Xavier Ranks First In Collegiate Contest

With Largest Total Points In Latin And English; Winstel, Feldhaus, Eckstein Win English Honors

A high tradition was upheld when Xavier again scored the highest number of points in the combined results of the English and Latin contests. This good news became known upon the recent announcement of the winners of the 1932 Intercollegiate English Contest, in which Xavier received three places: sixth, seventh and eighth. This is the fifth consecutive year in which Xavier has outranked all other contestants—an unbroken record extending from 1928 to 1932 inclusive.

Prize Students

Sixth place was taken by a Junior and a resident of the Blue Grass State. John J. Winstel lives at 307 Terrace Avenue, Dayton, Ky., and received his education at St. Stephen High School in Newport. During the past two years he became known as a contender in the Latin Contest, but was disqualified from further competition by winning first place last year. His entrance into English opens up another field of endeavor, and is an omen of success for his remaining year at Xavier. John is also a member of the Philopedian Debating Society and writes up weekly occurrences for the Xaverian News.

The winning of seventh place by Louis A. Feldhaus, of the Senior class, is his second successful start in the contest (last year he placed tenth) and only one of his varied literary activities. He is one of the select members of Mermaid Tavern. Offerings from his pen in the form of the tasteful "Book Chat" appear weekly in the Xaverian News. Louis is also in a fair way to becoming a playwright. His comedy, "So This Is Constance," has already been produced by a Kentucky dramatic club. Last year he was chosen best individual actor in a series of one-act plays sponsored by the Masque Society. Nor must his work in the Dante Club be forgotten. Mr. Feldhaus received his preparatory training at St. Xavier High School, where he was likewise outstanding in intellectual activities.

Vincent Eckstein, the other prize winner, is an alumnus of St. Xavier High, also, and was likewise active in literary affairs there. He is only a freshman, and not only his classmates but all Xavier students interested in scholastic accomplishments are very proud of him.

The title of this year's contest was challenging: "Quadragesimo Anno: How Can Catholic Students Apply Its Principles?" "Quadragesimo Anno" is the able encyclical issued just a year ago by Pope Pius XI on the reconstruction of the social order. In times of economic distress like the present, a study of the Holy Father's teachings is opportune. However, in order to submit a creditable paper, contestants had to be familiar with the entire attitude of the Church, as well as with the sociological and economic aspects of the question. The subject was intensely practical, inasmuch as the writers had to consider ways in which the general Catholic college student can aid in the social program of Catholic Action. The success of Xavier students is a tribute to their wide research and clear analysis of the question.

Official announcement from St. Louis lists the successful essayists as follows:

1. Charles Collins (Paul Jones).....Regis
 2. James Gill (Robert Bellarmine).....Loyola
 3. Frank Roach (John Cross).....Creighton
 4. Francis J. Calkins (Juan de Mariana).....Loyola
 5. E. J. Anderson (John Kent).....Regis
 6. John J. Winstel (Jumius).....Xavier
 7. Louis A. Feldhaus (Vance Weston).....Xavier
 8. Vincent Eckstein (Vincent de Paul).....Xavier
 9. Lucius C. Davis (Aquinas a' Becket).....Loyola
 10. Edmund Smolick (Fidus Achatas).....John Carroll
- While Xavier leads in the combined

results, she does not rank first in either the English or Latin Contest, considered separately. This may be ascribed to the fact that, while most of the institutions that made an unusual showing in either contest finished poorly in the other, Xavier has made a consistently good record in both. In the English Contest, taken alone, Loyola University is first with 18 points; in Latin, St. Louis University bests us by a margin of 5 points. The results of the latter contest, it will be remembered, awarded Xavier third and fifth places or a total of 14 points. Both contests were featured by the participation of all ten Jesuit Colleges and Universities of the Chicago and Missouri Provinces. In the final tabulation they rank as follows:

Total Points English Latin

1. Xavier U.	26	12	14
2. Loyola U.	25	18	7
3. St. Louis U.	19	0	19
4. Regis College ..	16	16	0

IMPORTANT BAND MEETING TONIGHT

At Fieldhouse; Fr. Slootemyer To Speak To Organization

Tonight the Musketeer Band will meet at 7:30 P. M. in the Fieldhouse. A business meeting will precede the rehearsal and for this reason punctuality is asked of all members and members to be.

