Musketeers Tame The Panthers By 50 to 0 Count

Xaverians Have Field Day in Scoring Points

MEYER USES 31 MEN IN KY. WESLEYAN ENCOUNTER

BY JOE FARRELL
Way back in the early days of English literature, John Dryden wrote a satire entitled, "The Hind and the Panther." Saturday, October 10, Coach Joe Meyer told his Musketeers that the old story was antiquated, out of date, and sadly in need of revision. So Captain Reynolds and his gang proceeded to write a new story, one that will last as long as the other did. Captain Reynolds called this new story "The Musketeer and the Panther," and then proceeded to prove to the world that the Musketeer was a far better man than the Hind by soundly trouncing the Panther of Kentucky Wesleyan 50-0. That settled all doubts, Dryden was antiquated.

The Panthers had achieved great heights the preceding week by holding the highly famed Colonels of Centre to a 10-7 decision, and they came north with the idea that Xavier would provide a stiff workout, and little more. That night, they returned to Winchester, with a vague idea of some sort of a tornado that struck them about 2:30 that afternoon. The typhoon lasted for an hour, and at the end, Kentucky's badly mangled reputation was carried from the field. The Musketeers ripped, tore, and smashed for sixty minutes, and as the score mounted, and substitutes appeared, the old spirit remained. It was surely a Xavier day. However, with all the joy in the blue and white camp that night, there was a distinct note of sadness, for Bob King, after playing one of the finest games ever seen on Corcoran Field was carried off with a broken leg. Before the game Coach Meyer had announced that Otto Wenzel, varsity left tackle would be forced to refrain from the game for the rest of the season with a leg injury, so at one stroke, two of the most stalwart Musketeers were out from the roll. They will be missed.

Prohibition Debate Arouses Much Interest

The first debate of the present year held by members of the Philopedian Society found the proposition, "Resolved, That the prohibition law should be modified," under discussion.

Vincent McGlinchey, '26, and Paul Brophy, '28, upheld the affirmative, while Tommy Olines, '28, and Ed. McGrath, '28, argued for the negative. The decision was awarded to the affirmative by the judges, Jim Nolan, '28; Tom Bohne, '29, and Wirt Russell, '29. Henry Jarman, '28, served as critic.

The subject of the next debate will be: "Resolved, That the honor system should be adopted by all Catholic colleges."

The committee appointed to consider the revising of the constitution of the society was ordered to report soon.

Boxing Team Will Meet Notre Dame

St. Xavier is to have its first boxing team this year. Harold ("Buck") Greene, football trainer, has been appointed coach and has already made plans for a busy fall season. He plans to stage a series of inter-class bouts. Joe Buerger, Dutch Wenzel and Mark Schmidt are all experienced ringsters and will all report for training. A meet has been arranged with Notre Dame for March 3 in Cincinnati.

Greene was a quarterback at Xavier in 1920, and from here he migrated to McGill University, Canada, where he figured in football, basketball and featherweight boxing circles. He was a trainer of the Harvard football team in 1922, at which time he was a graduate student in dentistry.

Ruling Made on Use Of Student Passbooks

The Athletic Council last week made a drastic ruling whereby student activity books used by other than the student to whom issued may be taken up at the gate and not returned to the original holder. The action has been made necessary on account of "switching" and "trading" of activity books to non-students.

Regulations for handling of crowds for the home conference games were also discussed at the session. Plans for installation of a wire fence around the track surrounding Corcoran Field are being worked out by the grounds committee.

Glenn Appointed Editor of Annual

WORK ON PUBLICATION TO START AS STAFF IS NAMED

James P. Glenn, Florence, Ky., member of the class of 1926, has been appointed editor of the 1926 "Xaverian," annual publication of St. Xavier College. Glenn was athletic editor of the 1925 annual.

Glenn has been prominent in campus circles, having held membership in most of the college societies and clubs.

Frank A. Arlinghaus, Cincinnati, also a member of the class of 1926, has been named business manager. Arlinghaus served in similar capacity for last year's annual.

