ANNUAL MARIAN DAY CEREMONY TO BE HELD IN FIELDHOUSE SUNDAY

Alpha Sigma Nu Sponsors Smoker

Students, Faculty Invited To Free Entertainment

All students and faculty members are invited by Alpha Sigma Nu, national Jesuit honor fraternity, to attend the smoker to be sponsored by the fraternity next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m., in the Field House.

The smoker is designed as a get-together to acquaint students with faculty and fellow-students. To this end, public introductions of all faculty members as well as all student leaders present will be made.

As the feature of the evening, Alpha Sigma Nu is planning a program of all-student entertainment. A number of boxing matches will be the main attraction of the evening. In addition, selections by the Clef Club members and surprise entertainment on the "strictly instrumental" side is promised.

As an added inducement, ASN will offer free smokes to those in attendance. Everyone is urged to attend and make this unusual affair a success. Admission is free.

Clef Club Opens Season On Oct. 4

The Clef Club has been reorganized for the coming year and rehearsals have already started. The Club will participate in the Marian Day celebration in the Fieldhouse on October 4.

Plans for the club this year call for serious rehearsals immediately so that several concerts may be scheduled before the end of the first semester. This will enable senior members who are following the accelerated program to participate in at least a few concerts before their graduation.

As always, the Clef Club will offer a varied program, including songs pleasing to every taste, President Ralph Stueve and-

Current Affairs To Be Discussed By Economists

Mr. Howard S. Gordman, recently appointed assistant professor of Economics, requests the attendance of all Economics Club members and all other students interested in economics for the initial meeting of the present semester on October 5.

"The Economics Club," said Mr. Gordman, "has reason to look forward to a momentous year. For at no other time since the founding of the Republic have economics and related events of such vital significance for the United States occurred as in the last ten months.

"The convergence at this time of the war crisis and the Congressional elections presents the student of current economic affairs with the chance of a lifetime to supplement his liberal education. To that end the Economics Club serves a genuine need in providing a forum for the discussion of vital economic issues of the day."

Thus favored by circumstances as well as by its fine composition under the presidency of Roger Bissmeyer, the organization is determined to pull more than its own weight in supporting Xavier's part in the war effort.

LANTZ TO COMMAND NEW ROTC REGIMENT

New Appointments Are Announced

Alvin Lantz, Senior cadet-officer, has been appointed Cadet-Colonel, commanding the Xavier ROTC Regiment of two battalions, formed because of the record increase in the number of students enrolled in the Xavier Corps of Cadets. This and the following ROTC Cadet appointments were made under Colonel Alpha Brummage, P. M. S., and T., of the unit and published by Lieut. Charlie Davis, this year's Adjutant.

Other promotions within the corps affecting the First and Second Year Advanced Military students were as follows: Richard Winterman and Leland Schneider were appointed Lt.

Colonels commanding the first and second Battalions respectively. Assigned as Major and Regimental Adjutant was Anthony Grollig. Neal Gilmartin and John Goettke were appointed Captains, acting as Adjutants to their two Battalions.

Pan-America: Essay Theme For Colleges

Announcement of the subject for the Annual Intercollegiate English Contest was made early this week by the Rev. John J. Benson, S. J., dean of the college of liberal arts. The Challenge of Pan-Americanism to the Catholic College Graduate is the general topic of the contest, but this may be treated in any manner the individual contestant sees fit.

The entries must be in the hands of the professors of the various English classes no later than November 25. All undergraduates may enter the contest which is open to the Jesuit colleges and universities of the Chicago and Missouri provinces.

All entries are limited to three thousand words and must contain a bibliography of works consulted and the student's nom de plume. The three ranking entries from Xavier will be sent to the Rev. William J. McGucken, S. J., at St. Louis University where they will be judged with the other entries in order that the winners of the five cash prizes may be determined.

The papers will be judged on thought content, correctness, suitability for publication and originality. Lawrence Splain and Robert Kaske ranked sixth and seventh respectively in last year's contest.

Xavier Dorm Is Expanded

The rapid expansion of Xavier University has caused the establishment of an additional dormitory for the out-of-town students. Rev. Celestin J. Steiner, S. J., president of the university, obtained the lease of a residence located at 992 Marion Avenue, just a block and a half northwest of Elet Hall.

