Will Hold Pageant at Music Hall. Exhibition at High School

Preparations for the Mission Rally of the Cincinnati Inter-unit Conference of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade to be held May 1, 2, 3 are reaching a stage of finality as the date of the event nears. The interest aroused among Crusaders and also in the Catholic public of the greater Queen City is of an intense and keen character, encouraging the executive committee, presided over by Miss Ann Mentlik of C. & S., to conserve neither effort nor expense to present the Rally in a sense in harmony with the vastness and importance of the C. S. M. C. movement.

St. Xavier Memorial Hall has been secured for the two days preceding the climax of the affair, the pageant at Music Hall. Some twenty booths will be erected in the Hall by the Missionary societies of the U. S., containing rare and unique curios from foreign lands where American priests and nuns are conducting apostolates. Together with the exhibit a number of illustrated talks by missionaries and others will be given at specified hours. That the list of speakers will be of unusual and appealing character becomes evident with the announcement that Father Philip Gordon, a full blooded Chippewa Indian priest, has already accepted the invitation to speak here during the Rally. Invitations have

CO-OPS LOOK FORWARD TO ANNUAL BANQUET

The Banquet Committee of the St. X Co-operators is making final arrangements for the annual C. & S. Banquet to be given at the Shinton Hotel on Thursday evening, May 11, in the Louis XVI ballroom.

Tom Lindsay, Chairman of the Committee, announces that the principal speaker for the gala occasion will be one of national repute, publication of his name being withheld until the latter part of this month.

The activity of the Banquet Committee and the enthusiasm and interest displayed by the students, augurs well for the success which will crown their efforts and portends, in the rosiest hues, another C. & S. triumph.

The attention of readers is called to the names appearing on the "masthead" of The News this issue. This revised and enlarged personnel of the "press gang" is, with a few exceptions and additions to be made later, the staff that will publish The News during the school year of 1922-23. A few brief words of introduction will not be inappropriate at this time.

Heading the staff is Mr. Ray Howe of Junior Arts, who began his editorial career with the preceding issue of The News. The post of sporting editor will be filled by Joseph O'Grady of Junior Class, assisted by J. Harry Moore of Freshmen Arts. Louis Elerts of griffon glory, will be the new exchange editor. The collecting and editing of lay news will again be in the capable hands of Miss Madden. Oscar Roth moves to an editorial position, and Charles Seelbach becomes in name as he has been in actuality the staff cartoonist. For the present Miss Carter and Edward Gardner will represent C. & S., altho both will graduate from St. Xavier in June. The business management will be handled by Phil Kennedy. Joseph Meyers and George Vollman have been added to the staff as general reporters. John Thorburn of Sophomore Arts will be Liberal Arts editor.

X-MEN WIN

Over Local American Oaks, Davis and Noppy Feature

With two men on base in the first inning, Noppenberger pulled himself out of a bad hole and pitched a brilliant 5 to 4 brand of ball in Xavier's practice game with the local American Oaks at Coreoran Field, Saturday, April 8.

The outstanding feature of the game was the playing of Herb Davis, third sacker for St. Xavier who capped the pill for two doubles and two singles. Ray Wurzellacher, also of Saints, after catching a fly by deep center made a sensational peg to home getting the runner coming from third. Captain "Red" Hart caught like a veteran behind the plate, while Noppy hurled effectively. St. Xavier has reason to be proud of her infield which performed creditably.

Theskin starred for the Oaks by putting in three catches in deep center. Both clubs pined several long hits. Meyer's athletes are in good trim for the next game with Miami.

PROVINCIAL VISITS HERE

The Very Rev. Francis X. McMenamy, Provincial of the Missouri district of the Society of Jesus, visited St. Xavier, several weeks ago on his annual tour of inspection.

CONWAY WILL BE JUDGE OF MOOT TRIAL

Elmer Conway, secretary of the Law College, has consented to act as judge at the moot trial to be held by the Law School on Tuesday, April 18.

The case is one pertaining to agency and a great many intricate questions regarding details are involved. The list of attorneys is a very impressive one, consisting of Mike Breerton, Otis Hess, Joseph Goodenough and Bob Phorburn. With such an aggregation it is apparent that the trial will be a hard fought one, and the winner entitled to all the honor he receives.

The trial will afford a splendid opportunity for everyone to become acquainted with court procedure, and a cordial invitation to attend is extended to the students of all departments of St. Xavier and their friends.