Work on the book will start immediately. Glenn is now selecting members of his staff. It is hoped to make the 1926 year book measure up to the high standards set by publications of previous years.

Shades of Tuxedo! Annual Promenade Holds the Boards of Junior Class Now

Although many moons must pass and many tomes be conned before the Grand March of the Junior Prom will be heard, still it is not so far away that it cannot even be thought of without many love-weary sighs and palpitating hearts betraying those worshipers of terpsichore among the student body.

The present Junior Class has always been noted for its aggressiveness, and it plans to make this Prom a crowning glory. A meeting of the class is to be held soon. The Prom will be discussed and President Marc Schmidt will appoint the Junior Prom Committee.

Make your engagements "bright and early" with your "sweet young things" for the most enjoyable evening of your college career—the coming Junior Prom, is the Juniors' slogan.

ARCHBISHOP GREETES MUSKETEER TEAM

Archbishop John McNicholas of Cincinnati, through his secretary, Rev. Joseph H. Albers, addressed a message of greeting to the 1925 Musketeers.

"It is my fond hope that the various teams may be successful in all their contests during the year 1925-26."

Father Kane Speaks On Jesuit Martyrs

Rev. William T. Kane, S. J., professor of education, spoke Monday evening at Discovery Day celebration sponsored by Cincinnati Knights of Columbus at Emery Auditorium. His topic was "The Jesuit Martyrs of North America."

Other speakers were Rev. Francis A. Reardon, an alumnus and now pastor of Holy Name Church, and T. J. Duffy, chairman of the Ohio Industrial Commission. Mr. Duffy gave the commencement address last June.

DANCE SUGGESTED AT STUDENT COUNCIL SESSION

Possibility of a student dance to promote fellowship was discussed at a meeting of the Student Council last Thursday noon. Members of the sophomore class were given permission to consult with faculty authorities relative to arrangements. It is likely that if the plans are successful the informal will be known as the "sophomore hop." Jim Nolan, sophomore president; Tom Olines and John Williams, delegates to Student Council, have temporary charge.

FATHER KIEFER TO LECTURE ON EUROPE

Rev. J. F. Kiefer, S. J., professor of classics, will give a lecture on his European trip October 25 in Memorial Hall at Seventh and Sycamore streets. He led a group of pilgrims to Rome during the summer.

Masquers to Present Classic November 3

ODEON HALL SELECTED FOR SHAKESPERIAN PLAY

November 3 was set by the Masque Society as the date for the presentation of the "Merchant of Venice" at the first meeting of the organization held last Wednesday. There will be a matinee and evening performance of the classic, with the afternoon especially for students of the academies and high schools. The Odeon, of the College of Music, the scene of past Masque successes, was again chosen as the auditorium for the staging of the coming effort.

A lively discussion on whether the cast on the Masque plays should be chosen exclusively from members of the organization, featured the meeting. It was decided to dispense with the payment of one dollar for admission to the society, as was the case in past years.

President Thomas Manion presided at the meeting, which was attended by close to one hundred members.

Business and technical staffs for the "Merchant of Venice" will be chosen this week.

College Faculty Termed "Very Strong"

Not only is the enrollment of students in the Liberal Arts Department this year, the largest in the history of St. Xavier College, but it was pointed out in an interview with Rev. Daniel M. O'Connell, S. J., dean, that the teaching staff is the strongest that has ever represented the college.

With the addition of such men as Rev. Thomas J. Smith, S. J., Professor of Philosophy; Rev. Charles A. Meehan, S. J., Professor of Psychology; Dr. R. R. MacGregor, Professor of History; and Mr. Bartholomew P. Costello, A. M., Professor of English, the students are enabled to pursue a fourth year of college Latin, English, French, German and Spanish, and to minor in Sociology, Mathematics and Physics. Many of the students are majoring in Philosophy and Psychology.

POLICY

Think, Talk and Live St. Xavier.
Ample encouragement to all activities: academic, athletic, dramatic, foransic, literary and social.

Operation of this newspaper as the student voice.

