"KASSELS IN THE AIR"

Seniors Attend Louis Reisbeck Services Monday

Death Comes As Result Of Ruptured Appendix To Xavier Man

Louis G. Reisbeck, twenty-two-year-old student of Xavier University, died last Friday afternoon at 4:10 o'clock at the Good Samaritan Hospital, as the result of a ruptured appendix. He was buried Monday, from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Reisbeck, 1765 Williams Avenue, Norwood.

Mr. Reisbeck was a senior in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. He was working for a Bachelor of Science degree after having spent two years in preparation for a career of engineering. He finished his pre-engineering course in his sophomore year, and instead of continuing immediately with this particular line of study he decided to work for a degree in science. He would have been graduated from Xavier University this spring but for his untimely death.

Death came unexpectedly to Louis Reisbeck. Until Monday, February 11, he seemed to be in fair health. Towards evening, on this particular day, however, he was stricken with acute pains in his side which developed into a ruptured appendix. He was rushed to the Good Samaritan Hospital. Peritonitis immediately set in and death soon followed.

The entire Senior Class attended his funeral, Monday morning at St. Elizabeth's Church, Norwood.

Clef Club Will Present Concert

Next Appearance To Be At Good Samaritan Hospital

Next Thursday evening, February 28, the Clef Club of Xavier University will present its final concert of the month at the Good Samaritan Hospital. A dance and social will be given for the members of the club after the concert.

The program next Thursday will be presented before an audience composed entirely of nurses and student-nurses of the Good Samaritan Hospital. The engagement Thursday will mark the first appearance of the Clef Club at the Hospital in four years.

Mr. Castellini has announced that the program will be identical with the one received so favorably last Thursday evening by the students of Mount St. Joseph College.

This concert will be followed by an informal appearance at the Regina High School, Norwood, on March 13.

Mel Snyder To Play At Breakfast

Event To Be Held At Gibson Rathskeller After Prom

Mel Snyder and his Gold Coast Orchestra will provide the music for the Senior Breakfast, which will be held in the Rathskeller of the Hotel Gibson immediately following the Junior Prom.

Richard G. Reichle and William J. Dodd, who comprise the Breakfast Committee, have announced that the price of subscription would be $1.25 per couple.

The breakfast is open to all those who attend the Junior Prom. Tickets can be obtained from either Dodd or Reichle, according to their announcement.

PROM QUEEN

Miss Ruth DeCourcy has been chosen by Tom Schmidt as Queen of the Junior Promenade.

ADDRESS

By William Reenan

Last Of Lectures Sponsored By Xavier University Club Of Louisville

William L. Reenan will be talking on a familiar subject next Sunday night when he concludes the series of lectures sponsored by the Xavier University Club of Louisville, with the topic, "Rare Book Collecting As A Hobby."

For the past few years he has been associated with William T. Howe in assembling his collection of rare books at Freeland, Kentucky. Since his graduation from Xavier in 1903, he has been affiliated with the American Book Company, of Cincinnati and New York, and has devoted much of his time to the study of unusual manuscripts.

The Rev. Victor C. Stechschulte, S. J., of the Xavier faculty, discussed "Our Restless Earth And The Seismograph," as the second in the series of lectures last Sunday. Among the prominent guests in the audience were representatives of the Astronomical Society in Louisville. The lecture was illustrated with lantern slides.

Condition Of India To Be Discussed

Resident Of Patna, India,
Talks On Himalayas

Bishop Bernard J. Sullivan, S. J., will throw some light on the character and people of India, when he delivers the third in a series of lectures sponsored by the Xavier University Alumni Association at the Sinton St. Nicholas Hotel, Sunday night.

Speaking under the titled, "American Jesuits in India," he will recount some of his interesting experiences in doing missionary work. He recently returned from Rome where he made his Ad Limina visits and is at present touring the United States before returning to his See. His lecture Sunday will begin at 8:15. He will be introduced by Joseph A. Verkamp, president of the Alumni Association.

