MUSKETEERS CONTINUE OHIO CONFERENCE MARCH

Kenyon Conquered 6-0 In Important Tilt

RAPP, SCHMIDT AND BEATTY STAR; LINE
BRILLIANT

BY TOMMY CLINES

St. Xavier's Musketeers battled their way to a 6-0 victory over Kenyon on Corcoran Field last Saturday to remain among the elite of the Ohio Conference.

Kenyon, always a fighting foe, came to Cincinnati with the strongest team that has represented the Purple since 1908 and they came with the avowed purpose of adding Xavier's scalp to the list of three conference victories. The Musketeers were forced to their utmost to capture the victory because of Kenyon's stalwart stand.

The thrill of the game came to the Musketeer's rooters when in the third period Walter Ferguson raced around Kenyon's right end for 15 yards to touchdown and the only score of the game. The scoring opportunity came after Janszen recovered a Kenyon fumble on Kenyon's 15-yard line.

The feature of the game was the play of both lines and a kicking duel between Beatty, the Musketeer's stellar triple-threat man and Hal Peters, Kenyon ace and one of the greatest kickers in Ohio. In the exchange of punts Beatty averaged 36 yards against 34 for Peters.

Led by the inimitable Hub Rapp at center and Mark Schmidt and Joe Farrell, stalwart guards the line repulsed Kenyon's driving attack and hurried every Kenyon punt. Kenyon made only one first down through Xavier's wall.

Xavier had one chance to score in the first period when a Musketeer recovered a Kenyon fumble on Kenyon's 20 yard line. Allgeier's attempted place kick from the 27 yard line fell short after several line plays had failed.

The Musketeer line held Kenyon on Xavier's 10-yard line in the second period after the Purple recovered a Xavier fumble.

The first half was evenly fought, Kenyon making three first downs to St. Xavier's two.

TANGEMAN TO WRITE FEATURE ON EUROPE

Beginning with the next issue, John Tangemann, '27, will write a series of articles on Europe. He made the pilgrimage with Rev. Jos. Keifer, S. J., this summer. They visited Rome, Paris, London, Lourdes, and Maraisilles, besides the majority of the countries on the continent. He will feature one place each week, thus giving a complete description of the travels of Father Keifer's pilgrimage.

Rubber Town Eleven Is Next on Grid Card

The Rubbermakers from the University of Akron will be Xavier's next opponents at Corcoran Field, Saturday. The Akron team has been the victim of a poorly arranged schedule this year, and so far has not been able to demonstrate its full strength, but in their last three games the improvement has been marked, and Coach Coleman's men can be counted upon to furnish plenty of opposition.

The return of Tehan, Hess, and Nieberding to the fold has eased the worry of Line Coach Noppenberger. The continued brilliance of "Hub" Rapp and "Pude" Beatty will be a threat for the Akronites, and will furnish the experts with ideas for their All-Conference teams.

The Akron team is captained by Joe "Zep" Schoch, quarterback, and boasts of a strong line and fast pony backfield. Some of the stars are: Wargo and Smith, ends; Cunningham, guard; Plant, Center; Johnson, half-back, and Kregenow, tackle. The team is coached by James Coleman, former Arkansas University athlete, and Georgetown, Ky., coach.

ALUMNUS SPEAKS AT CHURCH JUBILEE

On October 25, St. Paul's Church on East 13th St. celebrated its diamond jubilee. Rev. H. F. Brockman, S. J., and Rev. Clement Martin, S. J., were present, while Rev. Fr. Vincent A. Siedke, '90, gave the jubilee sermon. He is at present the pastor of St. Mary's Church, Toledo, Ohio.

Two Matinees Booked For Masque Production

NIGHT PERFORMANCE SET FOR NOVEMBER 20 AT ODEON.