AIM

A co-operative bond between alumni, undergraduates and faculty.
Placement of college loyalty above departmental prejudice.

MEANS

A new, peppy, optimistic college paper.

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATING

St. Xavier has been woefully lacking in the number of intercollegiate debates arranged during the past three years. Debating is one of the most desirable avenues for extra-curricular activity. It affords a splendid field for bringing the name of the college to the fore in one of the oldest of academic competitions.

It cannot be gainsaid that St. Xavier has good debating team material. Members of the Philopedian society have the opportunity for development as debaters. The moderator of that society has indicated that he will do all in his power to sponsor intercollegiate debating. Support of the student body is required to make intercollegiate debating successful from the standpoint of attendance.

Every true St. Xavier man pledges his loyalty to every endeavor under the college name. Intercollegiate debating should be sponsored. There is no time better than early in the first semester to give debating and debaters every encouragement.

SUPPORT

We all hope this will be St. Xavier's greatest football year. For weeks now, coaches and men on the various squads have worked incessantly till after dark each night in order to be able to put on the field a finished and co-ordinated football machine capable of placing the Blue and White at the top of the Ohio Conference ladder. Everything that was humanly possible to do to perfect the team has been done and yet all this effort shall have been in vain unless we, all of us, get behind the team and give them our support.

There has always been a lack of concentrated cheering and rooting at all of our football games. If we are winning or the play becomes close or a long run is made there is a general outburst of praise and encouragement for "our heroes," but let the enemy cross our goal or hold us in the shadow of the goal-posts and the stands are as dumb as the proverbial cigar store Indian. Year after year we have to "yelp" about this lack of fight among our men in the stands and never does the "yelping" have any appreciable results.

Let's get together right from the start and show those men out there on the field that, win or lose, we're with them till the last gun is fired and there will not be any team too big for our boys to handle.

STUDENT ASSEMBLY

One of the most recent developments at St. Xavier in the line of government of student activities is the power vested in the student body, through the agency of its representatives and under the guiding influence of the faculty, of self-government. This governing power is placed in the hands of two separate and exclusively student organizations—the Student Council and the Student Assembly.

The former, consisting of class presidents and individuals elected by the various classes as their representatives, has the power, subject to faculty approval, to institute laws and customs and, in general, to govern all student affairs and settle all difficulties which may arise.

The latter, however, is more of an open forum for the entire student body. Here we may air our troubles, make our suggestions, hear the remarks and opinions of others in regard to matters pertinent to college life and, on the whole, get some notion of what it's all about. Fortunately, attendance at these assemblies, according to the rules of the college, is compulsory, and there is no need for us to urge you to attend, but what we do urge is that you do your best to contribute to the success of these assemblies by getting on your feet and expressing your views on any subject that you believe requires correction or warrants attention. If everyone is on the alert a great deal can be accomplished at these gatherings and perhaps you may be the originator of some momentous and beneficial movement at St. Xavier.

ELET COMFORTS

To the Editor:

The out-of-town freshman coming to St. Xavier feels, I imagine, like Alice must have felt in Wonderland! It's one surprise after another. Instead of the customary "take it or leave it" meals the majority of boarding schools provide, one finds a large assortment of attractive calorie producers arrayed before him.

Few hotels in Ohio or any other state can boast of better accommodations than the rooms and furnishings at Elet Hall. The dormitory building is strictly modern, combining beauty with simplicity of design to form an attractive and still stable structure.

The keynote of St. X as shown in Elet Hall clearly stands out as "congeniality." Cheery words and smiles are as common at Elet Hall as Spaniards are in Madrid. In all, Elet Hall is a typical, home-like boarding quarter equaled by few schools and surpassed by none. T. N. B., '29.

Alumnus Turns to Fiction Writing

G. HARRISON CONRAD ATTAINS FAME FOR WESTERN STORIES

In a letter received recently by the Rev. Francis Finn, S. J., college trustee, from Miss Anna C. Minogue, the following extract will be of deep interest to the older St. Xavier Alumni who knew G. Harrison Conrad, and also to readers of our College Paper, who are interested in literature.