Miss Ruth DeCourcy Chosen Queen Of Promenade

"Kassels in the Air!" That is the committee's answer to the recent speculation on the campus as to which orchestra would play for the Junior Promenade to be held March 1 in the beautiful Hall of Mirrors of the Netherland Plaza Hotel. The signing of this orchestra was definitely confirmed this morning by Paul Barrett, Promenade Chairman.

Other arrangements completed in the past week include the selection of Miss Ruth DeCourcy, sophomore at the University of Cincinnati, as Promenade Queen. This selection was made by Tom Schmidt, president of the senior class and King of the Promenade.

Miss DeCourcy is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Giles DeCourcy, 4663 Glenway Avenue, Price Hill. Miss DeCourcy is extremely active in University of Cincinnati social affairs. Last year, as a freshman, she was chosen as the "Floradora Girl" for a musical production. This year she has been chosen as one of the ten most charming girls of the University in a recent charm contest. At present she is a candidate for one of the honor places awarded at the Sophos Ball of the Clifton university. Miss DeCourcy is a member of Theta Phi Alpha sorority.

Xavier's Best Orchestra
Art Kassel and his "Kassels in the Air" orchestra is undoubtedly the best band that has ever played for a Xavier dance. They were chosen as one of the ten most popular dance orchestras on the air today in a recent poll.

The "Kassels in the Air" feature the smooth lilting type of music and in this respect he compares favorably with Guy Lombardo, Jan Garber and Wayne King. At present, he is at the peak of his career and is in constant demand by radio and night clubs. A vacation of a few days between his engagement at the Hotel Bismarck, Chicago, which ends on the 28th of this month, and his next engagement presented the only possible opportunity for his appearance at the Promenade.

Committee Prepares Skating Party

Gala Spectacle Anticipated At Commerce Event

The Xavier Commerce Club has decided to give the fancy balancers of the University an opportunity to display their skill. Arthur Koepe, Tom Carrigan and William Menke are arranging a skating party under the auspices of the Club.

The spacious Chester Park rink will be the scene of the many spills. The date for the occasion has not yet been determined but the Committeemen are making attempts to locate it mid-way in March.

The large area available has made it possible to invite the entire student body. The exact date will be announced soon.

W-H-E-E-E-E!

Students of Xavier will enjoy a short holiday period beginning after Thursday's classes. Friday is Washington's Birthday and Monday is President's Day. Classes will not convene on either of these days.

PROM KING

Tom Schmidt, president of the senior class and captain of the Musketeer eleven during the past season, will lead the Grand March which will be one of many features of the Junior Promenade. Schmidt is also representing the Social Committee and has been of great assistance to the Prom Committee.

DEBATERS

Begin Season Well

Teams Return From Engagements With 8 Opponents In Midwestern States

Yesterday afternoon Xavier University defeated Asbury College, Kentucky, in a debate held at Mother of Mercy Academy in Westwood. Robert Helmick and Charles Koch represented Xavier on the negative side of the Pi Kappa Delta question, Resolved: That the nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions. Father Connell served as critic judge while Frank Schaefer acted as chairman.

Debating this same question, two teams have returned from extended tours with successful records. Debating against Loyola in Chicago, Marquette in Milwaukee, and St. Louis University, a two-man team composed of Richard Kearney and John Brockman defeated Loyola and St. Louis and lost to Marquette.

James Shaw, Nelson Post and Paul Barrett, another team, have returned from a tour of northern Ohio with an even break in two decision debates. This team defeated Case Tech of Cleveland while losing to John Carroll of the same city. Three other debates in which this team participated on the tour were non-decision affairs at the requests of the opponents. These schools were Denison, Baldwin-Wallace, and Western Reserve.

A victory over St. John's of Toledo last Friday evening in the Reading Room gave Xavier a decided edge in victories up to this date. Charles Koch, Paul Reisenberg, and Robert Helmick composed the Xavier team in this contest.

So far this season Xavier's debating team has won six out of eight debates. The schedule as yet is not half completed.

