"X" Nosed Out By Michigan

Captains Elected

Xavier was nosed out by Michigan State College, Monday, at Corcoran Field, 1 to 0. The "X" battery was Leeds and Schuck; Michigan, Tolles and Witter. Rare pitching and the battling of T. Clines and Schuck featured the game, which drew 1,000 persons.

At an informal dinner at the Elett Dining Hall last week in honor of the basketball and boxing teams, Mark Schmidt and Andy McGrath were raised to the captaincies of the next baseball and basketball squads.

Coach Joseph Meyer, acting as toastmaster, called upon Rev. Hubert F. Brockman, S. J., President of the college, who praised the success of all the year's athletics and the courage of the players.

Dr. Wesley Furste, Medical Director and tennis coach, was the next speaker. He outlined his plans for the coming season and promised that his men would uphold the standard of the other sports.

Retiring basketball captain Joe Kelley, Dan Teban and Schmidt also spoke on the Musketeer teams.

Schmidt, star football guard and president of the senior class, has both pitched and played in the outfield. He is in the outfield this year.

McGrath, basketball center and football end, played splendid basketball throughout the last season and is now trying for a place on the baseball squad. He has proved himself to be an all-round athlete.

Eulogizes

Cardinal Bellarmine

The President of St. Xavier College, Rev. Hubert Brockman, S. J., preached at chapel assembly last week. Father Brockman spoke of the life of Blessed Robert Bellarmine, S. J., to whom the student chapel is dedicated.

"Cardinal Bellarmine will be famous forever for his antagonism to the theory of 'divine right' monarchy and for the philosophical discourses which he delivered while a professor at Louvain," Father Brockman said.

Lectures

Given by Dante Club

Last Thursday afternoon the Dante Club delivered its lecture upon "The Divine Comedy" at LaSalette Academy in Covington. The lecture was well received, and musical entertainment was furnished by Eugene Perasso. The speakers were Louis E. Keller, Edward J. McGrath, Robert J. Williams and William Nolan. Mr. Joseph H. Meyers, Faculty Director of the Club, accompanied the lecturers.

Last Friday the "Jesuit Martyr" lecture was presented for the first time in Alumni Science Hall. It was heard by the literature students, and Rev. Daniel M. O'Connell, S. J., Liberal Arts College Dean, expressed himself as well pleased with the lecture's initial presentation. A number of engagements for this lecture have been booked, and it is expected to be a very popular feature of this year's Dante Club.

"The Passion" Opens Sunday Night At Grand

Sacred Drama

Has Nine Episodes

"The Passion", as presented at the Grand this week, will be divided into nine episodes. The first portrays the triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem on the Sunday previous to His crucifixion. The crowds assembled to greet Him and laid palms and garments underneath the feet of the ass on which He was mounted.

His visit to the home of Martha and Mary, when Mary Magdalen bathed His feet with her tears, follows.

The third scene is the Last Supper, built around DeVinci's celebrated painting. During this scene the Eucharist is instituted.

After the Last Supper, Christ takes three of His Disciples into Gethsemane and prays that His Chalice may pass from Him. This is His first agony.

His trial before Pilate, wherein Pilate asks, "What is truth?" follows. Christ is turned over to the judgment of the people.

Condemned, He is hurried to Calvary and the events of the Via Dolorosa take place.

The soldiers on Calvary cast lots for possession of Christ's seamless garment as the Innocent Victim arrives for His Supreme Sacrifice.

The tableau of the Crucifixion, the climax of the production, has been judged a masterpiece of stagecraft.

The last episode is the Easter morning visit of Mary and her friends to anoint the Body of Christ. An angel greets them with the news of His Resurrection.

Standards

Raised by North Central

Educational standards of the North Central Association of Colleges were raised at its recent meeting in Chicago, Rev. Hubert F. Brockman, S. J., President of St. Xavier, said upon his return from the convention.

All members will henceforth be required to have large foundations. Eight colleges were eliminated from the organization because they could not comply with this requisite.

Father Brockman also said that teacher training was discussed at great length.

Musketeers

Seventh Among Catholic Teams

The Musketeer football team of 1926 stands seventh among Catholic college teams throughout the United States, according to recent reports. The standing of the first ten teams is as follows:

- Notre Dame
- Loyola (New Orleans)
- Boston
- Georgetown
- St. Mary (California)
- Holy Cross
- St. Xavier
- Fordham
- Marquette
- Craigston

This order was determined by applying the Dickinson system, with variations, to the records of these schools.

Debaters Meet Two Schools

Loyola and Boston

The St. Xavier debating team will meet two schools in inter-collegiate tilts this week.

Tomorrow night in the Lodge reading room of the library the Xavier and Loyola debating teams will meet for the second time this season. The question will again be: Resolved, That the Volstead Law be Modified to Permit the Manufacture and Sale of Light Wines and Beers.