This meeting is very important as Fr. Slootemyer is going to speak to the assembly. Also those who have merited letters will be so awarded. Another feature of this meeting will be the publication of the stand of the Athletic Council in regard to the Band and the enumeration of the new policies that are entertained for next year's Band. Of the latter the most important is the restriction of membership to college men only.

Mr. Maurice King, Director of the Band, announces that those who cannot play an instrument and would like to study music, should report tonight and make known their preference of instruments and arrange for lessons. At the last meeting of the Board election of officers was held. John Roach was elected President and Richard Reichle was selected Vice President and Secretary.

HUGHES RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT OF '34

At the recent class meeting of the Sophomores, Jack Hughes was elected to his third straight term as President of the Class of '34, and will serve in that capacity next year as Junior leader.

Members who will represent the Seniors on the Student Council are Leo Koester, Robert Ryan and Kenny Jordan.

The election was conducted under auspices of the Student Council, John Nolan and Philip Overbeck presiding.

KENNY JORDAN RECOVERING

Kenny Jordan, popular Sophomore athlete is recovering at the Good Samaritan Hospital from an infected leg suffered evidently as a result of football practice. Kenny has been thru rather a siege of sickness due to the leg but is now on the mend.

ALUMNI BANQUET NEXT MONDAY EVENING

Members Of This Year's Graduating Class Invited; Jos. A. Verkamp In Charge

Reservations for the Annual Dinner of the Alumni Association have been pouring in at Committee headquarters according to a report of Jos. A. Verkamp, General Chairman, at a meeting of the entire Executive Committee in the Red Building last night. The dinner is to be held at the Sinton-St. Nicholas next Monday evening beginning at 6:30 P. M.

Interest is heightened this year, it is believed, by the excellent program which has been arranged. His Excellency the Most Reverend John T. McNicholas, Archbishop of Cincinnati, is to be the guest of honor. Speakers for the occasion include Mr. Paul V. McNutt, Dean of Indiana University School of Law, and gubernatorial aspirant, Mayor Russell Wilson, Father Declan Carroll of the silver jubilee class of '07, and Edwin T. Heliker, '31, who will represent the younger Alumni.

Members of the Class of 1907 will enjoy the spotlight since it is their silver jubilee year. It is expected that they will attend in a body and special arrangements will be made for them. The reception committee, headed by Nicholas E. Browne, '07, includes the following members of the jubilee class: James R. Clark, Nicholas J. Hoban, and Richard T. Von Hoene.

The attendance committee headed by Phil J. Kennedy and including Henry B. Bunker, J. Paul Geoghegan, Wm. V. Schmiedecke and Edward P. Vonderhaar is making every effort to surpass all previous attendance records. They expect their work to be considerably facilitated by the fact that this year's banquet subscription is considerably below that of former years.

BOOKLOVERS' NEWS

The Mothers Circle of the Xaverian Booklovers Association is arranging a novelty lotto for their monthly meeting, on Wednesday, May 25. Prizes will be given for the winners of each round of lotto, and two grand prizes for high total points. Refreshments will be served. The door fee will be thirty-five cents. The Mothers Circle meetings are held every fourth Wednesday at 2:30 p. m., in the Students Union Hall at Dana Avenue and Winding Way. Committee members are organizing groups to attend the May meeting. Friends of the University, especially the mothers of students, are invited to attend.

Popularity Contest Results Announced

Nolan, Beckwith And Ginocchio Honored By Student Vote; Plan To "Stuff" Ballot Box Foiled

Results of the Popularity Contest sponsored in the last issue of the News are as follows:

Most Popular Student—John J. Nolan.
Most Popular Athlete—Paul Beckwith.
Most Representative Xavier Student—Louis A. Ginocchio.

The committee in charge, which was composed of Maynard Reuter, Business Manager of the News, John Nolan, Frank Waldron, Frank Forster, and Cliff Lange, report that on the whole the contest was conducted quite orderly, and a great many ballots were cast.

But we may as well be frank and tell all our readers that the report that some of the ballots were tampered with is really true. It seems that some student or students who do not believe in fair play opened one of the ballot boxes and changed a few of the votes. But we are glad to say that this atrocity was detected in time, and any wrongs which had been done were righted; so that the results as published are CORRECT, and the result of a fair vote.