"Of course you remember G. Harrison Conrad, once of Ludlow, Kentucky, but long of Flagstaff, Arizona, a St. Xavier man. Of late years, he has turned himself to the writing of fiction, Western stuff. You may have run across him in some of the popular magazines. The Chelsea House, 79 Seventh Ave., New York, has brought out one of his novels, THE GOLDEN BOWL. I thought that you might like to know, and get it for your library, perhaps review it in the calendar, also that the present pupils of the school and College might go after it, popularize our own Catholic Western story writer, boost him to the front with Zane Grey, a friend, by the way of Mr. C. He also contributes to English magazines.

His second novel, "PEGGY OF LONE PEAK," will be brought out this fall by a London Publisher, and I understand that negotiations are under way for its publication by an American house and its production as a photoplay. All of which listens well. He lives just out of Flagstaff, on his ranch. If any one knows Arizona, it's Mr. Conrad—Arizona of the timber, the mines, the ranches, cowmen, sheepmen, politics, and has had a big part in promoting education there. I forget the number of positions once he held at one time. I know Superintendent of the schools of Coconino County was among them. He well represents the efficiency of St. Xavier College.

NEW BOOK BY EASTERN JESUIT

There is always a glamor about the "backstage." Much as we may enjoy the illusion of the performance, we are far more thrilled by the revelation of the "wheels" that make things move. Such is the thrill which Fr. Neil Boyton, S. J., holds out to his readers in his latest novel, "On the Sands of Coney." Himself an intimate of the scenes which he describes, Fr. Boyton has portrayed, in a fashion possible only to an old habitu, the adventures of a plucky little East Side lad amid the tinselled glitter of Coney Island. A great fire, a breath-taking rescue from the guy rope of a balloon in midair, and the frustration of a plot to place live lobsters in a swimming pool, are but a few of the exciting incidents filling the pages of "On the Sands of Coney." Published by Benziger Brothers; net, $1.25.—Zeaster, '28.

DORM MUSINGS

The bell which held it's peace for the past three months, has been dusted and is now sending forth its appeal for students. Youths from all parts of the state and country have assembled here—some for the purpose of securing a higher education and others for a year of rest.

Our new arrivals are observed going to and from classes. They represent a variety greater than Heinz's 57. There is the dashing young nonchalant youth who thinks the whole college is going to look up to him as the "Glass of Fashion". His mode of dress is strictly English. He wears the new Florsheim pig skin shoes, twenty-two inch pants, high buttoned vest, double breasted blue cheviot suit coat, an exact duplicate of the one the Prince wears on his Sunday afternoon strolls (so his tailor says) and to cap it all he peers from beneath a wide brim light tan hat (ala Tom Mix—Of course its English).

We also have the high school football captain who expects to show the boys how the game is played. Give him his chance and then we will learn how the sun was in his eyes when he fumbled the otherwise perfect pass. Then there is the quite demure lad who tries to sneak around unnoticed. He thinks he is just another of the numerous Freshman. Besides these three types we have many others who were brought to us by the tolling of the bell.—Tom Kelley, '28.

PASSAGE OF SUMMER

Fleet-footed ghost of summer,
Your garments are old and gray
But redolent still of joy and mirth,
Elusive you steal away.

Wailing winds of the summer
When the crest of the year runs high;
The autumn, reluctant comes,
Sends the dead leaves trailing by.

In glasses large-rimmed works the spider,
Hangs his clock between earth and sky,
His long lacen bob pulls harder,
The passing of summer is nigh.

With the donning of mourning garments
The doves murmur in the trees,
While the silver pan-pipes of autumn
Moan to the summer that flees.
—Don Bernardo, '28.

"Xaverian Daze"

By The Three Musketeers

We hope you will look with kindness upon this our initial attempt to inaugurate, what might be termed a humorous column. We also wish to make known that this column is open for suggestions and contributions.

We have chosen what we consider an appropriate motto. It is:
"Fun For All And All For Fun."

