next time.

The Sophomores defeated the Fresh in the first official class rush at Marquette U. The victory was due to the strategy in imprisoning a large number of the first year men before the battle.

The Xaverian news extends to Joseph Delaney sincerest sympathy upon the loss of his father. R. J. P.