Due to the difficulty in obtaining a suitable auditorium for the matinee performances of the "Merchant of Venice" it has been decided to drop the date originally planned and to give the classic on the afternoon of November 18 and 19, in the Memorial Hall at Seventh and Sycamore streets, and the evening performance on November 20 at the Odeon. The matinees are for the students of high schools and academies of Cincinnati and the neighboring cities with the evening performance for the general public.

Plans for the canvassing of the various academies to sell tickets were discussed at the last meeting.

Former Judge Dixon Talks on City Manager

SPLENDID EXPLANATION OF NEW CITY GOV. ERNMENT.

Former Judge Edward T. Dixon addressed the Philopedian Society recently on the new city manager form of municipal government. After explaining the difference between the old and the new systems the Judge entered into a discussion of the proportional representation idea, which will also be inaugurated next year.

At the conclusion Judge Dixon invited the Philopedians to ask any questions and a short discussion followed. The speaker urged the students to impress the importance of the November election upon members of their families.

In introducing the speaker, Rev. D. M. O'Connell, S. J., dean, stated that Judge Dixon was himself an alumnus of Marquette University and is at present a Professor in the St. Xavier College of Law. The judge received the Doctor of Laws degree, causa honoris, from St. Xavier two years ago.

E. J. McDonald Hurt In An Auto Accident

The campus was shocked Monday last by the news that Edward J. McDonald, '29, suffered serious injuries in an accident on the afternoon of October 25. He was riding with his brother, Robert McDonald, a former St. Xavier student, near Loveland, Ohio, and another brother, John, when their machine overturned. His brother escaped serious injury while Ed. was pinned under the machine. He was taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital where it was thought his skull was fractured.

At present he has a fighting chance for his life, and it is the earnest hope and prayer of the entire school that he may recover.

TO ERECT BOOK RACK

In the near future a book rack, of the best current literature in pamphlet form, is to be placed just outside the Dean's office in Science Hall. Here the students can procure reading matter on current topics of importance.

"COLLEGIATE"

For the past year "collegiate styles" has been on the lips of everyone. Let it be admitted that the styles are collegiate but are not university students perfectly correct in attempting to set the fashion. It is better for young men and young women to set styles on the campus than to import from this or that movie actor who may be in the public's fancy for a brief period.

As the Akron U. "Buchtelite" well remarks: "Which is the most typical American, the long, slicked down, part-in-the-middle hair of the past several years, or the short, rough, parted on the side locks of today; the tight, short, belted suits of yesterday or the wide, loose, free-and-easy costumes of now?"

"Which is the most conducive to application and future accomplishments, the foppish clothes of two years ago or the simple and free garments of this year? It is logical that the freedom of styles tend to create greater freedom and increased activity of the mind."

While the News cannot subscribe entirely to the conclusion made in the last statement, it believes that the loose, and care-free "collegiate" styles are more conducive to efficient college work. There will always be loud ties, balloon pants and multi-colored sweaters by which radicals may explode their particular notions of styles. On the whole, however, the college man selects his garb for economy as well as for service.

JOURNALISM

Times have changed. How often have we not heard it mentioned. Modern journalism as a profession for college graduates is now fostered in educational institutions throughout the land. In the past journalism was treated as a vocation demanding little or no extensive preparatory training. Journalism had not been reduced to the scientific form as known today. Literary Contributions

Emblems and Pins Signs of Science of Display

Once, when the world was celebrating younger birthdays, heraldry, that "gentle art," grew and was strong. Born in Germany from the examples of the lion of the tribe of Judah and the letters SPQR, with eagle surmounting, on the standards of ancient Rome, heraldry was nourished in France and in Spain and imported into England by Norman invaders for the fullness of its career. Knights bore their emblazoned shields into the thick of battle and to the seeming ends of the earth against the Saracens. Men fought and died for the possession of a coat of arms.