Our idea of the "Miracle" is a stray cigarette in Elet Hall.

Freshman: "Say, are there any Jews in Alaska?"

Senior: "Of course not, why?"

Freshman: "Who in 'ell is this guy Ice Berg that they are always talking about?"

One of the out-of-town lads from Elet Hall, when invited to a Donkey Party, was deeply puzzled until someone enlightened him—that he should bring along his own "White Mule."

It is said that there is no truth in the rumor that Ike Winter bought his new car under the impression that it was part of the Shenandoah wreckage.

"The Unknown Hero"

He rushed down towards the five-yard line,
And landed with a thud!
They tried to find who made the goal,
But all they found was mud.

The Transylvanians who gave us the name Mosquitos were badly stung Saturday.

"After the battle is over,
After triumphant and cheers,
Says one fair lad to another,
Please help me find my ears."
—Extract from a Musketeers' memoirs.

PHILOPEDIANS ONLY FOR DEBATING TEAM

Rev. John F. Walsh, S. J., Moderator of the Philopedian Society, is making his plans for the varsity debating team. Father Walsh plans to open the preliminaries to all members of the society.

No intercollegiate debates have been scheduled to date. Philopedians desire to meet several teams this winter and are willing to bend all their efforts to this goal. They believe that the outlook for a first-class team is most encouraging, and they place much confidence in the ability of Father Walsh, who will coach the team.

FATHER SMITH DIRECTS FRESHMAN SODALISTS

Rev. Thomas P. Smith, S. J., dean of men, is moderator of the freshman sodality. Organization of a freshman sodality in addition to the upperclassmen's sodality, was imperative on account of the large enrollment in the College of Liberal Arts.

Coach Shea's Men Face St. Mary In Important Encounter October 16th

Two Strong Teams to Clash on College Grid

When St. Xavier goes into the lists with St. Mary High on the afternoon of October 16, Coach Shea's gridgers will make a strong bid for the Catholic High School Championship of Cincinnati and vicinity. The players are in fine condition after the strenuous practice of the last two weeks and all are eager and expectant. The game is sure to be full of pep and spice. All high school students are expected to be at Corcoran Field when Felix McCarthy leads his Blue and White warriors into the fray.—W. J. Wise.

BRENNAN NAMED JUNIOR SODALITY HEAD

Prefects of the sodality were elected at the last meeting of the Junior Sodality. John Brennan was elected first prefect, with Paul Hilbert and J. Blakely Ryan as his assistants. The officers named by the prefects are: Richard Shiels, secretary; Robert Hoy, treasurer; Daniel Tobin and Louis Feldhaus, librarians; Harry Witte, sacristan; Edward Brueggeman, Augustine Moorman, August Ellerman, August Fath, John Kamme and Kenneth Keefe were announced as promoters. It is hoped that in the future there will be a much larger attendance at all meetings.—Jack Brennan, '28.

GRADUATEE JOINS JESUIT ORDER

Mr. Thomas Burns of last year's graduating class is at the new Jesuit Novitiate of the Sacred Heart at Milford. Until last year the Jesuits of the Middle West had only one novitiate. Because of the large number of novices a second novitiate was opened on the old Irwin estate at Milford. There are fifty or more young students from the Jesuit high schools and colleges of this section of the country at the Sacred Heart novitiate. St. Xavier's representative at Milford is now pursuing his studies under the direction of Father William Mitchell, S. J.

JUNIORS NAME GRIDIRON CAPTAIN FOR SEASON

At a recent rally the junior athletes elected James Brogan captain of the 1925 Junior football squad and Emmett Murphy manager. Edward Uhl of fourth high is coaching the squad. Mr. Reardon is manager and faculty director.

OHIO WESLEYAN, last Ohio Conference of the Musketeers, will come to Corcoran Field with what is believed the strongest team in its history.