CO-ED IS TO RECEIVE FIRST MASTERS DEGREE

To a credit of the School of Commerce and Sociology will fall the honor of being the recipient of the first Master of Commercial Science degree ever conferred by St. Xavier.

The young lady who will have the privilege after next June, of appending the letters M. C. S. to her signature, is Miss Florence Allers, for several years conspicuous in C and S activities. She received the Bachelor's degree in June of last year, and since then has taken post-graduate work. Miss Allers held the position of president of the Senior Accounting class last year.

The degree of Master requires a total of fifteen semester hours of resident work in supplementary courses.

PROFESSOR DESCRIBES INDUSTRIAL COURT

St. Xavier is represented among the leading contributors to the April 1, number of American. The article entitled "The Kansas Industrial Court" is from the pen of Father Daniel M. O'Connell, S. J., Professor of Sociology.

In this paper Father O'Connell tells of the origin of the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations and the purpose for which it was created. The arguments of labor unions, capitalists, and the general public, in regard to the Court, pro and con, are outlined. While the author states that the Kansas Court has not been in existence for a sufficient length of time to be pronounced an unqualified success, he continues, "The fact that the tribunal, despite the storms it has encountered, still survives, and that it is not at present a political issue in its native State, are encouraging signs to the Kansans who were bold enough to translate their theories into practice."

Miss Ann M. Overman, co-ed of the Law College, traveled in Frankfort, Kentucky, to take the Bar Examination.

Eugene Henry of Freshman Law is convalescing at the Good Samaritan Hospital following an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Connor have sent out announcements of the coming marriage of their daughter, Helen Louise, to Herbert A. Wuest at St. Columbine Church, Westwood.

Mr. Wuest spent two years at Xavier, completing his course at Campion College.

The News extends its best wishes to the happy couple.

The College was recently honored by a visit from Mr. John Bunker of N. Y., lecturer on Literature at Columbia University. Mr. Bunker is prominent in literary circles. He is in charge of the book-reviews of the Catholic World,

PICTORIAL EDITOR ASKS AD SUPPORT

The Pictorial Issue is under way and by the time this paper is circulated the first photos will have been taken. Remarkably quick work has placed the byod of this book in the hands of the printers and engravers in the short space of a week.

The advertising section, under John J. Gabroski, has met some discouraging situations but has succeeded in filling almost one half of the available space up to this issue. The volume that will be placed in the hands of the student for almost nothing has led the managers to call upon all who can to secure financial aid in the way of advertising for this publication.

Placing a one hundred page pictorial issue in the hands of our subscribers for the price of a regular issue is, without a doubt, an achievement worthy of support.

The editor and business manager, E. J. Gardner, has announced the individual subscription price shall be seventy-five cents to all those not on the News subscription list. The modest sum of 25 cents will be charged regular subscribers for this number.

A complete section will be devoted to the evolution of St. Xavier and will pleasure old time scenes dear to the hearts of the alumni and former students. This section will explain the origin of St. Xavier, its growth and the plans for future expansion.

The High School section will contain eighteen pages of class groups, athletic teams and senior panels. This will allow for extensive write-ups on all activities.

In view of the big volume being placed in the hands of the students, for almost nothing, the appeal for general aid in securing ads should receive the united support of all.

Rev. Father Paul Blakely, Editor of American, visited the College recently. He returned to his home, Covington, Ky., to attend his beloved mother's burial. Mrs. Blakely was the mother of three Xavier boys: Paul, Steven and Laurie.

The News and Students offer their condolences.

Making a brief stop-over while on his way to New York City to conduct a retreat, Father Henry S. Spalding, S. J., former professor of Ethics and English, recently visited the college for an exchange of greetings with his former pupils. Father Spalding has been editor of The Queen's Work, St. Louis, since last summer.

SCRAP THE NAVY?
YEH, ARMISTICE DAY!

✓ St Xavier has even chances of defeating the U. S. Naval Academy next Armistice Day.

This pronouncement comes from that necessary person in every well-regulated sporting department, the dispenser. The star dope found on The News Staff has delved into the football records of last year and brought to light the following chain of evidence in support of his theory. They are comparative scores of last season's games.

RIVERSIDE BOWLERS TROUNCE AVON MEN

The Liberal Arts Bowling Quintet lost a three game match to Tommy Ball's Five from Riverside, on Thursday evening, April 6, at the Federal Alleys. The match was lost on total pins tho the College men won both the second and third games.

The Law College has challenged the Arts to a bowling match which will be played shortly after Easter. It is expected that the contest will be a hot one and many loyal rooters of both contingents are expected to be present. The match will be played off at the Federal Alleys.