Shaw To Address P. T. A. Group This Afternoon On Courts

Mr. James E. Shaw, Junior Class President, will address the Riverside Parent Teachers Association on Thursday, Feb. 21, at 3:00 P. M.

The subject for Shaw's discussion will deal with the evils of the judicial department of the United States Courts, as evidenced by the recent Hauptmann Trial.

Orators Will Compete For Medal Award

Mary G. Lodge Reading Room Is Scene Of Annual Oratorical Contest

This evening at 8:15, the forty-second annual Washington Oratorical Contest will be held in the Mary G. Lodge Reading Room on the Xavier University Campus. Eight students will participate in the contest.

Those who will take part in the 1935 Washington Oratorical include Jules Fern, James Shaw, Lawrence Flynn, Nelson Post, Kim Darragh, Leonard Gartner, Louis Haase and Albert Salem. One of these eight men will receive the Washington Medal which is awarded each year to the winner of the contest. The medal, which is a gift of the Xavier Alumni Association, will be presented to the victor on Commencement Day.

A wide range of topics will be discussed this evening. The following are the speakers and the titles of the speeches to be delivered at the Washington Oratorical Contest: Jules Fern, "Sour Grapes"; Lawrence Flynn, "Whither Mexico"; Nelson Post, "Why Foment War?"; James Shaw, "Do You Solemnly Swear"; Kim Darragh, "Social Strife Forever?"; Leonard Gartner, "Our Long Desired Declaration"; Louis Haase, "And He Chose The Weaker Side," and Albert Salem, "Tremendous

As in past years, three prominent members of the Xavier Alumni Association will act as judges. They will be unnamed but will be seated at points of vantage in the audience.

These men will choose the best speaker of the evening and will award to him the Washington Medal which has been presented annually since 1893.

Freshmen Form Junior Team

To Arrange Series With U. C. Freshman Debaters

An active season for the Junior Debating Team of Xavier University will begin next month, according to an announcement made today by the Rev. C. J. Steiner, S. J., moderator.

A series of debates is being arranged with the Freshman team of the University of Cincinnati, Father Steiner said. It is also expected that several contests will be held with other local and out-of-town colleges.

The following tentative team has been announced by Father Steiner: William Baehner, Jack Berning, Elmer Flamm, Eugene Gleason, Paul Kelly, William Kiley, Charles McEvoy, John Monaco, Albert Salem, Vincent Smith, Albert Stephen, and Eugene Theisen.

The team will be altered according to the talent displayed in the Freshman classes of Expression.

Xavier Chess Team Loses To U. C. In Close Match At "Y" Last Week

In the close contest of 3 to 2 the Xavier Chess club lost to the representatives of the University of Cincinnati last Wednesday at the Y. M. C. A. Building on Calhoun Street near the U. C. campus.

The team of Nolan and Ryan defeated the U. C. side of Stover and Kaufman, while Kearney, Fetting, and Moores lost to Hatfield, Osterbein, and Nadlin. Xavier will have a chance for revenge next month when they will meet the U. C. chess men in a return contest.

College Types

People are often prone to ask a college student embarrassing questions concerning his life at school. One question in particular is of great embarrassment to a large number of college men and women. How did you spend your four years at school? If you were confronted with such a bold interrogation what would be your answer?

There are, as is generally admitted, three individual types or classes of college students. There is the parasite who loafs around for four years playing and enjoying himself in his nonsensical, absurd way. Then again there is the student who coasts along with a minimum of effort, content merely to slide through, regardless of the consequences. The third and final class of college students is composed of the ambitious, the well balanced and highly principled boy or girl. This type knows and realizes why he or she attends a university.

A member of the first class must of necessity be termed the college "party man." Such a title is only appropriate. What good is such a person to those associated with him? What good is he to his university, to his friends, to his parents? Such a student is a terrible evil and not a desired good. Of course, popularity is the greatest asset that a member of this class can possess, but then without money and a reputation as a "fast-stepper" he would be nothing but an insignificant piece of humanity amongst a throng of ambitious boys and girls.