The new dormitory houses 36 members — 9 seniors, 16 juniors, and 11 sophomores. Mrs. Richard Thinnis is the hostess and in charge of general supervision. Rev. William R. Hennes, S. J., is resident faculty member.

Four rooms include three students each, while six rooms house four each. The typical comment of the resident students: "I like the arrangement fine; but, oh, do we need some closet space!"

Faculty Changes For Coming Year Are Announced

Changes in the Xavier faculty found six priests and four laymen as new members of the Xavier teaching staff.

The Rev. Bernard J. Wernert, S. J., replaced Fr. Lynch as the freshman dean and assistant dean of the College of Liberal Arts. Fr. Wernert came to Xavier from John Carroll U.

As Dean of Men, Prefect of Elet Hall and Moderator of Student Council, will be the Rev. Raymond F. Mooney, S. J., who has just completed his tertianship.

A Cincinnati man, the Rev. Richard T. Deters, S. J., will serve as Student Councillor, Moderator of Sodality and Traditionists, and teacher of religion. Fr. Deters taught at the University of Detroit during the past summer.

The Rev. William R. Hennes, S. J., replaces Fr. Henderson in the Department of Classical Languages. The Rev. Leo J. Vollmayer, S. J., replaces Fr. Biecker as physics and math teacher. Fr. Vollmayer taught at John Carroll for the past 13 years. The Rev. Arthur P. Madgett S. J., formerly head of the religion department of the University of Detroit, will teach religion at Xavier.

The new lay members of the faculty are Messrs. Fleming, Gerascia, Rives and Schiefelbein. Mr. Fleming, who received his Ph.D. at the Catholic U., is professor of History at Xavier.

Diocesan Groups To Cooperate

Meditation By Archbishop; 2000 Voices In Choir

Convening for the second annual Marian Day celebration, religious sodalities and organizations of the Diocese will gather in the University Field House on Sunday, October 4, in a public demonstration of reverence for Mary, the Mother of God.

Marian Day was inaugurated last year by Most Reverend John T. McNicholas, Archbishop of Cincinnati, "to unite officially in imploring the Mother of God to beseech her Divine Son to have mercy on all sinners, especially sinners who are stained with the guilt of promoting and continuing the war."

Attracting more than 15,000 Catholics last year, extensive preparations are in progress to accommodate an even larger number this year. The ceremony, which begins at 2:30 p. m., will consist of a procession of the Marian groups from the Stadium to the Field House with the Blessed Sacrament being escorted from Bellarmine Chapel by the attending clergy. Following this, the celebration will include an act of consecration to the Blessed Virgin, a meditation by the Most Reverend Archbishop, hymns and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

The hymns will be sung by a choir of over 2000 voices, composed of various choral groups of greater Cincinnati, including the Xavier University Clef Club. The choir will be under the direction of John J. Fehring, diocesan director of music.

Cash Prizes In Story Contest

The Rev. John J. Benson, S. J., announced this week that the Cincinnati Literary and Musical Society has invited Xavier students to participate in the Ninth Annual Orr-Short Story Contest.

The subject of the short story is to be a fictional or real episode in the life of some woman composer. The woman composer must not be fictional; she must be a real person.

The first prize of $15 and second prize of $10.

Decision for Peace—

IN a solemn public tribute to Mary, Queen of Peace, Cincinnati Catholics will gather in the fieldhouse Sunday for the second annual Marian Day ceremony.

It is significant that Catholics, when our country is involved in war to preserve its precious liberties and national honor, should willingly and humbly kneel at Our Lady's altar to beg reparation for sin and courage to challenge the evils of an imperiled future.

Amid the fierceness of world-battle we come to the gentlest of God's creatures, seeking her help. We ask the Divine intercession through the most perfect of women. We look for the purity and strength of her maidenly heart to guide our hand that wields the sword and to preserve in our hearts the ideal of a just peace.

Already a great part of our college curricula has been re-designed for war. There can be no doubt that in time all of us at Xavier will take a real and more active part in the conflict. Let us pray on this second Marian Day that we may do so fortified and strengthened by the spirit of Mary's gentleness.

Smokers — They Satisfy—

In an institution the size of Xavier, solidarity through the friendship of all students is not only possible but highly desirable. We must not permit our school spirit to suffer, as it has in past years, from the lack of universal acquaintance of students. A school, irretrievably divided into classes, departments and neighborhood cliques, is a house divided against itself.