The story of the "tampering" is an interesting one. The votes had already been counted by the committee, in the News office, when Jim Dewan, junior happened to stroll in to see about some work on the annual. Noticing his ballot lying among the heap which was still on the table, he casually picked it up, and, lo and behold!—one of the names had been changed. Dewan reported this to Reuter, and the latter set himself to the task of examining every ballot with a powerful magnifying glass, which enabled him to detect any erasure. He found eight ballots on which names had been erased and substituted for! These he brought back to the men who had cast them, and they signed their original votes. So that everything turned out okay after all, in spite of the sneaks who tried to spoil the Contest by their crooked work.

The students who emerged victorious are all splendid fellows and truly outstanding men on the campus. They deserve their honors, and the News congratulates them. John Nolan has been President of his class for several years, Manager of the basketball team, Chairman of the Student Council, and Sports Editor of the Xaverian News. Beat that for activity if you can!

Paul Beckwith is the star all-round athlete of the school, and he merited Legion of Honor for his outstanding backfield work with the football team.

Louis Ginocchio is Business Manager of the Annual, a member of the tennis team, and has just been elected President of next year's Senior Class. He is outstanding as a student, and last year and this year merited a place in Intercollegiate Latin.

Great work and congratulations again Nolan, Beckwith, Ginocchio!

BASEBALL TEAM TO PLAY MIAMI

Here Next Tuesday; Victory Hoped For

Tuesday the Xavier Baseball Team will resume activity in a contest with Miami University at Corcoran Field.

This is the fourth game of this year's abbreviated schedule and the first game with collegiate opposition in several weeks. In these past few weeks Coach Comello's charges have had ample time to practice and a clean sweep of the final two games with Miami is expected.

Dayton Cancelled

The brief baseball schedule of this year was shortened by two games with the recent announcement that the two game series with the University of Dayton was cancelled. This leaves Xavier a five game schedule of which they already have lost three games, so it is quite necessary to annex the final games from Miami in order to make a fair showing on the season.

At Seminary

The practice sessions were interrupted long enough to allow the squad to go to Norwood where they administered a defeat to the Seminarists of St. Mary's. The long home run of McPhail was the feature of the game.

GINOCCHIO TO HEAD NEXT SENIOR CLASS

Stadler, Dewan, Landenwitsch, And Nurre Elected To Student Council

The elections for the class of '33 were held last Monday, under the direction of the Student Council, Louis Ginocchio was elected class president by an almost unanimous vote. Ginocchio has long been active in Xavier affairs. He is Business Manager of this year's Annual, is a member of the Tennis team, was fifth in the Intercollegiate Latin Contest and was chairman of the Ring Committee for the Junior Class.

Ervin Stadler, James Dewan, Edward Nurre, and Harry Landenwitsch were chosen to represent the class on the Student Council. All these men are prominent Xaverians capable of filling the offices to which they have been appointed.

STUDENT BODY TO ELECT CHAIRMAN OF COUNCIL

Ballot To Be Taken Monday, And All Are Urged To Vote

The chairman of the Student Council will be decided, as is the custom, in a separate election, by the vote of the entire student body, it was announced recently.

Voting will take place Monday, with the book-store in Science Hall serving as the "polls".

The office of Student Council leader is a rather important one and students are requested to do a bit of thinking before casting their ballots.

The candidates eligible for the office are the five senior members of the Student Council. Choose from Louis Ginocchio, James Dewan, Harry Landenwitsch, Ervin Stadler and Edward Nurre.

DECEASED ARTIST FRIEND OF XAVIER

Mr. John Rettig Donated Valuable Books To Library

The late Mr. John Rettig, the celebrated artist, recently presented a number of rare books to the Xavier Library. One of these was printed in 1640, another in 1561; they are all antiques and quite valuable.

These gifts to the library were presented by Mr. Rettig through the President. In June of 1931 Xavier University conferred the honorary degree of L. L. D., upon Mr. Rettig for his excellent work in painting and for his persistent efforts in promoting art culture in Cincinnati.

THE NEWS' PROGRAM FOR A GREATER XAVIER

A Straightforward and Frank Publication of Facts.
A Greater and Stronger Alumni Association.
Better Inter-departmental Co-operation.

An Outrage Foiled—

The moronic element in the student body has almost succeeded in spoiling another interesting activity for the University at large. The student or students who violated the ballot box of the Popularity Contest sponsored in the last issue of the News, not only nearly deprived the outstanding students, whom an honest election must have decided, of the honor and recognition due them; not only insulted this newspaper, whose purpose it was to conduct a perfectly fair and square contest; but deliberately infringed upon the right of every student who cast a ballot, to have that ballot mean something toward reaching a fair decision. Deliberately to open a sealed box, erase names from the ballots therein, and substitute, by crude imitation of handwriting, other names on those ballots, is to our mind an atrocity which is at once appalling and discouraging to anyone who has any illusions about the dignity of students in a Catholic university.