Two-men teams will debate, with St. Xavier on the Affirmative. In the previous debate the sides were reversed and the decision was awarded to the Xavier team.

This debate must be attended by Juniors in the Liberal Arts College.

Next Monday morning, likewise in the Lodge reading room, another debate will be heard when Boston College meets Xavier on the topic: Resolved, That the United States Should Cancel Her Inter-Allied War Debts. This debate will also be between two-men teams.

The debate was arranged for the morning as "The Passion" would conflict with the afternoon and evening dates. Seniors and Freshmen are obliged to attend and an invitation has been extended to the students of the two other Catholic Colleges in Cincinnati, Mt. St. Joseph and Sacred Heart.

Only one more debate will be held this year and that will be with St. Viator after Easter.

Xavier will probably be represented in this week's debates by two Juniors, Edward J. McGrath and James Quill.

Judges

Selected for College Contest

E. E. Cook, editor-in-chief of the Ohio Group of Scripps-Howard newspapers; T. A. Thackeray, editor of the Cleveland Press, and L. E. Judd, editor of the Akron Times-Press, are the judges in the O. C. N. A. best paper contest sponsored by the Ohio Scripps-Howard alliance.

Papers are being received from all the colleges entered. All weekly publications will have submitted six consecutive issues by Friday, April 8, when the contest officially closes.

Criticism of each paper submitted will be made by Mr. Cook after the other two judges have sent their decisions to him. The trophy to be awarded the winner has not yet been announced. According to Sherrill E. Leonard, president of the association, the announcement will be made next week. There are twenty-four papers at the present time entered in competition.—(By O. C. N. A.)

Tennis Squad at Work

Twenty aspirants responded to the call for candidates for the varsity tennis team last week. Dr. Wesley Furste, coach, announced that reserve strength will be necessary for this year's team, seven men being required in matches with Indiana and Notre Dame Universities.

Dr. Furste also said that there will be a tournament in the near future to decide on the members of the squad and to test the men in-match play, an absolute requisite for inter-collegiate players.

MOTTO — TO SERVE XAVIER

Suicide

We believe that this is the only college newspaper that has kept silent upon that subject which crops up almost daily in the press—student suicides. Like all other editorialists who have told why students prefer death to life, we have no explanation.

We disagree with those who directly trace these suicides to a lack of religion and a materialistic philosophy. Many students have been irreligious and materialistic for years. Why are they only beginning to follow their doctrine to a logical conclusion—suicide?

We like better the explanation of one illustrious professor. "These suicides are only another wave; why they began and why they will end is unaccountable."

The Passion

During the last two years the Xavier Passion Play has enjoyed prosperous Lenten "runs" in Cincinnati. This year's prospects, due to its removal to an up-town theatre, are even brighter. But, remember, its success will be proportionate to the enthusiasm of those associated with the college.

What are you doing to boost it?

ROTARIAN

Addresses Orientation Class

Mr. Wm. Licht, prominent in Cincinnati business circles, identified with many charitable and fraternal organizations, and President of the Cincinnati Rotary Club, delivered the Orientation lecture of last week. He chose for his subject "Civic Organizations and the Community Chest."

"There are many types of organizations," he said, "Chambers of Commerce, religious and charitable societies, fraternal clubs and the more recent classification clubs. To the latter group, the Rotary Club belongs. I speak of it, not because I do not admire the others, but because I am most familiar with the workings of its organization."

"It was founded in Chicago twenty-two years ago. A coal dealer, an attorney, a mining engineer and a tailor were its charter members. They alternated their meetings between their respective offices; hence the name."

"As their membership grew, these meetings gave way to the weekly luncheons which members must attend. The early purpose of this club was selfish—to compare business notes and to suggest improvements to each other. It was not to monopolize, for each man was to carry the suggestions which he received, back to the members of his guild."

"But though the Rotary Club grew, its members knew that something was wrong. At the 1918 convention, the wise heads asked each other, 'What's wrong?' and decided that it was lack of service to others."

"At the San Francisco convention the first code of Rotary ethics was drawn up, placing service above everything. Now there are 2,496 clubs, existing in 88 nations, and the charter membership of four has grown to 225,000 men. All this has been volunteer work, proving that an unselfish motive can succeed."

"The club has done much to eliminate unfair practices in business, to promote high ethics, to serve the community and to place personal advantages second in its interests."

"In Cincinnati, the Rotary Club had taken particular interest in boy work and in assisting crippled children.

"Now about you college men. The same moral fibre is in you that was in your grandfathers. I have no patience with those who find fault with modern youth. There is only this difference; present-day youth is confronted with more temptations."

"The main thing in life is happiness, certainly not riches and fame. And I assure you that you will be greatly disappointed if you ever abandon the course that you have laid out for yourself. If you have no plans, make them as quickly as you can. Then stick to them."