Next Tuesday, Xavier students will have the opportunity to meet faculty and fellow-students in the most informal of atmospheres, that of the old-fashioned stag smoker. Xavier's chapter of Alpha Sigma Nu, Jesuit honor fraternity is sponsoring the smoker and asks the attendance of all students. The cause of promoting solidarity through mutual acquaintance of students is certainly a worthy one, and the smoker seems to be a very pleasant and effective means of furthering it. So let's see a full house at the smoker next Tuesday.

Reserves in the Colleges—

IN an editorial on Friday, September 11th, the Cleveland Plain Dealer referred to college students in the reserve corps of the army, navy, and marines as "a favored class based on financial ability to attend institutions of higher learning." The editorial was entitled "Ending Discrimination," and went on to say that it was undemocratic to discriminate between boys in college and those who could not afford to attend a university.

We admit that the college students fortunate enough to be included in the quota of reserve men at their school are exempt from the draft but they are exempt to allow them to continue their studies, which, in the end, will make them much more valuable to the services than they would be if taken out of school.

The students didn't rush to the service offices and beg to be allowed to finish school. It was quite the opposite. The army, navy and marine corps have sent men out to most schools more than once to sign up the boys in their reserve corps. There was no competition between them as to who would get the greatest number; it was like buying a new car, the main idea, that of obtaining officer material, was the same in each, but the choice of sailing, flying, etc., was just like deciding between a Ford, Chevy or Buick.

The men in the reserves are not given the guarantee that they will finish their four years. As it is, many will be called prior to graduation.

As to college students being a favored class because they have the finances to attend college, a large percentage of students are working or have worked to obtain their education.—(From The Carroll News).

X ALUMNI IN ARMS

By Joe Thesken

Xavier is doing her part in the war effort. Among our globe-girdling forces are her sons, scattered from the frigid climes of Iceland to the sweltering Canal Zone, from the green hills of Erie to the bush country of Australia. Still more are going through intensive training at Army camps and marine bases throughout the nation.

Capt. Raymond Wilson, Jr., grad of '40, is stationed in Iceland, helping defend a valuable island, strategically important for safe U. S. ocean routes to England and Russia.

On the much romanticized island of Honolulu, in the Pacific, are two former students, Jacinto Cacho, in the Coast Guard, and Robert Conwell, in the Army.

Editors

Former editors of the Xavier NEWS, Lt. William Roll, Jr., '41, is now in the Second Armored Division, Ft. Bragg, N. C. Lt. James Centner, last year's editor of the NEWS, will soon complete a course of training at the Artillery School, Ft. Sill, Okla.

Stationed at Lowry Field, Denver, Colo., Corp. Paul Reisenberg is in the Air Force. Another member of the Air Corps is Lt. Rolland Bergamy, Hendricks Field, Sebring, Fla.

Lt. Frank Armstrong, '41, and William Kiefer, former Xavier student, are among the contingent of American forces in Australia.

Robert Cunningham, former staff-members of the NEWS, is going through a rigorous course of training at Paris Island. Also in the Marine Corps is Ray Fenning, learning the art of becoming a rough-and-ready "leatherneck" at Quantico, Va.

With the rapidly expanding American Expeditionary Force in England is another of Xavier's men, Lt. John Low.

Former Coach

Football and basketball coach of the Musketeers a few years back, Lt. Kenneth Jordan is a member of the Navy Department in Washington, D. C.

Lt. Joseph Schuster, grad of '41, and William J. Haas, a "X" student of some years ago, are among those soldiers guarding a very critical point in the U. S. defense scheme—the Canal Zone.

Besides these mentioned above, there are hundreds of other Xavier graduates doing their best in the interests of crushing tyrannical rule present in the world today. When the terms of peace have been written down for posterity, Xavier can feel a warmth of satisfaction. For her sons were instrumental in bringing the light of Democracy to a subjected people, and the hope of a lasting, just peace to a war-sick world.

Reincarnation—

Of all sad words of tongue and pen, The saddest are these: "he's in again!"

(These memorable words spoken by my colleagues, the News Staff, upon first seeing my column in the copy basket last week.)

Ounce Of Prevention—

Freshmen, please pay absolutely no attention to anything that might appear in this space—come to think of it, practically nothing ever does appear here.