In fact it is rather difficult to explain such conduct. For such vandalism only two reasons present themselves. The first is that there are some present in the school who have no sense of fair play whatever; whose days at college have not made them men at all; who are cheaters, sneaky and underhanded. The second possible explanation (the one which we prefer, lest we despair) is that the perpetrators of such pranks are not really morally responsible at all; that they are just big boys playing boyish tricks. Then we need not accuse them of being crooked, but can dismiss them as asinine. We can even see that their college days have developed them in a way, made them clever and ingenious practical jokers (or shall we say clowns?). Their asininity has been reduced to a fine art—perhaps that is some consolation—to them.

Just who the fools were we do not know, nor do we care a great deal. We only hope, for their own sakes as well as our own, that some day they gain enough principle and intelligence to refrain from such small doings.

And to all our readers we can only say that we are sincerely sorry that our contest, sponsored for them, was almost ruined by such imbeciles as described above, and are very glad that we were able to foil their cheap trick.

Intercollegiate Thinkers—

For many years it has been a source of gratification to everyone connected with Xavier, that our students distinguish themselves and their Alma Mater so nobly in the Intercollegiate Contests in Latin and the English formal essay. The record amassed by Xavier during the past marks her as an institution of high intellectual standards (for those who are interested) and does a great deal more to win her respect and admiration from great scholars and educators than even, let us say, a crackerjack football team. Yet there was not nearly as much appreciation, among the students, for a young man who, as a sophomore, last year merited first place in the Intercollegiate Latin, as for the humblest of third-string tackles. Just what is the criterion of an intellectual institution?

But we are drifting. To return to our subject, this year's results in the Intercollegiate are very satisfying. Of the six papers submitted in the two contests, Latin and English, five were chosen for places in the "best ten", and Xavier University has the signal honor of being second in Latin and first in English in the Missouri province. Congratulations, representative Xavier students!

Book Chat

By Louis A. Feldhaus

Biographies are usually written by a living person about someone who has ceased to be. At the demise of any important figure, the biographer is as inevitable as the undertaker. Of course there have been numerous instances of the lives of famous men being written while the men were still alive. However, contrary to all ordinary procedure, a new biography which has recently appeared is about a man who is still living while the author has been dead for over six months. Needless to say, the author is Frank Harris, and the subject Bernard Shaw. Such an event must tickle Mr. Shaw's somewhat macabre sense of humor. The essence of Shavianism is the unusual, and what could be more unusual than that?

The friendship existing between George Bernard Shaw and Frank Harris was certainly one of the queerest of all time. Anything connected with Shaw is bound to be out of the ordinary, and Harris is noted for that characteristic also.

The title page tells us that this work is an "unauthorized biography based on first-hand information". The information certainly is first-hand, for whenever Harris wanted to know anything he simply wrote to Shaw and demanded full details, regardless of how intimate or undignified the point might be. The correspondence is often quoted in full; the result is that the reader can plainly see why the biography is "unauthorized".

To call this book a biography at all is to stretch that word to the limit of elasticity, for the author is often more prominent than the man about whom he is writing. In all matters on which the two disagree (which is nearly everything), Harris very carefully explains his own views, as well as those of Shaw.

Perhaps their favorite topic of controversy was Shakespeare. Both Shaw and Harris were Shakespearean scholars, but their ideas are often diametrically opposed. It is amusing to read some of the views on Shakespeare attributed to Shaw. He claims that his first play, "Widower's Houses"—how many of you have ever heard of it?—was as good as anything Shakespeare ever wrote. That, however, is nothing compared to some of the other "heresies"; and to cap the climax Shaw says that if he had the time he would re-write "Hamlet" as it should be written!

Harris puts such modesty in its place by saying that if you were to canvas a cross section of society and ask who Shaw was, the typical reply would be that it was just a sissy expression for "Aw Hell".

That's the way they cavort throughout the whole 400-odd pages. And somebody asked me how I could read such dull stuff!

Frank Harris is best known for his "Life and Confessions of Oscar Wilde". In a footnote on the last page of that work Harris promised to write a book about Shaw, who was annotating it. Beneath the footnote, on the very last line, Shaw wrote "God help me!" If this work, the result of Harris' promise, is to be taken by future generations as authoritative, Shaw's remark is going to be another case of many a true word spoken in jest.