The second class is only a slight improvement over the first. This type is merely a crammer, a person who learns how to do a job half-heartedly when there is no other alternative. He is of a group that shuns study and work until it becomes an absolute necessity and then he learns a thing for a few hours only and not for a lifetime. He is, and always will be, a slacker and a failure.

The final possibility centers about the ambitious and conscientious student. The student of this type need not necessarily be brilliant or one who makes A's in all his subjects. Indeed not. This person need only be aware of the fact that he has made the best of all opportunities set before him. He is the student who diligently performs his duty to himself, to his school, and to his parents. He is one who has gauged his time in such detailed proportion that none of it is wasted in absolute foolishness. A young man or a young woman of this caliber realizes above all that college is a serious business and not an idler's or playboy's paradise.

To what particular class of student do you belong? Would you be ashamed to tell a person how you spent your time in college? Perhaps you would be, that is, if you had any character whatsoever. Remember it is never too late to change. You can cast off the shackles of habit and begin anew. Why not try it. The third class of college student is not overpopulated so there is more than sufficient room for you.

Cupid Busy Among Alumni

Word reaches the Alumni Office that Lester C. Marchildon, Class of 1926, was united in marriage to Miss Virginia Woods, of Cairo, Illinois, on December 15, at Murphysboro, Ill.

At the same time the engagement of Frank J. Marchildon, Class of '28, to Miss Tressa Butcher, was announced. The wedding is set for the early summer.

The Marchildon brothers are engaged in the general mercantile business at Thebes, McClure and other Illinois towns.

Tornadoes Fall Before Rush Of Xavier Five

Score Is 38-19 As Sack And Sweeney Pierce The Defense; Maher Also Stars

Completely outplaying the Golden Tornado of Georgia Tech in all departments of play, Xavier's Musketeers swept to an impressive 38-19 victory last Saturday night at the Fieldhouse.

The Musketeers presented an impregnable defense that kept the Yellow Jackets without a field goal until late in the first half. In the meantime, Xavier, led by Co-Captains Russ Sweeney and Leo Sack, succeeded in amassing enough points to assume a 23-8 lead as the contest reached the halfway mark.

Then with the game completely under control, Coach Clem Crowe substituted freely, using all the players on the bench with the exception of "Roarin'" John Koprowski who is reported to be suffering with an injured thumb.

The Musketeer scoring list was headed by Leo Sack, diminutive forward, who contributed 13 points towards its total, followed closely by Sweeney and Maher who donated 9 and 8 points, respectively. For the Yellow Jackets, Jack Hyder seemed to be the only one able to break through the Xavier defense consistently, as he rang the bell for two buckets and five gift shots, for 9 counters. Phil Bucklew, who was ejected during the first stanza because of the four foul-rule, was joined in the shower room by Hy-mie Maher, midway in the second canto, for the same reason. The Musketeers' next game will be with Marshall College next Wednesday, Feb. 27, at the Fieldhouse.

Rings Will Be Given Out To Juniors On Tuesday

Definite news has finally appeared in regard to the long-awaited rings for the Junior Class. According to Frank Overbeck, Chairman of the Ring Committee, those who were prompt in making their downpayments will receive their rings today and more will be given out next Tuesday. The Committee promises that the entire Junior Class will have their rings before the Prom.

Lead Xavier To State Title

Co-Captains Russ Sweeney And Leo Sack

Pictured above are two of the main reasons why the Musketeers' rode to the State Championship for the second consecutive year. Xavier's flashy co-captains, Russ Sweeney and Leo Sack have been the mainstay on a green sophomore team which has beaten the best in the Buckeye state.

Russ and Lee are not only captains nominally, but have led the team both in all-around performance and scoring. Sweeney is top scorer with 112 points, while Sack is close behind with an even 100.

Both are juniors, and outstanding candidates for guard berths on the mythical all-Ohio five.

Side Glances AT THE Intramurals

The Elet Hall division swung into the semi-final round last Sunday with Moseman's Mohawks and Darragh's Crows emerging victorious. The games were lengthened and an additional referee was added to check up on the determined play of the championship-aspiring teams.

