O'CONNEL

SUBJECT OF ORATION

Which Captures Washington Oratorical Medal For Robert Helmick

Robert J. Helmick, '35, was proclaimed winner of the fortieth annual Washington Oratorical Contest, which was held in the Mary G. Lodge Reading Room last Tuesday night.

This contest, which has been held annually since 1893, is one of the outstanding intellectual events of the school year. The Washington Medal, a gift of the Xaverian Alumni Association, will be awarded to Mr. Helmick on Commencement Day. Helmick's subject was "The Great Irish Emancipator".

Mr. Albert D. Cash, '16, Mr. William J. McQuaide, '28, and Mr. A. Lawrence Meyer, '28, prominent members of the Alumni, were the judges.

The other speakers and their subjects were: Frank A. Waldron, "The American Heritage"; Robert A. Ryan, "War Debts and Recovery"; Raymond F. McCoy, "Communism's Five Year Plans"; Richard E. Kearney, "The Lesson of the Ages"; Lawrence J. Flynn, "A Courageous Leader"; and James E. Shaw, "The Injustice of Justice."

All of the speeches were well prepared, well delivered, and well received. The judges awarded the decision to Mr. Helmick because of his knowledge of his subject, his clear and forceful delivery, and his well chosen and well executed gestures.

A crowd of about three hundred students and their friends attended the affair and filled the auditorium.

DRAMATIC CRITIC MEETS STUDENTS

Clayton Hamilton Speaks On "Hamlet" And "Caponaschi"

On Monday morning last, Xavier University students had the pleasure of listening to Clayton Hamilton, noted dramatist, critic, and writer, who is now associated with Walter Hampden's well known company of actors.

Mr. Hamilton who is recognized as an outstanding authority on Shakespeare stated that "Hamlet" as produced by Walter Hampden ranks second only to Booth's performance, which, according to Hamilton, was "the greatest portrayal of Hamlet ever given in the United States, and possibly in the world."

Walter Hampden, often called the leading actor of the American stage, will present two of his greatest successes "Hamlet" and "Caponaschi," at the Shubert Theater next week. He will play in Cincinnati Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights with a matinee performance on Tuesday.

In speaking of "Caponaschi," Mr. Hamilton discussed Browning, whose poem "The Ring In The Book" was the basis for this play. Hamilton said that Browning was always interested in murders.

Mr. Hamilton also read to the assembly a letter from Father Woods, head of the Catholic Theater movement, saying that "Caponaschi" was on the White List for Catholics.

As for "Hamlet," it is so well known that no discussion was necessary.

MORE NEWS FOR NEWS

After a year of discussion, argument, and demand the "News" has been given permission to have a representative in the Student Council. Although this "News" representative will have only an auditory privilege, the granting of this privilege has been considered as a forward step by the editors of the "News" in giving the students news as they find it.

MUSIC MASTER SPRIGG

"His boys will put Music in the Air"

Presenting Jack Sprigg, director of the Music Masters, coming to Xavier on Friday, February 24, to furnish gay melodies for the Xavier Junior Prom of 1933. Jack is a graduate of the University of California, at Ripley, of the class of 1926. Ever since his graduation, he has been climbing steadily among orchestra leaders, until today, with his Music Masters, he ranks with the best of the exponents of the popular, smart type of music.

FRESHMAN CO-OPERATION URGED FOR JUNIOR PROM

An informal meeting of the Freshman Class was called Tuesday morning. Fr. Gallagher, S. J., Campus Moderator, was the principal speaker, speaking on the Junior Prom: its history and its importance. Fr. Gallagher urged the Freshman to loyally support the Prom and to look forward to their prom when they will be Juniors.

The Freshman and Sophomore Dance scheduled for the post-Easter period was announced but the date as yet has not been decided upon. Another affair in the making is a moonlight boat ride and dance, scheduled for May 23. Plans for this boatripe will be announced later. Freshmen were asked to support the Masque Society Productions and also to co-operate with the business managers of the "Xaverian News" and "The Musketeer."

WESLEYAN

DEFEATS XAVIER 36 - 29

Three Weeks Of Inactivity For Home Team Evident In Battle

Displaying their poorest form of the year, Xavier hoopsters came out second best in the fray with Ohio Wesleyan Saturday, 36-29. It was a case of a strong Wesleyan team playing their 17th game opposing a strong Xavier quintet entering their seventh.