Harris discusses all of Shaw's plays in detail, without mercy. He places "Candida" at the top of the list and says that Shaw should have used it as a stepping stone to true heights. Instead Shaw has mistaken froth for substance and has let his desire to show off stifle his integrity as a dramatist, with the result that he has gone steadily downward. Harris claims that the nadir of Shaw's work is the "Apple Cart" which he claims could have been written only by a dead man. All of which makes this anomaly of a biography but the more paradoxical, for although to all appearances Shaw is still alive, his biographer considers him to be as good as dead. Would that Harris had been spared until he had made the acquaintance of "Too True To Be Good"!

Harris says that Shaw will be remembered in the future, together with Johnson and Pepys as a personality rather than a writer. If such is to be the case, Harris might well be his Boswell. Boswell is now being shown to have more than Johnson's shadow and to have been a real personality, but nevertheless he is remembered chiefly in connection with Johnson. When one hears "Johnson" he mentally adds "Boswell", just as he couples "salt" with "pepper" and "ham" with "eggs". So also one day might the names "Shaw" and "Harris" be linked, for when a writer is remembered as a personality rather than a writer, he who is responsible is bound to be remembered along with him. So after all, Frank Harris might be inadvertently making a bid for his own fame and thus out-Shawing Shaw. Who knows?

INFORMAL DISCUSSION AT FROSH SODALITY

Fr. Grace Speaks Of The Various Activities Of First Year Boys

On Monday, May 9, the Freshman Sodality meeting was held in Bellarmine Chapel with Father Grace, moderator, presiding. As there was no new business the moderator devoted the full meeting to discussing the Freshman Picnic and Freshman Dance, both of which were successful.

It was at this meeting that Father

Grace again spoke of the necessity of Catholic leadership on the part of the students at Xavier.

Concluding his remarks, Father Grace called to mind the outstanding raffle tickets, the funds from which are to be used to send three delegates to the National Sodality convention at Chicago. Father Grace concluded his talks by reminding those present of the necessity of frequent reception of the Sacraments and also of applying oneself to studying.

FRESHIES FROLIC TO HEARTS' CONTENT

At Dance At Metropole; "Good Time Is Had By All"

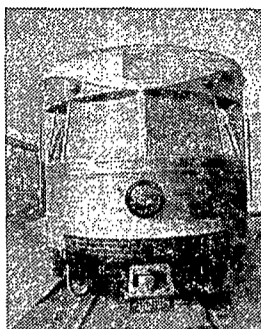

Say what you wish, this year's Freshman Dance was the best Freshman Dance ever given by a Freshman Class of Xavier, (this is not a paid advertisement) according to those that were there—for a while—everyone including Conlin, had a grand and glorious time. Class President Ambrose "Admiral" Lindhorst stated that reports of the dance were all favorable. But it seems that there was one fault to be found; the Debonairs couldn't play requests as fast as they were requested. Great surprise was registered because "Minnie the Moocher" was not played by the orchestra. This can be overlooked due to the fact that Minnie was completely baked sunburnt from a picnic held by the Freshmen at Bass Island the previous day. All joking aside, the Freshman Dance was a success both socially and financially (note that social has precedence over financial), in fact all that were on their feet enjoyed themselves, those that were sitting down—stress the sitting—enjoyed themselves likewise. Despite the heat, and the ice water, there were no casualties, an exception might be added in that Gibbons in his anxiety bit a chip out of one of the glasses in his haste drinking ice water.

"ELECTRIC BULLETS"

THE result of exhaustive wind-tunnel tests of conventional trolley car models revealed that at speeds of 70 and 80 miles per hour, 70 per cent of the total power was consumed in overcoming air resistance. Streamlining saves approximately 20 per cent of the power.

When the Philadelphia and Western Railway Company decided to replace its cars with faster and more efficient equipment, it chose "electric bullets"—new streamlined cars—each powered by 4 G-E 100-hp. motors. The cars, constructed of aluminum alloy, with tapered noses and tails, are much lighter in weight and capable of greater operating efficiency.

In developing transportation apparatus, college-trained General Electric engineers have conducted extensive tests to improve operating conditions. On land, on sea, and in the air, to-day's equipment is safer, swifter, more dependable, and more comfortable.