VARSITY GETS WORKOUT AT FROSH'S EXPENSE

The Varsity was given a splendid chance to tune up for their schedule games, at the expense of the freshmen on Thursday, April 6. The score was 6-2 with the Varsity taking the long end of the 6 inning struggle. Joe Meyer's men work very smoothly. They held well and their slugging is all that could be desired at this early date. John Noppenberger with Captain Tom (Red) Hart receiving, formed the battery. Babe Rayfield also took a turn at the slab.

The blondest of Freshmen, headed by Captain Dave Lyons put up a hard but ineffective battle. Joe King officiated.

"GOOD LUCK, XAVIER!"
IS STAR'S GREETING

When the Xavier eleven trots out on the greenward of the Naval Academy's gridiron next Armistice Day, there will be at least one star of the theatrical world interested in the fortune of battle for the Blue and White. The star is Miss Helen Shipman, who played the title role in "Lola," the musical comedy which appeared at the Shubert Theatre recently.

During her Cincinnati engagement, Miss Shipman sent this message to the College: "Love to all the boys of St. Xavier College and best wishes for success in their Navy game."

AVON DIAMOND IS REAL GEM

A practically new baseball diamond is now ready for the eager athletes to cavort upon. The strenuous work of rolling a perfectly laid-out field has been completed and all is in readiness for the regular season to begin. Coach Joe Meyer laid-out with mathematical precision the entire affair which was in an extremely bad condition after the football practices and scrimmages of last fall. Every line was drawn exact to the "nth" degree. The work of grading and leveling then started and it took all of Joe's genius with the surveying instruments to obtain the stage of perfection in which the diamond now is. It is believed that the field is one of the prettiest and finest around the city and it is a great inducement in itself to the noble athletes. The first regular game of the season will be with Miami University on April 14, but the Meyer men will have a chance to try out the new field on April 8, when they play the American Oak Nine in practice game.

COLLEGE IS THE RECIPIENT OF PAINTING

CANVAS BY CELEBRATED AMERICAN WOMAN ARTIST PRESENTED TO ST. XAVIER — ALUMNUS IS DONOR

The nucleus of a future St. Xavier Art Gallery was begun with the hanging in Bishop's Hall of a canvas by the celebrated American woman painter, Miss Elizabeth Nourse. The painting entitled "Procession Notre Dame de la Joie" adorns the wall of one of the reception parlors and is readily observed by the visitors entering the Hall. The College received the picture as the gift of Mr. Walter Schmidt, who is a relative of Miss Nourse and her American representative. It was presented to St. Xavier in the name of the parents of Miss Elizabeth Nourse and her sister Miss Louise Nourse, namely C. E. Nourse and his wife Elizabeth (a Boston Rogers).

Miss Nourse is a native Cincinnati, and began her early studies in the Queen city in what was then known as the School of Design. A few years after the completion of her course here, Miss Nourse resumed her studies in that Mecca of the American artist, Paris. Her originality and vigor attracted the attention of critics at once, and it is a tribute to her artistry that her "Mother and Child" which she had finished during her first year abroad was accepted by the Salon. The Societe Nationale des Beaux Arts honored her with membership in 1902, a distinction granted no other American woman. Many of her canvases including the one presented to the College have been displayed in the Paris Salon and at numerous exhibitions. The Cincinnati Art museum has one of her paintings on display entitled "The Verdant Woman of Brest." Mr. Clement Barnheim, prominent Cincinnati artist considers her to be unquestionably the premier woman artist of America. The Literati Medal of Notre Dame

University which is presented annually to one of the Catholic city in recognition of conspicuous service to art or industry, was awarded to Miss Nourse in 1921.

The picture which is hung in Bishop's Hall was painted in Normandy, France, in one of the quaint villages near the Atlantic coast. Observing the religious procession that forms a common feature of Catholic life there, Miss Nourse decided to depict on canvas the section of the procession wherein the statue of Our Lady is carried by the young women of the congregation. Making a rough sketch at the time she later secured her models, and thru the kindness of the Parish priest was permitted to use the statue, burners and candles for the completion of the picture. The work was completed entirely out of doors, near the little chapel of Notre Dame de la Joie.

PROCTER-COLLIER CO.
ENTERTAIN AD-SALES
AT NEW HOME

The Ad-Sales and their friends again paved the way to higher heights in ad-sales education Friday evening, March 23rd. On that evening the class session was held in Advertisers' Hall, a part of the Procter Collier Co.

