Quid Ergo?... By Robert E. Kaske

For the past few days we've been watching a romance. Since the participants are both good neighbors of ours, it doesn't concern us as a way, even though they'd be most embarrassed if they could see us watching. Of course we've known him for a long time. He's in the eighth grade at St. Martin School, and pitches for the base-ball team, and wears sort of club collar with pyjama knickers, and... oh, you know him as well as we do; he's the girl who just moved into our street — dishwater sometimes in the evening to talk exams...

We never knew that bus-drivers were inclined to be so useful, yet, since the Clinton-Oil North-Westory-Park bus the other day, looking at the little metal plaque which contains the driver's name we read, "O. Gussa."
Plans Made To Set Up Track Squad

Lemkuhl, Jacober Lead Movement

Xavier's boys for a varsity track team within the next two years are considerably brighter these days than at any time in the past month. Although only a dozen followers of the drugstore meeting enough good prospects were uncovered to form a team capable of upholding the Musketeer athletic standard.

Among the movement to bring the cinder sport to the Blue athletics calendar are junior Jerry Helto, who set the school record in the broad jump, ran both hurdles, and placed fourth in the high jump.

Lemkuhl, Jacober, senior Vince Pavoni.

Fare Verastile
Jacob, who prepared at Roger Bacon high, runs the 220 and the mile relay. He took first in the 440 in the Greater Cincinnati High meet as a senior in high school. Bergan, probably the most versatile athlete in the field, handled five events for his high school squad. He also jumped, ran both hurdles, the 440 and the mile relay. Last year he won both two hurdles and took the 440.

A new sport may be added to the I-M program this year, according to the strict standard that is especially advantageous to be alert and move fast will furnish plenty of good candidates.

The Board will enforce the forfeit the winning team will be sponsored by the Intramural Committee and the bowling alley managers, John Lucas and Boze Litinger.

All teams which have been entered in either the Day or the Evening tournament. There will be no entry fee, but the winning team will receive individual awards donated by the sponsores of the tournament. The bowling will be on a "one-loss-and-out" basis; matches will consist of those games with the winner being decided on a "two-out-of-three" basis.

In four round matches Keller's Kings and Nemmers' Aces continue to be undefeated. The Kings are tied for first place for the first time this season.

A special note of Cin-Cinarten this week is the table tennis tourney has defeated the 16-15 score against some of their opponents.

Four team members are outclassing everyone in the Queen City Basin. The Kings, Keller's, Puttmann's, and Brown's complete the tournament. First-round winners must be present to compete in the next round. Wins over the myriad points we could bring up, we merely mention to the players of mural Ch being bound together so officially.

The Interim Committee has showed up pretty well in the box score against some of their opponents.

Perhaps the greatest points we could bring up, we merely mention to the players of mural Ch being bound together so officially.
Biologists Plan Visitor's Exhibit

Biology Club president William C. Hugenberg announced today that a volunteer committee of ten students would arrange the club's exhibit for open-house day, to be conducted at Xavier this afternoon.

Hugenberg stated that James A. Berens, Junior, and Robert A. Vogel, senior, would head the committee. They will be assisted by Lawrence T. Hux, Robert J. McCabe, Phil H. Vogel, Jack A. McClure, Charles J. Peeto, Ir- win H. Young, Edgar L. Barney, and William P. Mulvaney. The exhibit is expected to feature a demonstration of a group of live embryos and the thesis work of junior science students.

At the regular meeting of the Biology Club held at 13:30 to-day Paul S. Siegel spoke on "Ionic Medication; Philip H. Vo- gel delivered a short talk on Nicotinic Acid, an important factor of the vitamin "B" group. An exhibition of silver-stained slides of chicken embryos, part of the work of Hugenberg and Berens, pre-med students, has been on display at the Uni- versity of Cincinnati Medical College for the past several weeks.

"Co-ed" Debate Attracts Crowd

Before the largest assembly in 1940-41 Philsdenian history, Jane L. Lemkuhl and Robert E. Rielly debated the subject of co-education at Xavier, during the regular bi-weekly Philsdenian meeting, March 11.

Lemkuhl upheld the affirmative side and Rielly the negative of the topic, "Resolved: that Xavier University retain its policy of separation of the sexes on the Avondale Campus." The deci- sion was rendered in favor of the affirmative.

In upholding the status quo, Lemkuhl argued that, by open- ing Xavier to women students, the University would lose membership of Cincinnati's women colleges would be incurred. Rielly stressed the fact that co-education is anathema to other Jesuit colleges such as Marquette, St. Louis, and Detroit.

At the March 25th meeting Louis B. Jurgen and John E. Smith, both juniors and four-year members of the organization, will debate on a subject not yet announced.

Voice Of Bard "Waxes" In Class

"Double, double, toil and trouble; Fire burn and cauldron bubble."

These words of the wicked witches of Macbeth echoed from classroom 101 last Friday where, appropriately enough, a senior class in Shakespearean drama was in progress. No, the sen- iors were not portraying the characters of Will Shakespeare's famous tragedy. The strange sounds were produced by a photograph, playing recordings of Green Well's Mercury Radio Theatre production of Macbeth.

Revealed later was the fact that Mr. Louis Felthaus, the in- structor in Shakespearean, was playing the two texts which he had brought to class, for the benefit of his students. The entire drama has been re- corded on nine twelve-inch re- cords.

Editor Requests More Snapshots For Musketeer

After stating that nearly all pictures for the annual have al- ready been taken and that over half of them are now in the en- gravers, John H. Kelly, art edi- tor of the Musketeer, emphasized that there still was a need for photographs depicting stu- dent life.

The "student life photography contest, announced in a former issue of the News will end in about two weeks. April 1, is the deadline for submission of entries; soon after that the re- sults of the contest will be an- nounced by the Yearbook staff. Entries should be dropped into a box provided for the purpose in the Bookstore.

The first prize, $10.00, will go to the person submitting the set of six to eight pictures judged to be the best. There is also a second prize of $3.00, and two other prizes of $1.00 each.

The individual pictures takes a short time ago of all under- classmen will soon be placed on sale at the price of three for 50c. Kelly said.