Fall, 1942—

Egad, what improvements! The old place has had its face lifted. Imagine a real telephone booth in the Biology building . . . now you can talk to you best girl without five juniors making dates with her over your shoulder . . . And the new paint job—all in pastel shade, pale, soothing colors to fit the students' mood—you know, modern psychology and stuff—all they forgot was a room done in black for Monday mornings . . . And then, last but not least, fellows, we have—Potted Plants! No comment.

Example Of Above—

My cousin Lem from Butter-milk Gulch says this sure must be the worst war in history. Nothing else in the world ever made a woman admit she was a wack . . . Just kiddin', Uncle Sammy.

Tale Of A Tire—

Drivin' with a "pippin"
Kinda rippin'
Sadly slippin'
Last lap
Junked for scrap
Slappin' a Jap.

Mess Of Muscles—

These calisthenics are wonderful. They're really building me up. Would you believe it, only a couple of weeks and I can't get into my old shirts anymore—of course, I can't get into my new ones either—as a matter of fact, I can't even raise my arms.

The Frosh's Lament—

My mother worked, my father worked
And I worked like a fool,
My whole darned family scrimped and scraped
So I could go through school.
My father vowed through sweat and tears
That I would never be
A master's lackey, full of fears,
A wage slave, such as he.

I beat my brains out like a jerk
Along the road to knowledge,
For I knew I'd ne'er do servile work
If I could go to college.

Yet here I am—while hundreds scoff,
I serve as valet to a SOPH!

Plans Made For Symphony Series

"Xavier students will be asked to cooperate in one of Cincinnati's unique cultural activities when the College Symphonic Committee initiates its plans to make this year's Symphony Series a student success," Leland Schneider, committee chairman representing Xavier, said this week.

As in last year's series at which Xavier's attendance was notable four concerts will comprise this series to be given in Music Hall by the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra. At each of these concerts, a youthful soloist is featured. On account of the coming transportation emergency, the concerts have for the present been scheduled for Sunday afternoons, November 1, December 20, January 24, and February 28. Programs for the concerts have not yet been completely drawn up by Mr. Eugene Goosens, noted conductor; but the last program is to consist wholly of selections by those performing in the first three concerts of the group.

The details as to ordering the tickets for the concerts, which will consist of a strip of four admissions at the low price of $2.20, tax included, will be published in the NEWS later. Single tickets may be bought at the ticket office on the day of the concerts at the price of 75c, which means there is a saving of 80c by purchasing the season strip, Schneider pointed out. To satisfy those students who will be liable to be called into the Service, the city committee has arranged for the refund of the price of the tickets remaining on the strip at the time the student is called.

Kentucky Downs Musketeers In Fast Free-Scoring Fracas

Wildcat Weight, Speed Tell 35-19 Story

Things were mighty quiet around the "Mansion" about 11:00 P. M. last Friday. The perennial after-the-game bull session had taken on the air of a post mortem, with the students once more burying their hopes of a victory over Kentucky for another year.

A gathering of upperclassmen was typical. The four tenants of the room were sprawled on their beds. Two visitors occupied chairs, one of whom was thoughtfully smoking a pipe. A third outsider mulled over his own game statistics as he rested on a trunk. A number of day hops wandered aimlessly about the room as a radio played recordings in a praiseworthy attempt to blast the gloom.

What's Wrong?

One of the boys on the bed gave word to what all the others were thinking: "I don't know what's wrong with the team, but they certainly don't look like the Muskies of last year."

"No reserves", came from one in a chair; "No pass defense", responded another. "No blocking out in front of Mutryn", added a third, "Too much Kentucky", a standee commented.

The boy with the pipe summed it up: "I guess it's a little of each, but I sure wish we had Himmler, Lavelle, and Washer back".

"Brownie's bad knee is what hurt our running game", a second pipe smoker observed. "He wasn't able to play up to his usual excellent running and blocking game".

Passes Score

A radio commentator was now detailing activities around Stalingrad. A day hop twisted the dial.

The boy with his own statistics was ready to add his two cents worth. "You're right when you say X's running game was poor. Chet carried the ball from scrimmage 14 times and rolled up a total of 57 yards. Fifty-two of these came on two tries, so he wasn't getting far on other attempts. But perhaps Crowe has found the solution to that already. If he can't get Chet through the line with the ball, maybe he'd better let Chet get through first, and throw him the ball later. They tried that twice—and got two TDs on runs of 20 and 55 yards!