The three weeks interval for the Musketeers between the Detroit fray and last Saturday's contest was evident in their inability to sink shots and their streaks of careless guarding. Brilliant guarding on the part of both teams held down the score in the first half which ended 12-11 in favor of our opponents. Xavier held a lead only once in this half by a 9-6 count but the injection of Wesleyan's first team soon eclipsed this margin.

The second half proved a sad disappointment to these fans who know the true worth of the Musketeers. Three chief causes of the downfall of the Blue and White came to the fore in this half. Early in this period several long passes to Wesleyan's "sneakers" waiting under the basket gave the upstarters a flying start. Then the second cause that aided in the Musketeers' destruction was their rough play. Wesleyan men rang up foul after foul and, while they were unable to score regularly from the floor, they increased their lead via the free-line.

The third cause, and not the least of the three, was the uncanny shooting of Bolton who scored all 9 of his

Plans Complete For Prom Night

TICKETS FOR SENIOR BREAKFAST ON SALE

The Senior Breakfast Committee announces that reservations can be made for parties, by informing a committeeman no later than Friday noon. Due to the doubt incurred by last week's notice, it is hereby stated that tickets are half-dollar ($.50) a person.

The committee assures the students that La Normande will be closed to the public an hour before the breakfast to insure privacy. Because of this arrangement the crowd will be handled better and service will be greatly improved, if all students who are planning to breakfast will procure their tickets early.

—MENU—

Grape Fruit — Orange Juice
Tomato Juice
Bananas And Cream
Bacon And Eggs

Buttered Toast Coffee
Tickets for the breakfast can be obtained from the committee: Bob Buecor, Charley Donovan, Fred Hartings, Nell Hinterscheid, and Lou Gnocchio.

MASQUE SOCIETY TO OPEN SEASON

Three Plays To Be Presented Next Tuesday Evening

The Masque Society will present on Tuesday evening, February 28, 1933 at St. Andrew's Auditorium on Blair Avenue, Avondale. All students of Xavier University will be admitted free if they present pass NUMBER 35 of their activity books.

Tickets can be had for the modest sum of 25c. Support the Masque Society; their success depends on the sale of tickets. So help them out. Bring your date, and with your free admission it will cost only 25c.

Invite the family. An evening of fine entertainment is guaranteed for all who attend. There will be short musical sketches between the acts by Joseph Link, Jr., and other musicians.

The first act on the program will probably be "Finger of God" starring Miss Elizabeth Buxsel, Mr. Frank Waldron and Mr. Frank Brearton.

The second play will be "The Other Side", starring Mr. Charles Koch, Mr. Charles McDowell, Mr. Charles Blum, and Mr. Larry Williams.

The third and last play to be presented will be "Wurzel-Flummery" starring Miss Norma Schraidt, Miss Dorothy Geiger, Mr. John Snyder, Mr. Anthony Hills, Mr. John Brink, and Mr. Edward Doering, our brilliant columnist and author of that interesting weekly article "Arts and Letters" appearing in the "News."

The final dress rehearsal will take place Monday evening, February 27, when the entire company, production managers, stage managers, musical director, etc., will present the plays to the best of their ability. Every Xavier student is expected to be present next Tuesday evening; the Masque Society needs cooperation and help.

According to Mr. Edward Doering "Wurzel-Flummery" will be presented Sunday evening, Feb. 26 for students of the Mt. St. Joseph Academy, and faculty of that institution.

FR. NOLAN ADDRESSES FRESHMEN-SOPHOMORES

After the Sophomore-Freshman Mass last Thursday morning, Fr. Nolan, S. J., Dean of Men gave a short talk in which he reminded the students that the month of March is dedicated to St. Joseph. Fr. Nolan advised every one to have a special devotion to St. Joseph and assured them that any petition which they might present to him would be granted.

To illustrate this point, Fr. Nolan recalled the words of the Little Flower, St. Theresa, who said that she was never refused anything that she asked from St. Joseph. With this in their minds, students go to St. Joseph with their petitions.

COMMITTEE

SAYS EVERYTHING IS READY

Xavier's Most Outstanding Social Event To Be Tomorrow Night

The third annual Junior Prom to be held upon the campus will be held tomorrow evening at 10:30. The committee in charge announces that all preparations are completed satisfactorily.

Jack Sprigg and his Music Masters will supply the music. Sprigg's orchestra is well known around Cincinnati as it has been playing in the R. K. O. Albee this season and he played at many of the Cincinnati debutante balls last year.