THE FRESHMAN (EDITORIAL)

We have given "those inclined to be self-willed nuisances" little space in these pages. Yet he is much in our thoughts. He has four years ahead of him, years of toilsome labor, years of success and grand achievement, or perhaps years of—what will we say?—oh, yes, 69 per cent. Happy and unfortunate freshman! Derided by sophomores, laughed at by juniors, disdained by seniors, and ridiculed by the multitude. What a future is awaiting you! What fame is within your grasp! Ponder on the records of the upper classmen. This will be your salvation, if you imitate them.

See the freshmen in the corridors. Some timidly standing about with mouths agape, eyes wide open, and ears pricked up. Now they make way for the stately senior and beg pardon of a sophomore. Intelligent freshmen! Fearful of the professor in the classroom, prompt in recitation (sometimes), eager to obey, faithful to all duties, polite to each superior. Model freshmen! But what a transition on the campus. Boisterous as a thundering herd, always running, playfully slapping one another, saying father to the scholastics, colliding with the astonished principal, stepping on the toes of the well-groomed senior, breaking all the rules of discipline—for shame, freshmen!

Freshmen, you are our hope, our consolation. You are the glory of St. Xavier tomorrow. Be loyal, graduates of '29, stouthearted and steadfast as those who have gone before you have been, proud of your school, enriching its fame, which is your highest interest and your choicest inheritance.—Robert L. Otto, '26.

BOOST THE BAND

Let's get together and advertise ourselves with a band which will add enthusiasm to the forthcoming athletic contests. Most other prominent high schools reflect their spirit with music; why not St. Xavier. Eight volunteers have already signed up, but many more are needed. We have spirit, so why not combine it with ability and form a band? It means a little sacrifice on the part of the musicians, but the cost is small in comparison to the goal. Let our slogan be: "Advertise With Music."—William J. Wise.

JUNIORS AND MIDGETS DOWN OPPOSITION

The juniors trounced the Clifton Panthers, 32-0, while the midgets whipped the College Hill aggregation, 26-0 at Corcoran Field last Saturday morning.

The Panthers rarely threatened except when their flashy backfield man, Green, was carrying the ball. For Xavier, the work of Simone and Brogan featured.

Thornbury starred for the midgets, as well as Captain Maggini and quarterback Phelan. Ed Uhl's battling players hope to win every game of the year by similar high scores.—Arthur MacKenna, '29.

700 New Books in High School Book Shelves

The library is being restocked with a very large number of new books, and the librarians have been working day and night in entering and preparing for student use the seven hundred new books by writers old and new, classical and modern, which have arrived as the first shipment. All the great authors of old days and of the Victorian glory and of modern fame are represented. The large patronage enjoyed by the library is largely responsible for this new equipment in the library.

ORCHESTRA GROWING IN MUSICAL TALENT

New members continue to enroll themselves in the High School Orchestra. Several more violinists have reported, as well as a saxophone player. John McFadden announces that he will be on hand with a new baritone horn. The St. Xavier High School Song, "The Xavier Rally Rhyme," written several years ago by Mr. Hartford F. Brucker, S. J., will be orchestrated within the near future. Carroll Winzig, President of the 1925 orchestra, has contributed the orchestration of MacDowell's.—John Meiners.

HIGH SCHOOL BRIEFS

Robert Hoy was one of the winners in a recent story contest conducted by the Cincinnati Enquirer. His story was very well written, and was based on an incident of school life.

Six high school students, members of the high school orchestra and charter members of the high school band, have joined the college band, which will play at football games.

We were proud of the large attendance of high school students at the last three college games. Keep it up, and help out with the cheering.

High school news editors met Friday, October 9, for regulation of the routine of editing the high school page, and for determining the type of matter suitable for the high school news, as well as for forming plans to interest the whole student body in contributing to the News.

Senior sodality, under the direction of Fr. Derschug will hold its first formal session on Wednesday, October 14, in the students' chapel. This sodality is conducted for the fourth and third years. Though the juniors have organized two weeks ago, the seniors purpose to surpass them in good work during the year, despite the handicap of a late start of their sodality activities.