In the first encounter, Darragh's Crow outfit clashed with the Apaches, led by "Battling Jim" Farasey. Throughout most of the game, the lead switched several times, with never more than a few points separating the teams. Darragh went on a solo scoring spree near the end of the game. After McMahon intercepted a stray Apache pass under his own bucket to score, Captain "Elbows" pulled his team through by scoring 9 markers in the 12 to 8 triumph.

The second game turned into a rout with the highly touted Mohawks breezing to a 22 to 4 victory.

"Scoop" Bailey forgot his Sunday morning jinx long enough to toss in five field goals and a gratis fling to pace the winners. Nebel with eight points was also outstanding for the Mohawkmen. Flashy little Gene Donkel again shone for the Sioux.

Next week will bring a very promising final between the hard driving Crows and the skillful passing Mohawks.

GUNNERS AND CARDINALS VICTORIOUS IN FIRST ROUND

In the first round elimination of the day student division, the Gunners and Cardinals were winners over the Lions and Packers.

With Monohan and Mollering leading the way, the Gunners took their first step toward the finals with a 22 to 8 victory. "Wild Bill" Grogan was the whole show for the losing Lions.

In scoring an 11 to 5 triumph over the Packers, the Cardinals led by

"Bull" Janson and Mulenkamp, established themselves as a real title threat. The Packers are considered one of the strongest aggregations in the loop.

In the Elet Hall division, Sullivan with 29 points, Monaco with 25, and Cummins with 22 points lead all scorers after four rounds of play.

Mollering and Monohan with 23 and 20 points respectively lead the day division.

German Club Member Speaks On Carl Schurz

Frank Overbeck Presents Discourse On Orator

Frank X. Overbeck addressed the Heidelberg German Club last Wednesday night with a brief discourse on Carl Schurz, an American statesman and a celebrated orator. Mr. Overbeck described the highlights of Schurz's career. He related how Schurz, born a Prussian, became a political fugitive from Germany when he became embroiled in the German revolution of 1848. Schurz escaped to Switzerland and then came to America and adopted that country as his own. He served it brilliantly as a United States Senator from Missouri, as an Ambassador to Spain, and as a Major General in the Union forces during the Civil War. Mr. Graber, the moderator, narrated an interesting incident concerning Schurz's escape from a German political prison.

Following this discourse, Martin Dumler, president, outlined a schedule of entertainment for the next meeting. John Brockman, secretary, made the suggestion that the society sponsor some activity besides fostering good fellowship among the members. Mr. Dumler asked the members to prepare for a discussion of this proposition at the next assembly.

Kassel

ed upon his music by radio corporations, a survey of the programs for the last twenty-four days reveals that "Kassels of the Air" have appeared 18 times over the Columbia Broadcasting System and 6 times over the largest hook-up of the National Broadcasting Company. Over the Columbia system, he has been featured with Pat Kennedy, one of the six most popular singers on the air.

In closing the arrangements for the orchestra, Paul Barrett, Promenade Chairman, made this statement: "The committee is proud to be able to present Art Kassel's music for the Promenade. We feel that his band is as suitable as any orchestra in the country for our dance. His orchestra should be a great advertisement for Xavier. It will present the best music ever heard at a Xavier Promenade. We are happy that we have kept faith and secured a 'name' orchestra."

The signing of the contract climaxed a week of extensive work by Barrett during his visit to Cleveland, and Phil Bucklew, Assistant Chairman, who handled the local end of the contacting.

Other Features Arranged

Leo Sack and Jerome Janson have completed plans for the Promenade souvenirs which are being completed rapidly.

James Shaw and Charles McDowell, members of the committee, and Tom Schmidt, Social Committee representative, are planning changes in the Grand March with a view to making this feature more attractive. Maids of Honor, chosen from Mt. St. Joseph College, the College of the Sacred Heart, and Xavier University night division, will be announced Sunday.

An attempt is being made to secure the services of Gene Austin, noted crooner, who will appear at the Taft Theatre on the evening of the Prom.