The committee has also secured the services of Billie Leonard, a singer and dancer, who formerly appeared in the Broadway stage hit "Loops My Dear." She will be remembered as having been seen on the Albee program on which the Xavier Band and Glee Club appeared last fall.

Louis Gnocchio, President of the Senior Class, and Miss Frances Clare Aull, Western Hills, Cincinnati, who is this year's Queen, will lead the Grand March which will be one of the gala events of the evening.

Chairman Robert A. Ryan also stated that the Mary G. Lodge Reading Room will be the scene of an entirely new decorative scheme. He said that the students will never be able to convince their female friends that the place where they will be dancing ever was anything like a library.

The members of the committee received bids from many of the leading manufacturers of favors and have selected their best offer. They state that their choice will be voted intriguingly different by all who attend.

Ryan said, "Anyone who has not already secured his ticket will be benefiting both himself and us by doing so today or tomorrow during school as he will avoid the delay and bustle of a last minute purchase." Tickets may be secured from any member of the committee which is composed of Juniors Hughes, Ryan, Barrett, Lambert, Mulvihill, Richmond, and Sweeney.

CHILD CHARACTER LECTURER'S TOPIC

Fr. Phee Is Fifth Speaker In Alumni Series

"The primary purpose of any system of education is the development of character" so stated Fr. Martin J. Phee, S. J., professor of biology at Xavier University in his talk on "The Child and its Character" at the Ballroom of the Sinton St. Nicholas, Sunday, Feb. 19, 1933.

"Character is distinct from personality. Personality is merely the art of being a person.

Fr. Phee explained to a group of two hundred that each person is a compound of the spiritual and the material, of soul and body. This makes him a human being. It is by training the faculties of his soul, intellect, will and memory that character is formed. By harmonious development of all his faculties, basing his education on the two primal urges of man, the will for self expression and his social desire for the community.

This lecture was the fifth of the Xavier Alumni series. Next week the sixth of the series will be given by Fr. Warren C. Lilly, S. J., director of inquiry classes at Xavier University and the Fontbonne. Fr. Lilly will tell of his experiences in that work and will have for his topic "Soul Research." Special attention is called to the fact that this lecture will be held at the Mary G. Lodge Reading Room instead of at the Sinton.

How To Work It—

Two weeks ago the News printed an editorial which announced its support of Father Coughlin's plan to reevaluate the gold standard unless someone should give us a good reason why it was impracticable. Since that time we have met with many arguments ad hominem but no one has convinced us of the validity of any reason which was directed against the plan itself. Consequently we find no cause for even thinking of withdrawing our support.

The question which was most often asked after the editorial was read, concerned how the currency, which would be printed under the terms of this method of relieving the depression, would be put into circulation. In answering this query we continue to agree with Father Coughlin and advocate the payment of all the war bonds which are outstanding with the additional currency.

In advocating the course of action we see a threefold advantage:

1. It is getting into circulation the currency which is to normalize the value of debts, since the parties getting this money must either spend it in some way or invest it.

2. It will end the morally evil situation in which the poor man is laboring to pay off the interest on capital which was blown up in the World War.

3. It will eliminate this way of earning a tax-free income.

We repeat that we are not expert financiers nor are we noted economists, but until someone points out to us some fallacy in this reasoning we are actively supporting Father Coughlin's plan to recall the war bonds and to pay them off with currency made possible by revaluation.

Higher Extra-Curricular Education—

Xavier University is justly famous thruout this part of the country for its prowess on the athletic fields. Indeed many people of this community know the school only from the action of its football teams. There are many other fields of endeavor which interest the students of this school, especially in the line of public speaking. We have a debating team this year which is engaging in forensic combat with many of the well known colleges in this part of the country. We have the Dante Club which lectures on more asethetic topics before cultured audiences in this community. We have the Poland Philopedian Society which affords all undergraduates a chance to get practical experience in debating and in public speaking. We have the Masque Society which takes care of all our would-be actors. All of these activities are maintained to a very high standard and real benefit is derived by all who participate in them.

The student body in general ought to try to support the activities of these organizations because of school spirit if for no other reason. Attendance at recent debates has been marked by the scarcity of students. The coming performances of the Masque Society will provide a pleasant evening of entertainment to any undergraduate, particularly considering that he will be admitted on his activity book.