The New Home of The Procter Collier Co. is located on one of the hill-tops surrounding Cincinnati, a semi-suburban location convenient to the city, yet affording the ideal working conditions essential to the best efforts of writers, artists and other creative minds.

Advertisers' Hall is perhaps the outstanding feature of the building. It is large enough to accommodate a convention, yet sufficiently homelike in its furnishings and architecture to be an ideal conference room for daily use. It was in this hall that fully one hundred and twenty-five students of advertising and salesmanship gathered to study the functions of an Advertising Agency.

The welcoming address of Mr. Allen Collier, President, was full of that optimism which has proven a backbone of encouragement to his co-workers in building this foremost agency. Mr. Collier sketched the humble beginning of the Agency and, with his vision and foresight, so essential to the attaining of large-scale achievement in any line of effort, he led the students into the future of agency advertising.

The entire program was in charge of Mr. M. T. Fenner, Jr., Director of Service. The Research and Merchandising function by Mr. R. R. Watson proved very instructive to the student of political economy and the speaker, with breadth of experience and knowledge of his field, led the class thru this most important function in an interesting manner.

The various other duties of an agency were handled by the Managers of the departments in a very creditable way. The full program was as follows:—

Address of Welcome—Mr. Allen Collier, President; How an Advertising Agency Functions—Mr. M. T. Fenner, Jr., Director of Service; The Contact Function—Mr. W. J. Muel, Service Representative; The Research Function—Mr. P. J. Soderstrom, Director of Research; The Selection of Media—Mr. T. P. Orr, Media Department; The Copy Function—Miss Helen Brown, Copy Department; The Art Function—Mr. A. M. Sterling, Art Director; The Production Function—Mr. P. R. Harrover, Director of Production; The Printing Function—Mr. L. A. Beverman, Director of Typography.

In closing, Mr. Ben Mulford, expressed the appreciation of the class for the instructive session and thanked all who participated for their interest. It was announced by Mr. Allen Collier that he had invited the Ad-Sales class to make his visit an annual affair and the class accepted by unanimous consent.

LIBRARIES ENRICHED BY MITCHELL GIFT

Mrs. R. D. Mitchell, Clinton Springs Avenue, Arcandote, has presented to the Law School the library of her father who was a distinguished lawyer of Cincinnati. To the general library of St. Xavier College she has presented 50 volumes. We take this means of expressing to Mrs. Mitchell our gratitude for her generosity.

STUDENT SOCIETY TO HOLD DINNER DANCE

Another post-tenon affluence of great interest to students of St. Xavier is the dinner-dance of the Kaskians, to be given at the Alms Hotel on Saturday, April 22, at 6.30 P. M. If the enthusiasm shown on all sides continues, and the reservations keep on coming in as fast as they have during the past weeks, the Kaskians are going to have the time of their young lives, and the success of the affair will be assured.

ROBERT IN JURIST'S EXECUTIVE CHAIR

The resignation of Mr. Thomas Gallagher as president of the Jurists, was accepted with greatest regret at the last meeting of the organization. His enthusiasm and untiring efforts in behalf of the Jurists for the two years he served as president are appreciated by all. However, graduation, attendance at quiz classes, pending examinations and other matters were proving too burdensome and he was forced to resign.

Frederick W. Robert was chosen to succeed Mr. Gallagher. To Mr. Robert falls the honor of being the first president of the organization to be elected unanimously, which fact is very indicative of his popularity.

IN THE CHIEF'S MAIL BOX

Dear Editor:—

Beginning with the last issue the new editor assumed the chair, and the editor-in-chief of the Xaverian News for the past two years steps down with out any show of appreciation on the part of the students and authorities.

Mr. Bidinger is just one more example of our present honor system which deluges athletes with glory but forgets the leader to academic endeavor. He has given several years of hard work to the College paper and yet receives no recognition.

Last year the writer made an attempt to have the leaders of academic undertakings honored similarly to the devotees of athletics. Nothing was done. The editor, however, kept at his work without even the privileges that the athletic Council might have given. Why, when the substitutes of the football squad were giving out passes to their friends, the editor was paying his way to the Centre game.

Such a policy is unfair. The least that other colleges do for their editors and even assistant editors is to allow them passes to all college, athletic and social events.

If Mr. Bidinger were still editor his modesty would not permit this article to be printed but he deserves all the championing that the News can give—and more. He will not get one, but he has earned his "X."

Yours,
School Spirit.