"The college man stands head and shoulders above the non-college man." Mr. Licht then quoted figures from the year book, "Who's Who" to prove that the college trained man is greatly favored in his chances for success.

"Just a word about the Community Chest," he continued. "This year the 86 agencies in the Chest are asking for an increased budget, the first increase since the Chest was started during the war."

"I attended many of the meetings at which the budget was determined and I stand here to assure you that not one penny is asked unnecessarily. Remember that many of these agencies already have other means of support and this works to cut down their requests to the Chest."

"I call upon you to go forth as ambassadors of the Community Chest to the city of Cincinnati and to give your entire support to the undertaking. This should be your contribution to the city, that its waters may be left to you as crystalline as they are at this moment."

ST. XAVIER HIGH SCHOOL

Large Squad Forecasts Good Baseball Season

To the poet spring is a time of bees, birds and trees, to the ordinary individual it is a time when laziness may be indulged in as "spring fever," while to the athlete, spring is the time when the baseball fever gets into his blood, and he thinks of flies, hits and box scores.

Well, to get down to business (I'm not writing for the American Naturalist Magazine) last Monday some sixty-five or seventy candidates responded to Coach Savage's call for participants in the National Game. Now baseball is not a game that can be played at first sight; so the weeding out of the ball players from the ball tossers was not a hard task. Thus only about twenty candidates were requested to be present at the following evening's practices.

St. X Hi in the past has always been represented on the diamond by a team of real sluggers and fielders that generally handled all Southern Ohio and Northern Kentucky Hi teams. The outlook for the baseball team is by far the brightest of the three major sports played at this school. This is due to the fact that five members of last year's team remain. Bobby Brand a fleet footed outfielder; "Syl" Grause, "Bob" Sack and "Joe" Zeigler, infielders, and "Paul" Steinkamp catcher. However, the biggest burden, that of a pitching staff, shall remain to be developed from some eight hurlers, Puttman, Zeigler, and Osterfeld being the three best looking moundmen.

The departure of Jimmy Shevlin left the initial sack vacant, and from the looks of the first base candidates, it will be many a day ere Jimmy's shoes are ably filled. Infielders are plentiful, but they're all handcuffed. Among the most prominent looking now comers are: 50-50 Inaco, Jack Connaughton, a keystone sacker; Sol Stephen and Paul Fredwest, while the "look in" corner will undoubtedly be guarded by "Joe" Zeigler. Good gardeners seem scarce, yet there are a few who seem to have the makings of an Ed Housh. Patrolling the center pasture, undoubtedly will be Bobby Brand, in left, "Shorty" Hemmer has easily outdistanced all competitors for that garden, while for right field, "Chunky" Meiners and "Bernie" Griffin are putting up a furious battle. The backstopping department is the only agency with a firm footing. Steinkamp of last year's team, assisted by "Charley" Walters of football fame make that position safe.

This season's schedule has not been completely arranged, yet many an interesting fracas is assured. The season opens with Hamilton Public High, Friday, April 8.

This means not much time left to develop a high-class ball club, yet we are assured the boys will show as good a brand of baseball in that first game as would be expected in mid-season. Remember April 8!

—Will Scanlon.

Baseball Schedule

Mr. N. H. Mann, S. J., Athletic Director, has announced the following baseball schedule. The games at home will probably be played at Corcoran Field:

- Apr. 8—Hamilton Public at home.
- Apr. 12—Holy Cross at home.
- Apr. 22—Dayton, Ky. at home.
- Apr. 29—Elder at home.
- May 6—Hamilton Public at Hamilton.
- May 10—Immaculate at home.
- May 20—Elder at Elder.
- May 27—St. Mary at St. Mary.

ANNUAL

Photography Almost Completed; Write-ups are Over-due.

Work on the Annual is progressing steadily. Howard Meiners, who is in charge of the photography, announces that his work is about completed. Most of the articles have been submitted, and those who desire to contribute are urged to hand in their material by the end of the week.

The assistance lent by Mr. Ed L. Colnon, S. J., and Mr. Harry J. Moore has been invaluable, and we firmly believe that without them an Annual begun so late would be an impossibility. The editor is most grateful to them.

With the year book's name "X-Ray" as a guiding light, the staff is trying to make this volume shine forth as resplendently as its name-sake. If the entire student body lends its moral support, those who are devoting themselves so earnestly to the "X-Ray's" furtherance will feel themselves encouraged to a great degree.

—Joseph Drasman.