Justice With Force?—

While the medal winning speech was being made before the Washington Orotorical Contest audience Tuesday evening a bomb, addressed to the president-elect of the United States, was intercepted at the Capital's post-office. These two facts are interesting in that the prize winning speech concerned the turmoil of Ireland during the years 1810-1847 when Daniel O'Connell was leading his people on in their fight against political oppression while the attempt upon the life of the president-elect was the fight of a very small minority against what, it seems to them as political oppression of the present day.

We all admit that when 15 million people are out of work (making life a bit more gloomy for another 30 million—their dependents) a fight in some form or another is necessary—but not a hog-headed attempt upon the life of the future head of the United States government.

President-elect Roosevelt is not the cause of the wide-spread hardship all about us for if he was assassinated the depression wouldn't come to an abrupt end. It would merely prolong it because of the natural turmoil that would follow such a catastrophe.

We don't need assassins, anarchists, and such ilk to bring us through to the sun-shine that is beyond this economic haze in which we are floundering. What we do need is a new manner of reasoning, 1933 rationalization and not the thinking of 1890 with its rugged individualistic theory.

Today with its complex manner of living is the beginning of a new era which makes us all, more than ever before, our brothers' keeper. Sooner or later we will all come to the realization of this fact and the sooner all of us do, this world will be a much better place to live in.

Leadership by men with the nation at heart and not for the money of the few is the new deal which is awaited for by the backbone of the nation. If they don't get what they want—what then?

Arts and Letters

Edward A. Doering

Due to the greater importance of student discussion of a problem in American economics, "ARTS AND LETTERS" had to be discarded from the copy which went to make up last week's edition of the XAVIERIAN NEWS. Had this not been the case, the column would have concerned chiefly the many fine musical programs broadcasted recently in memory of the fiftieth anniversary of the death of Richard Wagner which occurred in Venice on February 13, 1883. Just as last week's column would have had a totally musical character, so the present one will deal entirely with the drama. There are three distinct forms to be discussed today: the legitimate stage, represented by an outstanding professional company; the screen, represented by a splendid reproduction of a famous modern play; and lastly the activities of an amateur dramatic society.

In regard to the first of these fields of the drama, we are to be treated next week with two productions by the leading actor of the American stage, Walter Hampden. On Monday and Tuesday nights, February 27 and 28, Mr. Hampden will present his production of the Goodrich play, "Caponaschi," which is an adaptation of Robert Browning's notably lengthy poem, "The Ring and The Book." As Mr. Clayton Hamilton said in his lecture here at Xavier last Monday morning, Mr. Goodrich labored so zealously during the years in which he wrote "Caponaschi" that he has succeeded in producing a play which is so highly imitative of Browning that even the elect among the authorities on the romantic poet are unable to distinguish the lines of this play from those actually in the original composition. On the other hand, the present play differs from all the Browning dramatic works in that it has been a great success. All who saw Walter Hampden as Cyrano de Bergerac several months ago, are looking forward to a most artistic rendition of the accused priest, Caponaschi.

At the Special Tuesday Matinee as well as at the regular Wednesday evening performance Mr. Hampden will give us his famous interpretation of the title role in the supreme triumph of the English Stage, Hamlet.

As to the second of the dramatic fields mentioned above, the screen, we must say a few words about Noel Coward's "Cavalcade" which is running this week, as a road show with afternoon and evening performances, at the Capitol theatre. We believe that it is deserving of most of the praise which the critics have been heaping upon it, and advise everyone to see it. Simple in plot, it traces the tragic history of the Marryot family from New Year's Eve 1900 to New Year's Eve 1932. It has probably the most perfect cast ever assembled in any cinema, the work of Diana Wynard, Una O'Connor, Merle Hottenham, Frank Lawton, and John Warburton being particularly noteworthy. Our criticism of it is that from the beginning to the incident of the fatal voyage of the Titanic it is as perfect as any picture has ever been. The scenes after this are weakened by the employment of too much impressionistic photography, however, the ending recovers the dignity of the work as a whole.

The last of our dramatic fields is the production by the Xavier Masque Society Shrove Tuesday Evening, February 28, at Andean Hall, of three one-act plays. This production deserves the support of all Xavierians and their friends for upon its outcome depends the Masque Societies chances of presenting a three-act play in the Spring. The program arranged for Tuesday evening ought to be of universal interest because of the diversity of the plays to be presented.

First there will be "The Finger of God," a highly interesting and intensely dramatic play under the direction of Mr. Frank X. Brearton. Actors taking part in this work are: Miss Elizabeth Buxsell, Mr. Frank Waldron and Mr. Brearton.