The human race involves itself in a succession or cycle of habits that forever recurs. And today we are again in the arms of the gentle art of our own heraldry. This heraldry of democracy is the heraldry of the button, the pin, the ring, the card and the letter. The buttons of children's clubs, scouting and athletic club emblems, baseball insignia, school decorations, fraternity and sorority pins and rings, the manifold mounted signs of business, the marks of luncheon clubs or business associations, political groups or fraternal organizations—all these are part of the new science of display.

As in another century, a race of men has sprung up to live off this modern heraldry. They are the specialty jewelers, the heralds of a puny pride made impressive in the lump. Perhaps, as in those other centuries, this modern heraldry brings with it good. The young knight who received from his father the shield sealed with a lion rampant knew the escutcheon was to be carried where glory lurked and the chance to add another charge of honor.

The student who wears a class pin, the athlete a letter and the business man a club emblem know that others before them have made traditions to which they must assent and do reverence. Perhaps, too, it is another evidence of the mass method of thinking. We think as others think. We do as others do. We belong. Why? —By Andrus Berding, '26.

coast offer extensive courses in journalism. College men with literary aspirations are joining the field of newspapermen. Newspaper work, formerly considered as stepping stone to magazine or other literary activities now has become so influential and alluring to challenge the college man's attention.

St. Xavier has its proportion of men who may perchance decide to follow journalism. The field has many opportunities. The News offers a chance for men desiring a little experience in some of the fundamentals of journalism. Those desiring try-outs on the staff are invited to send in their applications.

IF I WERE A MINSTREL

If I were a minstrel, each night I'd woo
Your heart with my song. The moon-light frames you
O fair one, enchanting your bower rail
Like dew-drops bedecking a flower frail.

If I were a minstrel, each night I'd play
A delicate, wondrous tilting love-lay.
Melodious notes my lute would string
That nightingale tokens of thee might bring.

If I were a minstrel, each night I'd take
My vigil beneath thy tower and wake
Your slumbering dreams. And beautiful dawn
Would find me thus, just singing on.
—Bill McCarthy.

LIFE

Life is like a rainbow—
The golden flush of infancy
For budding youth a blush of pink
And middle-age a crimson arc,
The hazy background is our end.

After Ferguson's touchdown in the third quarter the Musketeers threatened to score again when the ball was carried to Kenyon's 7 yard line on a 15 yard penalty and an 18 yard pass from Reynolds to Kelly. Kenyon's giant line stopped four line plays and stemmed a possible touchdown.

In the last few minutes of play in the fourth period Kenyon made a last valiant attempt to tie the score when Peters opened an aerial attack and completed two passes to Van Epps which carried the ball to Xavier's 10-yard line. Peters then threw four more passes, all of which were blocked by the alert Xavier secondary.

"Winning An Heiress," Is Title of School Play

The high school dramatic society will present "Winning an Heiress," a two act comedy and masquerade, written by F. Ursula Payne, on the afternoon of November 25, in Memorial Hall. About twenty-five candidates responded to the call and were given tryouts. Rehearsals have been full of such enthusiastic and interested effort that the production promises to be a certain success.

It is the first time in years that the high school has attempted more than one production during the school term. The co-operation of all students, is, then, very necessary, if this new experiment is to meet the continued success which it so well deserves. New lighting and scenic equipment for the stage have been secured. The now famous high school orchestra will make its first appearance before the student body this year at the occasion.

You will certainly want to know the heiress, and Milton Tobin in the role of Jimmy, the janitor, will be a source of endless entertainment. An afternoon of hearty laughter is in store for you.—Wm. J. Wise, '28.

A KNIGHTLY VIRTUE

Do we, the creatures of an age of materialism, ever pause to consider that true Christian virtue which our petty progressiveness is excluding from our lives? Have we closed our eyes to the past, and, in our blind folly, refuse to see nothing but the mean, contemptible mass of ego? Are we never again to feel the influence which that virtue held over the minds, great and little, of ages gone by?