ELOCUTION CONTESTS

FORENSIC TRIUMPH

One of the outstanding successes of the school year was undoubtedly the Elocution Contest, held on Thursday and Friday of the week of March 23-24. Owing to the large increase of students a radical change had to be made in the manner of conducting the Contest, and departing from the usual mode, the speakers were divided into two divisions, Fourth year High and Second year High holding their Contest on the night of Thursday, March 23, and Third and First year High, Friday, March 24. Six contestants were chosen from each of the three higher classes, and first year, in view of the proportionately large membership of that division in comparison with the others, was allotted ten speakers. A novel feature of the entertainment was the stage decoration. Trellis work, embellished by a scheme of interwoven garlands, made a most striking background, while small potted shrubs in the foreground heightened the effect. A soft ray of light playing on the speakers completed the decorative scheme.

One of the most pleasing features of the program was the High School orchestra, while the Glee Club came in for a justly deserved round of applause.

The Instrumental Quartet, composed of Eugene Porazzo, Murray Paddock, Vincent Peltanti, and David Brinkmuller, was one of the real hits of the entertainment, its rendition of "Japanese Sunset" being of the highest calibre.

The Contest was very close, and owing to the excellence of each of the speakers, the judges experienced difficulty in selecting the winner of the medal for each year. Murray Paddock, by his excellent interpretation of Skylark, was decided the winner for Fourth year, while Joseph T. Only in a little Italian character sketch "Cristo Colombo" carried off the honors in Second year, at the Thursday night contest. The Friday night affair was won by Joseph E. Welp of Third year, in an amusing negro dialect story, entitled "My Possum Aunt," and for First year the medal was won by David Corbett, whose selection, entitled "The Play" was exceptionally well done.

FIRST BLOW STRUCK FOR CHAMPIONSHIP!

The St. Xavier High School Baseball team began its season at Andrew's Park, Newport, in a manner that indicates the Blue and White will prove another Championship winner in the world of sports before the final curtain is let down on the season of 1921-1922. The husky bunch that trotted out on the green for the first game of the season showed that Mr. Bennett has succeeded in turning out another team that will do its very best and fight, fight, fight to the bitter end.

A real find was discovered in the person of a lad named Brennan, who seems destined to win many games for Xavier. He was ably backed in his work by a seemingly invulnerable infield, which no ball could pass. In the outfield not an error was made, due to the holding of "Joe" Kelly, and Don Tiernan. The stars of the game were Harry Abers and Urban Hodapp. Abers garnered three hits out of five times at bat, two of them being for extra bases, and performed in a brilliant style on second base. Hodapp got two out of five times at bat, including a double, and saved a score several times by his fearless holding. A crowd estimated at 500 saw the game, but the Xavier contingent was sadly lacking numbers, and it is to be hoped that the students will awake to the fact that they have a real baseball team, and will attend the future games in 100% style.

The score:

HEAVY SCHEDULE FOR SPRING SEASON

More than 100 prospective members of the St. Xavier High School Baseball team are practicing daily at the Third Street diamond. A world of excellent material is being developed, according to Mr. Bennett, S. J., and before the Newport game it is intended to have the unpromising ones weeded out, and the nucleus of a Championship team trotted out on the Kentucky sward to try conclusions with the Newport nine. From all indications, St. Xavier' baseball team will be fully the equal of her football and basketball team, and that's saying a lot. It is to be hoped the students will turn out for the games in as large numbers as they attended the basketball games. As yet, no Captain has been elected to pilot the destinies of the 1922 Team, but it is intended to choose a leader before the Newport game, which will be held Friday, April 7.

St. Xavier has a very strenuous schedule ahead, eighteen games being slated for the Blue and White horseshoe tusslers before June 15, and if all indications prove out, St. Xavier will have another leading team in the baseball world. The completed schedule is as follows:

OUR DEBUT

Amidst the rolling bands of perspiration, the lure of spring-time's scenic beauty and moonlight, and the Easter-tide's social call, the Staff of '22-'23 assumes the responsibility of The Xaverian News. Instead of duping the baseball race or expressing our favorite phase of Leo Radio, scribes of Xavior apply themselves to Hens of Alma Mater.

Like the Captain and squad of our marvelous gridiron combination, the Captain and team of X engemen, or the Captain and nine of Blue and White baseball, the Editor-in-Chief and his co-writers initiate another successful season for the Xaverian News. The policy of changing staffs before the new school year, marks another step in the progress of our publication.