Following this will be "The Other Side," also a very dramatic work, under the direction of Mr. Leo Koester. The actors in it are Mr. Larry Williams, Mr. Charles Kock, Mr. Charles McDowell, and Mr. Charles Blum.

The final play on the program is the first play by the eminent British playwright, A. A. Milne, entitled "Wurzelm Flummery." It is a rather fantastic comedy, and is being directed by Mr. Edward A. Doering. Its actors include, Miss Norma Schradl, Miss Dorothy Geiger, Mr. John Snyder, Mr. Anthony Hill, Mr. John Brink, and Mr. Doering.

Our last request is that you all patronize these plays for the sake of furthering artistic effort here at Xavier, as well as to show the young actors, directors, and stage assistants that their labors are appreciated.

Elaborate ceremonies accompanied the wedding of Jack J. Mahoney, '30, and Miss Marian Wingle at St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Cleveland, on last Saturday morning. The breakfast was held at the Cleveland Club and a reception followed at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney are honeymooning in Canada and will return to their new home at 14602 Colt Road, Cleveland, this week end. Bob Brand, '31, a team-mate of Jack's on the Xavier track squad, drove up from Cincinnati for the wedding. Jack is engaged as a supervisor of construction for the City of Cleveland.

"Yah, but I've learned."

This story is possibly a bit old to members of the basketball team but it will be appreciated by the many others who have not heard it, as yet: It seems, (we'll say "seems" even though this is true material), that Hal (Seagull) Pennington was staying at a hotel with the rest of his varsity brothers up in Detroit after the Michigan game. Now Hal seemed to grow a bit argumentative, more than likely due to the other reasons than the dismal day, and wanted to engage in a game of fisticuffs. His travelling brothers told him to go to his room and sleep.

Hal, like the obedient boy he is, went to his room but didn't sleep. Instead, he stood before a full length mirror, and, sans everything except a pair of trunks, engaged in the age old art of praising himself. After tiring of this, he began to shadow-box until he had himself worked into a red hot fury.

All the while station H. A. L. was shadow-boxing he kept telling himself how tough he was. Last reports received were that, in a terrible fury, he was seen walking towards the room of a basket-ball brother. Possibly, his shadow boxing was of no avail.

If one wants to know, incidentally, how Hal happened to get the name of Seagull, ask Hal himself. If his reply is the same as that received by your correspondent it will be worth listening to—and laughing at.

Some people are just naturally forgetful, while some others are more than naturally dumb: Just a short time ago McCreary realized, through no fault of his own, that Chuck Riley and Frank Reilly were not brothers.

Friday night: A boy and a girl were dancing.
Sunday night: Carl Jonas at a lecture on "Child Psychology" at the Sinton-St. Nicholas.

Are Soph D's, "softies?"

One night this past week, Black-beard Groeninger won—at a bridge contest—something which will make the next few years of his life replete with jumping joy: A Goose.

Kenney McCormack and Frank Brearton happened to be in town early Sunday morning. Brearton and McCormack had been up to the heights of Mt. Adams and found out that where there "is a swill there is a sway." When they walked in it seemed that there was to be another "bull's eye" affair. Things straightened themselves though for both McCormack and Brearton calmed down after talking with their many Xavier friends on "Art in the College."

It was amusing at the debate Friday night: the large audience, was kept waiting for the debate officials to arrive. After a twenty minute interval he was found looking for someone to come and claim him for he had been sitting inside of the library waiting.

Human nature being as it is, this column will always bring forth declamations from the discontented ones that it is no good. But this mewling of discontent by those irresponsible ones is just the same kind of criticism that is hurled at the newspaper in general—entirely destructive.

The writer knows enough to keep this column sizzling for the rest of the year but what is the use when those put on the pedestal "can't take 'em."

At a meeting of the Sophomore Class, last Thursday, Thomas Schmidt, Class President, urged all who could possibly afford it to attend the Junior Prom, and also the card party and dance sponsored by the Booklovers Association at the Hotel Gibson Ballroom. The latter will take place on Saturday, April 22nd.

Mr. Schmidt, it seems, convinced his classmates that it would be better, if they could not afford the Prom, either to have no date at all on that night or else to have a "parlor date", even though it is College Night at the various Night Clubs and cheaper rates prevail. This, he said, would eliminate the possibility of giving a bad impression to outsiders.

The Sophomores were also requested to patronize the Booklovers card party and dance at the Hotel Gibson. The purpose of this dance is for the benefit of Xavier's library.