"X-Ray" Chosen as Title For First Annual

Now that the big contest is over and the judges have made their decision, we find that William Haas of 4-D has won the prize of fifty Activity Cup points. The winning title "X-Ray" was almost unanimously chosen as the name for St. Xavier High School's first annual. The artists are already working up a cover design including the name "X-Ray." The principal features which guided the judges in their selection were the brevity of the name, its prominent "X", immediately suggesting "Xavier", and a certain pleasing ring which the word possesses. The significance of the name was ably expounded by Mr. Haas in a letter, which may be included in the annual. The fifty Activity points which went to the winning room has placed 4-D within striking distance of the goal, the third quarter Activity Cup award. With several men on the baseball team, this room now stands a fair chance of winning the cup.

APRIL

Busy Month Awaits Students; Orchestra Has Heavy Schedule.

The busy month of April is now upon us, and the students are entering upon the most grueling quarter of the school year. The month opens with examinations, requiring nights of preparation; those who will compete in the Oratorical Contest are busy in preparation for the big event; about 100 boys are working for the semi-final elocution contests, and the men on the orchestra are working up programs for several occasions. In the near future, also, are the essay contests, the Latin pennant examinations, the twin debates, commencement speeches and graduation exercises. Altogether, we can look forward to an exciting and busy month, which will keep all of us on our toes.

It has been announced by Mr. Edward K. Roth that the senior semi-final elocution contest date has been changed from April 19 to April 18 in order to complete the contests before Easter.

First "C" Wins Third Quarter Latin Pennant

Another First Year Latin Contest has come and gone and though some may regret its passing because of the low marks they merited, yet all are quite willing to agree as to its benefits.

On Friday, March 25th, many freshmen heads ached from excessive strain brought about trying to awaken dim recollections of the four regular Conjugations, the "io" verbs of the Third Conjugation, the Dependent Verbs, the Periphrastic Conjugations and the Irregular Verbs. The test consisted of a hundred forms of verbs in the above mentioned classes, fifty of these forms in Latin to be translated into English and the remaining in English to be translated into Latin. The time assigned was two periods.

"After the ball was over" or rather the test was finished and the results made known, it was found that "IC" had won first place with an average of eighty and ten twenty-sevenths per cent. The second place was won by "IA" with sixty-six and thirteen thirty-firsts per cent. Then, close upon the heels of the winner of second place, followed "IF" with an average of sixty-three and five-twenty-ninths. The next in line was "ID" with sixty-one and a half as its average. Then followed "IG" with fifty-five and thirteen-sixteenths; "IB" with forty-nine and two-thirds, and "IE" with forty-two and three twenty-eights.

The two league baseballs offered as a prize for all with an average above ninety were won in the drawing by Floyd of "IG" and Dwertman of "IC". One ball had the signatures of several great players inscribed upon it. The other was still in its wrappings and sealed in a box when given to the winner.

Mr. Kawelewski, the Chemistry Professor, has received word that all the essays submitted in the State Contest have been passed the first judge. They are next to be judged at Columbus for the State Contest. Then if they meet approval there, they will be sent to Washington, D. C. to compete in the National Contest. Every one is hoping that a boy from St. Xavier's will be one of the winners, and thus uphold the name of the school.

"Elephants a-pillin' teak, In the studdy, squddy creek, Where the silence 'ung that 'eavy You was 'arf afraid to speak!"
—Kipling's "Mandalay"

ELEPHANTS

The elephant is man's most intelligent helper. But—consider this interesting comparison:

An elephant is much larger than the electric motor of a "yarder" or logging machine. The "yarder" has the power of twenty elephants; it handles clusters of logs; it works dependably, twenty-four hours at a stretch, if necessary.

Twenty elephants would eat daily 10,000 pounds of green food, which a corps of attendants must gather. A motor "eats" nothing but electricity, supplied at the throw of a switch.

Power used in the modern industrial world is applied through electric motors—tireless "iron elephants" that are relegating antiquated machines to museums, along with such oldtime household articles as wash-tubs and ordinary irons—and stuffed elephants.

Two million elephants could not do the work now being done by General Electric motors. Whatever the work to be done, whether it needs the power of an elephant or the force of a man's arm, there is a General Electric motor that will do it faithfully for a lifetime at a cost of a few cents an hour.

The annual banquet of the Co-operators' Society of the School of Commerce and Sociology will be held at the Alma Hotel, Tuesday, May 10, it was announced by Edward Feck, Chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements.

Members of the committee gathered for a preliminary meeting last week and elected Feck, a senior accountant. He will name others to handle minor details soon.

This banquet is one of the important affairs of the year and a large attendance is expected. Several members of the faculty and a guest speaker will be on the program.

PRINTER OF THIS PAPER

Righto!

HERE'S a shoe that will satisfy your eye as well as your foot. It's a new Potter-Thompson model, made of genuine imported calfskin and shielded at quarter and tip with simulated crocodile. A step ahead of style, sure enough — and, incidentally, the best ten dollars' worth you ever wore.

THE CHESTERFIELD — A new blucher oxford, styled by Potter, built by Thompson. In black or tan imported calfskin, with brass eyelets and fancy pinking.