I speak of courtesy, such as was practiced by the pride of Medieval Europe and the flower of Christendom. Courtesy, the inspiration of chivalry, the consummation of knight-hood! Courtesy, pure Christian virtue in its noblest ascents! It was courtesy which was uppermost in the hearts and minds of the Crusaders; it was their watchword, their vigil. It was courtesy as was exemplified by Louis IX in an age when even kings were saints, and warriors kissed the hands of beggars. Yes, such an age did really exist outside the pages of romance, and we try to suppress a sigh as we think of it.

Courtesy is a quality of nobility, an expression of the beautiful soul, inseparable from manliness and benevolence and consideration for the joys and sorrows of others. Politeness in itself is not courtesy. Politeness may be practiced with regard to the opinions of others; courtesy is practiced with regard to the feelings of others. The pleasant greeting is the fruit of politeness; but deference to inferiors, of courtesy. It is easy for the villain to be obsequious, for the millionaire to be lavish in his contributions. But only the beautiful soul can be courteous.—William Nolan, '26.

GREETINGS!

Friday will be a holiday. It is President's Day.

We are, of course, glad that it is a holiday. But we are happier because it gives us an opportunity to express our gratitude to Rev. Hubert F. Brockman, S. J., President of St. Xavier College and High School.

The student body wishes to take this opportunity to extend to him its thanks for his kind and careful interest in all our concerns, for his fearless and successful efforts to advance our school in power and prestige and intellectual potentiality, for his generous sacrifices that we, the students, may prosper.

We will not cast about for fine words, or ferret out old compliments. From the great, single heart of the student body, we have one simple word for our president, "Thank You."

NUTRITION CLASS FORMED

Last Friday Dr. Wm. J. Topmoeffer, noted Cincinnati nose and throat specialist, and Miss Florence Taylor, who is in charge of the physical welfare department of St. Xavier's, addressed a meeting of parents of first year students who are underweight according to examinations recently held. Miss Taylor's practical talk concerned itself with means of improving health and normalizing weight. A nutrition class was formed for the purpose of correcting faulty diets and combating malnutrition.

Other activities of this department of physical welfare are the proposed doctors' institute to be formed at St. Xavier in the near future. Last Tuesday Miss Taylor gave an interesting talk to all second high students on health problems.—J. H. Dressman, '27.

Intensive Orchestra Rehearsals Are Held

The orchestra is following the good old principle, "Practice makes perfect." Rehearsals are being held at noon and are proving very gratifying to the director. Among the new selections now being practiced are the following, "La Albuera," "In the Shadows," "Song of Love," selections from "Sweethearts," "If I were King," and others.—Ed. Wieland, '26.

Hamilton Defeats Xavier Grid Eleven

Hamilton High pulled a big surprise last Saturday when they romped away with our team, beating them 31 to 0. Whether the team lacked the inspiration of Captain McCarthy or merely had an off day is difficult to determine. At any rate the Hamilton backs seemed too slippery for our tacklers. After the kickoff, the up-state team, making good use of their heavier line in the mud, slowly but steadily marched down the field. When they neared the goal posts, McCarthy, who has been bothered with a "Charlie horse" for several days, limped out on the field. The team braced up a bit but were unable to prevent the touchdown. Our captain did not remain in the fray very long as his leg was bothering him too much. Toward the end of the second quarter our goal line was crossed again.

In the second half the Hi boys took the offensive, using the forward pass to good advantage, but their success was short lived for one of the Hamilton backs snared a pass and raced down the field for a touchdown. The last quarter netted Hamilton two more touchdowns. One of these was from an intercepted pass. Coach Shea used 27 men.

Team Plays Du Pont Friday at Louisville

Still undefeated Coach Shea's warriors will travel to Louisville on November 6, president's day, to play the strong Du Pont Manual High School of that city. McCarthy promises that the team's expression of loyalty to Rev. Hubert F. Brockmann, S. J., president of St. Xavier College and High School, will be a triumphant victory.