Mutryn Tosses 28

"Mutryn was still the best back on the field." (This was the first statement to meet universal agreement). "He threw 28 passes during the game and completed 14 of them; he hit with 11 out of 18 in the second half."

The session was beginning to break up now. The standees were taking their leave to join other discussions or visit their favorite tavern. The boy nearest the door muttered, "It's a shame Weis isn't bigger; he's sure got guts."

Tough Loss

The boy on the bed who started the discussion jumped up to get a sweater. "That was a tough loss, but I'm betting they bounce right back to take Ft. Knox next Saturday," he opined. "It won't surprise me," agreed the statistician.

"Then we'll take John Carroll, Creighton, Dayton, Marshall . . . It'll still be a swell season."

As the radio blared forth with Woody Herman's "Amen."

FROM THE BOOK . . . by the worm

The author of this column hereby dedicates himself to an unending search for the little publicized items of interest to the Xavier sport fan . . .

JUST ONE? ?

When the Musketeers met Butler in the season's opener, the center of the line squatted down in front of what is probably the most football player in one pair of pants in the United States. One of the Bulldog guards shoots the scales to 324 lbs. And his name, fittingly enough, is Oliphant. . . .

WAIT 'TIL DECEMBER

Francis Wallace, who plays the music for the Saturday Evening Post's "Pigskin Parade" picks Nick Skorich of U. C. and John Fekete of Ohio U. to be Ohio's outstanding players this fall. The same Francis Wallace, in the same magazine several seasons ago, touted U. C. as a power in the Buckeye Conference and complimented Joe Meyer on the teams he was turning out at Xavier. . . . But the Buckeye Conference had died a bitter death years earlier; and the only connection Joe Meyer had with Xavier was to give thanks in his evening prayers that the Musketeers weren't on his schedule. . . . No connection between the two articles, Francis, no connection. . . .

TRY TO GET HIM

But what should prove to be a classic by the time Nov. 21st rolls around is the statement in Spaulding's annual football handbook, which touts Chet Mutryn, of the University of Cincinnati, as the outstanding small school back. And he didn't say a word to Clem about transferring. . . .

CALL THE F. B. I.

That 59-0 shellacking O. S. U. handed out to Ft. Knox last Saturday should call for a governmental investigation. The Buckeyes did more toward destroying army morale around Ft. Knox in those two hours than enemy agents have accomplished since the outbreak of the war. Your cue, Mr. Crowe; on the worm's account, hold it to 58 . . .

Physical Training Classes Begun

Special physical training courses have been initiated at Xavier, together with all other colleges and universities in the U. S., at the command of the government, the Department of Education and the Army, Navy, and Marines.

Five hours per week have been established by the government as required, but every student is urged to take as many hours as possible. At Xavier, the five hours are made up of weekly Corps Day formations, daily calisthenics classes, as well as two regularly scheduled hours per week for each student.

This program is designed to provide physical training for those who heretofore, have had little opportunity for physical activity. It is required that the exercises be held outdoors.

FT. KNOX 'RAIDERS HERE SATURDAY

Soldiers Attempting To "Bounce-Back"

Saturday, October 3, is the test of worth: The Army's stiff physical training vs. Coach Clem Crowe's precise drilling; or under another aspect the big man against the little man. Our fighting Musketeers will pit their skill and deception against the Armored superior weight. "X" will be outweighed better than 25 pounds per man. The soldiers will probably start a line weighing an average of 212 pounds, and a 188 pound backfield.

Negro Stars

Among the better known Knox boys are John "Big Train" Moody, former member of the Negro All-American team from Morris Bown University, and Sam Putterbaugh, veteran player from Dayton University and the Cleveland Rams.

Last Saturday, an excellent Ohio State team smothered the Armored 59-0. This should not be taken as indicative of a soft game, for the army team has had but little training as a unit. This week, however, will afford ample time to smooth off the rough spots. It must also be remembered that the Big Ten is a pretty tough loop; Indiana defeated Butler 53-0, while our boys eked out a 21-14 win. All this aside, however, it appears to be a fair test of size against skill. The probable line-ups:

Crowe Makes Changes

After last Friday's contest, Coach Crowe is faced with the necessity of making several shifts. Tenundfeld or Overberg will probably get the starting call in place of the injured Weis; and the last two practices have seen Noble Clark totting the leather at the fullback's position. If this change proves unsatisfactory, Freshman Len Kemper will probably start again in the