Frank Schaefer is at present making suitable arrangements of "Xavier Chimes" and "Xavier for Aye" which will be sent to Art Kassel this evening.

Tickets for this "greatest of all Xavier affairs" are now available. Dominic Sigillo has charge of all ticket sales. Despite the increased expenses caused by the securing of an expensive orchestra, the committee has decided not to raise the four dollar price of admission.

Philopedian Society Discuss World Court

Splitting up into two camps, the members of the Philopedian Society engaged in a warm discussion, Monday, concerning the entry of the United States into the League of Nations. Vincent Smith for the affirmative and Charles McEvoy in behalf of the negative delivered the constructive speeches while nearly the entire organization took part in the rebuttals.

Paul Barrett, James Shaw, Frank Schaefer, and Arthur Volck were in the thick of the fight while the rest of the organization supported their views. There was no definite decision as to which side was victorious since the debate was an informal discussion. Paul Barrett officiated as chairman of the meeting due to the absence of Richard Kearney, President, who is away with John Brockman, Vice President, on a debating tour in the west.

Leo Sack Talks On Radio Broadcast

X Star Discusses College Athletics On Station WFBE

Leo Sack, Xavier football and basketball star, addressed his radio audience over station WFBE last Tuesday night. With Harry Hartman, popular sports broadcaster, acting as his interlocutor, he discussed sports from an entirely objective viewpoint.

During the discourse he commented on the spirit that college and professional teams possess. "Tinkletoes" expressed his opinion that the former possess a greater amount of that quality which is known in sports parlance as "the old ginger." Sack was sponsored by the Cincinnati Reds in conjunction with their Knothole Club.

Around The Campus with Bennie Grouse

With but three more games to be played, Xavier's Musketeers are pounding down the home stretch towards the end of an unexpectedly successful season.

Long before the beginning of the campaign, the boys in the know, had labelled Clem Crowe's outfit with no better than a .500 ticket. The way in which the Big Blue has come through fourteen games with but two reverses, is nothing short of miraculous, considering the material Crowe had on hand at the beginning of the season.

With but two lettermen—Sack and Sweeney—in the fold from last year's team, as a nucleus for a quintet, he set about developing a group of inexperienced sophomores and juniors. Working with McKenna, Maher, Kruse, Bucklew, Koprowski, and Doyle, all newcomers, Xavier's wily mentor produced a team which held Ohio State to a three-point overtime win, beat Ohio Wesleyan, Ohio University, and gave the powerful Kentucky U. team a run for its money.

If the Musketeers lose the three remaining games on their schedule—which is unlikely—they will still wind up on the right side of the ledger. And all this from a team which everyone believed would do no better than break even with the weaker teams on its schedule.

-To Tony Comello, jovial trainer, goes the credit for calling the hand before it was dealt. Tony was alone in his pre-season arguments that the team would hang up an enviable record. Having trained most of the Muskies in football, "poosh-em-up" knew that what the team lacked in polish, they would more than make up in fight and drive. . . . And Tony was right.

Coach Crowe is steadily pushing his name up with those of nationally known mentors who repeatedly turn out first class cage teams.

Perhaps it's the sunny afternoons, or an early robin or two, but nevertheless the footballers are beginning to come out of hibernation and limber up in anticipation of the spring preps just around the corner. Quite a few of the boys can be seen nowadays, trying to work that winter poundage into shock absorbing muscle.

Saw "Nickey" Sigillo working against the varsity cagers a few days ago. He gives promise of being down to the 200 lb. mark before spring.

Some of the boys had the gloves on, up in the training room, and were stepping at a stiff clip. Fred Wunderlich and Bob Dreman seem to be quite adept at leather pushing too.

The Hauptmann decision, Sir Malcolm Campbell's preparation at Daytona Beach, and the Prom orchestra were the big student interests around the campus this week. Now that the name of the dance band for the Prom has been revealed, we wonder if a certain timid freshman is looking for the wise guy who had him believing that music would be provided by Joe Meyer and his Blue and White band.
