Official Announcement of University’s Status In War Emergency Program

(Edward’s Note: President Stoler today released the following statement concerning Xavier University’s intentions and policies during the present national emergency, as borne of the war.

Our Colleges and Universities in the National Crisis

There is only one answer to this question. Whether we consider the nature of the institutions or the [redacted], it makes to society or whether we turn to the intention and expressed will of the highest authorities of our land we find that the answer is the same.

The colleges and universities accept this responsibility and are responding immediately as was seen in the meeting of the CONVIVIAL AND UNIVERSITY PRESIDENTS ON HIGHER EDUCATION AND THE WAR held in Baltimore, Md., on January 13. President Roosevelt said: "I have one great task before us. That is to win the war. At the same time it is my intention to carry on the work of the colleges and universities. The national interest demands men of intelligence, judgment and character for many services — in the armed forces, in civilian life, for the post-war period. …"

As President Roosevelt has said: "We have one great task before us. That is to win the war. At the same time it is my intention to carry on the work of the colleges and universities. The national interest demands men of intelligence, judgment and character for many services — in the armed forces, in civilian life, for the post-war period. …"

We must have well-educated and intelligent citizens who have sound judgment in dealing with the difficult problems of peace and reconstruction. …"

In August, 1940, and again in December, 1941, President Roosevelt stated: "We must have well-educated and intelligent citizens who have sound judgment in dealing with the difficult problems of peace and reconstruction. …"

We are organized for action, and they offer the opportunity for the best form of resistance to the war effort. That is their patriotic duty to continue the normal course of their studies. …"

The announcement of Xavier’s placement was recently disclosed by Fr. Benson, S. J., dean of the University. The total number of points compiled by Splain and Kaske placed Xavier third highest among all the contesting schools.

The idea of a schoolboy telling the world what is wrong with anything is not a new one. I have seen it before, but I have never seen it done in quite this way.

The world is a very large place, and there are many who find it difficult to understand the workings of the human mind. But it is not difficult to see why people should feel frustrated in their lives, and why they should be unable to do what they want to do. This is because the world is not a place where everyone has the same opportunities and the same chances to achieve success.

In conclusion, it is important to remember that everyone has the right to be happy, and that everyone should be encouraged to pursue their dreams. The world is a place of opportunity, and we should all make the most of it.?
The war can't be so terrible; Xavier University is doing a grand job in keeping up the high moral tone of its students and faculty. A letter from a parent says: "I am proud of my son at Xavier. He is learning to be a good citizen, to serve his country, and to be a good Christian." The war effort is important, and Xavier University is doing its part by providing excellent education to its students. "Xavier is a place to learn and grow," says a faculty member. "We are preparing our students for the challenges they will face in the future."