The N-E-W-S, representing the North, East, West and South of XAVERIAN life, is its official organ. Writing, irrespective of any particular party or influence, we, the Staff, will champion anything that smacks of XAVIER.

LADY SMOKE!

Society, at one time, frowned upon the innovator of leather shoes. It esteemed Garibaldi's red shirt. Will it brand the lady smoker?

Smoking is a custom or habit which until the War, was mostly common to men. But now in many circles, the weaker sex have assumed this custom. It may be shocking to some but after deliberate consideration, we should see no harm. As a custom, smoking has shown no general defects upon men, science has proven this. Specific examples may be cited but universally, mankind is not at a loss, as a result of smoking. Opponents have asserted that the moral position of women will be lowered, that the children of woman-smokers will indirectly be affected.

Let us recall the day, not distant, when society ignored the cigarette smoker. Does it disdain such usages today? At one time, the men who used cigarettes were considered degenerates—now, even prelates enjoy them, now it is the habit or custom. Do we remember, even more recently, how people frowned upon bobbed-hair girls? Is that the present attitude? We credit them with practicality. Now, bobbed-hair is the style or custom. We do not later that because a certain action or mode is a custom, it is morally right. Our intention was to expose by example the ever changing positions that the public mind assumes, on the introduction, the life and the passing of a custom.

We need not instruct evil or expect malicious results from lady-smoking. Because our Irish grandmothers smoked their clay pipes, are their American sons and daughters and their American grandchildren, the present generation, a menace to the national life? On the contrary, they and the American descendants of others, as the beer-loving Teuton and the garlic-eating Slavic, and grandmothers of many other customs, are the thriving organisms of this prosperous nation. We can readily see that smoking did not lessen mother-love nor physically or morally deform these grandmother's children, the children that fought and conquered, the children that today, help guide America thru turbulent waters.

Since women enjoy all the other privileges of men without comment, why not let them smoke? No matter what the prevalent opinion is, in future period, 'very-woman' will be smoking. Some day an ivory cigarette holder will be included in the toilet set. It will be as much a part of the lady's life to smoke, as it is the man's. On the street, at the club, in the boudoir, everywhere, women will be smoking. Why should we criticize?

Lady smoke, altho unsmooth at this very hour, will be unavoidable. Deny women the right to vote and they will demand their privileges. Deny them the right to smoke, as recently in New York City, and they will smoke whenever and wherever it is their pleasure. If they are left alone, they will stop at smoking; if they are rebuked, they may even advance to chewing. Let it be remembered that lady smoke does not receive our approbation, we are only foretelling the inevitable.

Our own mothers may not care to smoke. At least we hope not. Such an action would only be consistent with the manner of men in the past, who refused at the introduction of a then called "fad," but whose sons were the developers of smoking as a fixed custom.

Off the Cherub's Lyre

The Bunch

Sometimes retrospection brings back thoughts of yesterday,
 When with eagerness, we waited for the next offensive play,
 Crouching bodies ready, for the call to hit the line,
 Then there comes the dear old mem'ry of that good old bunch of mine.
 Many were the odds we tackled but we wouldn't yield
 As the team of old St. Xavier swept the ball on down the field,
 Side by side we've played together, battled heart and soul,
 'Til at last we bucked it over, hit the line and made the goal.

Oh, we've clung together since I came to this old school,
 And we've learned to face life's battles like a rule,
 With the couch on the lines yelling like he was in pain,
 And the Captain crying "come on boys we've got to make this gain,"
 And the crowd that cheered us onward, when they swept us back,
 Cheered us when we crossed the goal lines, when we made our valiant attack,
 All of this at old St. Xavier, but I've got a bunch,
 That when I've forgot the cheering, I'll remember still the bunch.

So, old bunch, remember when we're parted; in the strife
 That we meet upon the highway in the football game of life,
 You'll remember what we did, the time we hit the line
 And the tackle who was with you when you hit it bunch O'line,
 For he will remember you in pleasure and in grief,
 He'll be with you, with you always, one religion, one belief;
 While not a player, great, he'll be with you hour and soul
 'Till you reach the distant border-line and cross life's final goal.
 —William Francis Molony.

More Truth Than—

A modest young Xaverian tells this one on himself. It appears that he is undecided whether to choose his career from the field of newspaper work or to take up poetry, of which he is also quite fond. Discussing the matter with a young lady friend one day, she advised him to choose newspaper work. Somewhat pleased, he inquired, "I suppose then, you've read some of my articles in the papers?"

Her reply came rather embarrassedly, "Well, er, so. But I've read a few of your poems."