Beaten by Stivers, Yet Xavier High Wins

It has been announced by the Ohio High School Athletic Association that the game between St. Xavier and Stivers, which Stivers was said to have won by a score, 10-0, has been forfeited by the latter team to St. Xavier. Stivers was shown to have used ineligible players, and so St. Xavier is credited with a 1-0 victory.

The librarian wishes to acknowledge his indebtedness to Rev. Francis J. Finn, S. J., the author of many popular books for boys, for his courtesy in helping him select books for the high school library.

EXAMS TO START

Our sunset gun will boom on November 5. The horrible demon, exams, is haunting us again. He is even more dreaded than his partner in crime, book reports. But while the vast majority stand the onslaught of the latter, not a few of us fail to survive the battle with exams. Truly, he is a monster, and since we cannot very well retreat from him, let us fortify ourselves with those invincible generals, study and perseverance, in order that we may send this cruel and crafty villain back to his lair, undefeated—until next time.—Joseph H. Dressman, '27.

Thanksgiving Essay Contest Announced

All students with literary inclinations will have an opportunity to prove themselves in a contest which is being conducted for the high school students.

A prize will be publicly awarded to the writer of the best essay on "Thanksgiving." This contest is open to all four years (even the first and second years). The freshmen and sophomores will be given as much consideration as a senior.

The minimum length will be 400 words. Don't put it off. You have not too much time; the contest closes on November 18. Submit all articles to your English professor. He will place them in the hands of the judges who are to be announced later.

Father O'Callaghan Inducted to Office Last Sunday

NEW AREA TO INCLUDE FOUR STATES; HEAD- QUARTERS HERE.

Very Rev. J. J. O'Callaghan, S. J., a member of the class of 1892 was installed as the first vice-provincial of the Jesuit order of the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Michigan. The event took place in Hinkle hall and marks another step in the development of the work of the society. Until the creation of the vice-province the Missouri Province comprised all states of the mid-west extending from Ohio to Colorado and north to Canada. A separation similar to that made in the Missouri Province was accomplished in the Eastern Province a few years ago.

The creation of the vice-province at present will mean a partial and experimental division of jurisdiction which if successful will eventuate in the creation of a new province of Ohio. The headquarters will be at St. Xavier.

Prominent Jesuits attending the installation included: Very Rev. F. X. McMenemy, S. J., provincial of the Missouri Province; Rev. Mathew Ger-min, S. J.; Rev. C. H. Cloud, S. J., president of St. Louis University; Rev. William H. Agnew, president of Loyola University, Chicago; Rev. William Mitchell, S. J., of the Milford novitiate, consultants of the Missouri province; Rev. Hubert F. Brockman, S. J., president of St. Xavier; Rev. John F. Neenan, S. J., superior of the Milford novitiate, and the entire religious faculty of St. Xavier college, high school and church.

Father O'Callaghan was president of St. John's University, Toledo, just prior to the installation.

In an isolated region, almost inaccessible in winter, this 6500 h.p. hydro-electric plant located on the Deerfield River in New England, starts, protects, and stops itself.

A Self-Starting Power Plant

Dawn—the slumbering city awakens and calls for electric current. Many miles away the call is answered. A penstock opens automatically, releasing impounded waters; a water turbine goes to work, driving a generator; and electric current is soon flowing through wires over the many miles to the city. This plant starts and runs itself.

Power plants with automatic control are now installed on isolated mountain streams. Starting and stopping, generating to a set capacity, shutting down for hot bearings and windings, gauging available water supply, they run themselves with uncanny precision.

Thus another milestone has been reached in the generation of electric power. And with present-day achievements in power transmission, electricity generated anywhere may be applied everywhere.

The non-technical graduate need not know where electricity comes from—nor even how it works. But he should know what electricity can do for him no matter what vocation he selects.

The General Electric Company has developed generating and transmitting equipment step by step with the demand for electric power. Already electricity at 220,000 volts is transmitted over a distance of 270 miles. And G-E engineers, ever looking forward, are now experimenting with voltages exceeding a million.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.