SENIOR SODALITY PREFECTS CHOSEN

Landenwitsch Receiving Highest Honor, Followed By Donovan And Mooney

Election of Officers for the Senior Sodality for the school year 1932-33 was held in Room 10 on Friday, April 29. Henry Landenwitsch was elected First Prefect; Charles Donovan, Second Prefect; and Robert Mooney, Third Prefect. These men will represent Xavier at the National Convention in Chicago, this summer, providing sufficient funds can be raised to defray expenses for such a trip. Plans are now under way to conduct a raffle for this purpose.

All these men have taken an active interest in Sodality affairs during the past few years and from their enthusiasm in former undertakings it is certain they will do much to further Sodality activities in the ensuing year.

Each is a representative Xavier man and worthy of the office to which he has been elected. Mr. Landenwitsch, as assistant prefect in his Freshman year gained much experience in this field. He has also shown interest in the C. S. M. C. and during the past year held the office of Treasurer of the Cincinnati Unit. Mr. Donovan has likewise manifested considerable interest in Sodality affairs as well as being present at all divisional meetings of the C. S. M. C. Mr. Mooney also has manifested an eagerness to further Sodality activities and in him the Juniors of next year will have a good and willing worker to represent them.

Other officers elected were: Bernard Bonnot, Secretary; John Winstel, Treasurer; James Dewan, Sacristan; Joseph Kiefer, Medal Bearer.

TENNIS TEAM LOSES TWO HARD MATCHES

Being Defeated By Centre College And Kentucky State

The Xavier Tennis Team has lost its first two matches. Both losses were sustained in the Blue Grass. Danville was the scene of the first meeting in which the Musketeers came out on the short end of a 6-2 score. Lack of practice probably was the cause of this loser at the hands of the Colonels of Centre.

Captain Scott next took his boys to Lexington, where the Wildcats of Kentucky State rather lived up to their name, for the boys from the Queen City were shut out 8-0. Murphey and Ginocchio were the only Xavier players to win a set in the singles, while Scotland Murphey won the first set in the doubles match, but lost the next two.

Score of the individual games follows:

1. Farquahar beat Scully, 6-4, 7-5.
2. Klein beat Moeller, 7-5, 6-4.
3. Wilson beat Muehlenkamp, 6-4, 8-6.
4. Barker beat Scott, 6-2, 6-1.
5. Howard beat Murphey, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.
6. Bishop beat Ginocchio, 6-8, 8-6, 6-1.
7. Farquahar and Wilson beat Scully and Moeller, 6-4, 6-3.
8. Bishop and Smith beat Scott and Murphey, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

Jest Gossip

ABOUT THE FROSH HOP

Ed Holz—standing bleary eyed in center of the ballroom floor—"I wonder where my girl is?"

Smitty danced at least twice with his "frau" during the whole evening.

Freshman's Date: "Who is that" (pointing to Hosty) "the general manager?"

Freshman: "Naw, he just goes to Xavier and is standing there to protect Moellering (the greater)."

Mary Ellen was there with "Amby" too. She says she is worn out by her laborious year at U. C. Now she is looking for work! Don't let the little girl struggle, Lindy.

Easily known that Cliff Lange, the reporter, works at a drug store. He carries empty medicine bottles in his pocket when he goes a-dancing.

Some of the boys put it on big with white flannels, and there was even one sissy in a soup-and-fish.

At the University of Utah a sweet young co-ed tripped lightly up to the library counter and asked for a book entitled, "Horses' Oats." After a brief session of interrogation it developed that the young lady wanted "Horace's Odes."

PLANS COMPLETED FOR SENIOR FORMAL

The tenth annual Senior Ball will be held at the Maketewah Country Club on the evening of May 20, according to an announcement made by the Committee last week. The music will be furnished by Dave Bernie and his Orchestra. Bernie is well known in Cincinnati, having furnished music for many outstanding social events. The fourteen artists in the band have been working on several features to be used exclusively at the Ball.

Ticket sale for the formal will open late this week and continue until Friday, May 20. The price of each ticket is three dollars. The dancing will continue to 1:30 in the morning. Very attractive favors have been secured and the committee promises that everyone will be well pleased with their novelty.

DO YOU INHALE?

Why are other cigarettes silent on this vital question?

Do you inhale? Seven out of ten people know they do. The other three inhale without realizing it. Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question . . . because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? Remember—more than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.

Do you inhale? Of course you do! So be careful. Safeguard your delicate membranes!
