“...the responsibility to make choices in political life rests with each individual in light of a properly formed conscience.” (Forming Consciences for Faithful Citizenship par.7)

COURSE DESCRIPTION
This core course offers a theological framework in which to analyze complex public issues confronting U.S. society. It is part of the Ethics/Religion and Society (E/RS) component of the core curriculum that promotes Xavier’s mission of enabling students to think critically about social issues in terms of human values and to develop a sense of compassionate solidarity. This course is an E/RS focus elective, a Diversity Curriculum Requirement course, a Peace Studies minor elective, and a Catholicism and Culture minor elective.

LEARNING OUTCOMES
This course fulfills one or more requirements of the core curriculum. The student will:

1. Apply general principles of Catholic Social Teaching to specific public issues.
2. Engage in a dialogue process of reflective listening in order to understand different opinions and articulate his or her own assumptions, values, insights and questions to others.
3. Evaluate proposed solutions to public issues in order to make her or his own informed political judgments in consideration of the common good.
4. Initiate or continue a life of political engagement which reflects his or her faith.

This course fulfills the following Core Curriculum Goals as defined in June 2012 by the Ad Hoc Core Curriculum Assessment Committee:

GOAL 1: Students will be effective communicators in writing and orally
1. Students will organize and express their ideas in writing and orally
2. Students will formulate clear and arguable theses, supported by evidence drawn from appropriate sources
3. Students will utilize an effective writing process guided by audience, purpose, cultural context, and disciplinary standards

GOAL 2: Students will be critical thinkers
1. Students will analyze and interpret texts, images, objects, artifacts, and quantitative and qualitative data
2. Students will describe the historical, cultural, mythological, and social contexts of texts, works of art, and theories
3. Students will evaluate the strength of an argument or claim and its evidence
4. Students will discuss fundamental questions that arise from the human condition, such as questions about the grounds of morality, the essence of justice, the nature of reality, the possibility of certainty, the nature of beauty, or the reasonableness of religious faith
5. Students will evaluate the use of science and mathematics in society and everyday life in an informed manner
GOAL 3: Students will be creators of new knowledge and expression
1. Students will utilize their imagination and creativity, individually and collectively, to innovate and generate new perspectives to problems
3. Students will create, perform, and produce work that synthesizes technical execution and expressively communicates to its audience

GOAL 4: Students will be able to understand and appreciate the arts, humanities and science disciplines, and reflect on connections among these studies
1. Students will engage in critical, theological reflection by the method developed in Jesuit and Catholic practice, using human experience and religious traditions as resources to address issues or questions arising in today’s world
3. Students will think historically in order to understand the past on its own terms and to understand how societies have changed over time
6. Students will utilize mathematical and logical reasoning and the language of mathematics with its own symbols, syntax, and semantics.

GOAL 5: Students will be integrated individuals who articulate a coherent, ethical perspective on the world and their place in it
1. Students will recognize the societal, ethical and moral dimensions of discourse, art, information, science and technology
2. Students will relate their knowledge and skills in a reflective and constructive way to their life experiences and the challenges confronting today’s world
3. Students will use information and resources responsibly in their communication and research
4. Students will utilize intellectual, moral, and spiritual tools and sensibilities to engage faithfully and responsively in the world for the promotion of peace, social justice, and ecological sustainability

GOAL 6: Students will be aware global citizens
1. Students will recognize relationships between diversity, inequality, and social, economic, and political power both in the United States and globally
2. Students will describe contributions made by individuals from diverse and/or underrepresented groups to local, national, and global communities
3. Students will consider perspectives of diverse groups when making decisions
4. Students will interact with sensitivity as members of society and as professionals with people who have ideas, beliefs, attitudes, and behaviors that are different from their own
5. Students will engage Catholic, ecumenical, cross-cultural, and inter-religious perspectives in reflecting upon contemporary issues of significance

GOAL 7 (E/RS): Students will be intellectually, morally and spiritually educated individuals capable of critical reflection on ethical and/or religious questions of social significance from the perspective of multiple disciplines with unique methods
2. Students will engage in critical, theological reflection on ethical and/or religious questions of social significance, using human experience and religious traditions as resources to address these questions
3. Students will critically read, write about, and reflect on ethical and/or religious issues of social significance through interpretation of literary texts
4. Students will reflect critically on ethical and/or religious questions of social significance through the method of another discipline or through a second course in philosophy, theology or literature

REQUIREMENTS

1. Class Attendance and Participation

Students are expected to attend all classes. Attendance will be taken at the beginning of each class. Anyone arriving late should see the professor immediately after class in order to make sure that the attendance record is correct. Three late arrivals will count as one absence. Four unexcused absences will lower the class participation grade by 10 points. For each subsequent absence after four, the class participation grade will be lowered by 10 additional points. Absences can be excused for medical reasons only with proper documentation from a medical professional.