Hungry unemployed refused free food when they learned the supplies were purchased by a firm "unfair to organized labor."

Court Cases

By Paul Barrett

In the interests of the student body, your scribe interviewed Ray Dietrich, coach of the Wesleyan quintet, in the locker room after last week's game. Mr. Dietrich proved very courteous to the NEWS and was willing and eager to answer all questions. He dismissed the unusual roughness of the game with a grin, remarking: "It was a case of give and take; my team can 'take it.'" During the course of our talk Coach Dietrich also revealed a desire to meet Xavier not only in basketball but in other sports as well. The NEWS especially advocates any possible cooperation with as straight-shooting a man as Ray Dietrich.

Jim Sullivan—the rollicking, ever smiling Freshman cheer-leader—spent three days last week as the unwilling guest of the Good Samaritan Hospital. It was thought that he might be developing pneumonia but "you can't keep a good man down" and so Jim returned to the Dorm Saturday afternoon. And true to form, although unable to lead cheers at the game, he was reported to have been yelling his loudest to support the boys.

Now we come to a necessary criticism of Xavier officials. In any game that promises to be close and hard fought, a certain partisan feeling predominates, due to human nature, itself. Xavier officials undoubtedly overlooked this intrinsic truth when they appointed an alumnus of Ohio Wesleyan to referee the contest against his alma mater. This only provided the more rabid fans with the desire to criticize any decision of this official. More tactful selections in the future will certainly aid in checking these feelings of the spectators.

That Wittenberg cyclone continues on its gory path. After a rather poor start the upstate boys have steadily improved till they now hold first place in the Buckeye Conference. Their record for the year stands 10 victories and 3 defeats. It is interesting to note that these three defeats were administered in a row early in January and since then Wittenberg has wreaked revenge on two of them. Wittenberg does not seem to possess as fine an offensive team as Wesleyan but their defense has been much tighter and they allowed only 30 points a game.

And this is the first year that we hear no rumor of an Alumni game. In the past this has been the highspot of the season not only in its humorous points but also from the standpoint of good-fellowship. The Alumni have always put a strong team on the floor and last year's last minute victory for the Varsity will be remembered by all present. Then, too, it has always been the Basketball Homecoming and many Old Grads have capered and made merry in the stands.

SPICY leaves of TURKISH tobacco are strung to dry and cure in the sun.

Well, that's something about cigarettes I never knew before

I'd never thought much about what's inside a Chesterfield cigarette. But I have just been reading something that made me think about it.

Just think of this, some of the tobacco in Chesterfield—the Turkish—comes from 4000 miles away! And before it is shipped every single leaf is packed by hand. All because Turkish tobacco is so small and delicate.

Of course I don't know much about making cigarettes, but I do know this—that Chesterfields are milder and have a very pleasing aroma and taste. They satisfy—and that's what counts with me!

THEY'LL BE THERE!

Who Will Be With Whom At The Prom Tomorrow Night

When Jack Sprigg raises his baton for the first numbers at the 1933 Junior Prom nearly all Xavier and their lady friends will be in attendance. Given the assignment of finding out who will take whom to Xavier's outstanding social of the calendar, this reporter started out to interview all of the Who's Who of the school. After eliminating those who were too bashful to disclose the name of their date (like Jim Coleman) and those whom he could not locate (like Hal McPhail) this scribe submits the following results:

Jack Hughes, Bob Ryan, Charles Barrett, Bill Lambert, Jack Mulvihill, and Maurice Richmond say that they probably will be too busy with committee work to bother with the ladies. "King" Ginocchio will take Miss Frances Clare Aull. Ed Nurre, President of the Student Council will take Miss Dorothy Reesor of Dayton, Ohio. Bob Sack will take Miss May Belle Fry. Frank Brearton, Host of the Tavern, will take Miss Helen Goodman.

points in this half. Dan Corbett, Xavier brilliant centerman, was the only player to surpass this number and his four field goals and two foul shots kept the boys in the running most of the way. Dan also played the steadiest floor game and was the only Xavier man to stay cool in some of the blazing moments.

Sodality Notes

Fr. Gallagher, S. J., is waiting patiently for a few volunteers to get a branch of the Catholic Writer's Guild established in the Senior Sodality.

Both the Senior and Junior Sodalists who are interested in writing are urged to form a branch of the Catholic Writer's Guild which has recently been inaugurated by the moderator of the Sodality.