Wittenberg to Open Musketeers' Ohio Card

GODFREY HAS STRONG TEAM TO FACE XAVIER SATURDAY

Coach H. S. Godfrey's Wittenberg eleven, fresh from victories over Akron and Denison, will be the next opponents of the Musketeers at Corcoran Field, Saturday, October 17. Hailed as the strongest eleven in Wittenberg's history, the team will come here replete with confidence and the expectation of duplicating last year's 32-7 triumph over the Blue and White. However, the Musketeers have other views on this subject, and Captain Reynolds' crew are of the opinion that the Wittenberg colors will be at half mast Saturday night.

The Springfield team will be accompanied by 300 loyal rooters, and judging from the cheering that was shown at Wittenberg Stadium last season, Corcoran Field will hear some real encouragement Saturday. Captain Russell Beichley, of New Philadelphia, is the visitors' quarterback and triple threat star. Last year his running, kicking and passing were instrumental in lowering the Blue and White in defeat.

Two Cincinnati boys will be seen in the lineup, Moeller and Tuccinardi, both former Woodward High stars, are playing their second season with the Lutherans. Tuccinardi is a half-back, and Moeller an end. Both played against Xavier last year, Tuccinardi scoring a touchdown in the last period.

Campus Sorrow as Wenzel and King Go Out by Injuries

The omnipresent jinx which has been trailing the Musketeers this fall again made his presence felt Saturday, when "Dutch" Wenzel, tackle and Bob "Punk" King, end, were injured, and forced to retire for the remainder of the season. Wenzel suffered a leg injury in practice last Thursday, while King, in the midst of one of the best games of his career, fractured his right leg, and was carried from the field. Their injuries will handicap the Musketeers severely in their drive for the conference title.

"Big Dutch," a 200 lb. tackle, was the most promising lineman on the blue and white squad. With a year's experience, his play in the Transylvania game was of such quality that many observers considered him All-Ohio material. The line will miss his fighting spirit, and unlimited power. "Punk," one of the finest basketball players ever seen in action in the state, had developed into a great end, and his play in the Wesleyan game was the best witnessed on Corcoran Field for some time. His loss is keenly felt. The basketball team will find his place hard to fill in case he is forced to retire from that sport as well.

But to return to the game, it was Xavier from the opening kickoff until the final whistle. The backfield worked like a well oiled machine, while the line opened gaping holes in the Wesleyan forward wall, and then charged down to cut down the secondary. On defense, that same line was impregnable. Wesleyan's plugging backs gaining a total of 27 yards from scrimmage. Their vaunted passing attack was a threat for a time, but the blue and white backs intercepted 6 of their 3 attempts, and effectually stopped all the possible receivers.

The game has been reviewed many times, so we will not attempt to go over it again. All the backs covered themselves with glory, and too much credit cannot be given to the line for their fine work on offense and defense. After all is said, "Pude" Beatty was

"We're Ada - Northern bound.

October 24 the Musketeers play their only game away from home this season. On that date a student migration to Ada for the Ohio Northern game will be in order.

The game will have an important bearing on the hopes of the contending teams, for Northern will be anxious to take the Musketeers into camp in this football meeting, which is the first after a several year's lapse of gridiron relations.

Arrangements for a special rooters' train leaving the morning of the game and arriving back the same evening are being worked out. The entire cost of the trip, including reduced rate train fare, meals and admission to the game should not exceed $7.

Health Examiners Give Students Advice

UNDERWEIGHTS TO RECEIVE SPECIAL INSTRUCTION ON DIET

"Students who are underweight are six times as susceptible to colds, the flu and sore throats as their brothers of normal weight," contended Miss Taylor, associated with Dr. William R. P. Emerson, nationally known examiner and dietitian, who is in charge of physical examinations and health tests in the College of Liberal Arts.

Underweight students are also more inclined to be susceptible to nervous breakdowns than persons of normal weight.

The tests are sponsored in the interests of correction of faulty diet and malnutrition of students, an important factor in deficient class work.

Football men are expected to carry from 10 to 20 per cent overweight. Students who are 7 per cent or more underweight will receive special instruction from the examiners.