Since we (myself included) can learn so much from the knowledge and experiences of each other, you are encouraged to actively contribute to class discussions and small group work. Showing respect for the opinions of others and attentive listening are corollaries of stating your own honest viewpoints. Attendance and participation will factor into the participation grade. Participation during class discussions and group work will be evaluated and recorded for each class.

If there are lengthy notes to be used during an upcoming class, PowerPoint slides will be posted before class. Please check Blackboard documents on a regular basis before coming to class and bring the printout to class if you wish to facilitate maximum participation during class. Students are always responsible for taking additional notes on subjects not written in the PowerPoint slides.

2. Individual Presentation using Quantitative Literacy

A student will create a short presentation of economic data in a graph or chart from an academic source on a specific topic and explain the quantitative data to the class. The student will also analyze whether or not the data supports the position of the USCCB on related topics. A detailed rubric will be distributed.
3. Group Presentation and Individual Position Paper

A student will choose from one of eight topics regarding a public issue in the United States and work with a group to report to the class on this issue regarding Catholic social teaching, the Democratic platform and the Republican platform. On this topic, the student will also write an individual 4-5 page paper reflecting on Catholic social teaching, party platforms, class dialogue and the student’s position on what should be done in public policy regarding the issue. A detailed rubric will be distributed.

All papers and presentations will be submitted using Blackboard before the class period on the due date stated on the rubric. There will be a Blackboard Assignment item to use for submission of the paper. The paper and presentation will be screened by Turnitin, a plagiarism prevention program. Theology department grading guidelines for written essays can be found in our course documents on Blackboard.

4. Exams

Two in-class exams will be administered. Each exam will include multiple choice questions and essay questions taken from student presentations, class dialogue, class lecture, speakers, videos and assigned readings. The exams are not cumulative. A study guide will be provided for each exam. Absence from an exam will be permitted only for a grave reason (e.g. medical emergency) and only at the discretion of the instructor. In the case of a real emergency, leave a message including your name and number as soon as possible.

Anyone who feels he/she may need an academic accommodation based on the impact of a disability (e.g.: sensory, learning, psychological, medical, mobility) should contact me to arrange an appointment to discuss your needs as soon as possible. I rely on the Disability Services Office for assistance in verifying your eligibility for academic accommodations related to your disability. If you have not previously contacted Disability Services, I encourage you to do so at 513-745-3280 on the Fifth Floor of the Conaton Learning Commons, Room 514 or e-mail Cassandra Jones at jonesc20@xavier.edu, to coordinate reasonable accommodations.

If religious observance will cause a student to be absent from class or otherwise affect his or her ability to complete academic assignments, he or she must notify the instructor in advance and make necessary arrangements to complete the entire course.

5. Blackboard Work

Students are expected to complete the required reading prior to class and be ready to discuss it. There will be occasional Blackboard assignments to be completed prior to coming to class on the day the reading is due or on dialogue days.
1. The grade will be determined as follows:

Part I Blackboard online quizzes, discussion board postings and assignment 15%
Part II and III dialogue impact postings 8%
Individual Presentation using quantitative literacy 7%
Public Issue Presentation 20%
Public Issue Paper 15%
Exam 1 Part II: 13%
Exam 2 Part III : 12%
Class participation: 10%

2. The grading scale for the theology department is:

A   = 100-94
A-  = 93-92
B + = 91-90
B    = 89-87
B -  = 86-84
C+  = 83-82
C    = 81-79
C -  = 78-76
D + = 75-74
D    = 73-71
D -  = 70-68
F    = 67 or below

For department policy on grading, see http://www.xavier.edu/theology/grading_policy.cfm.

4. Academic Honesty

This course will be conducted in accordance with Xavier University’s policy on academic honesty. In papers, presentations and assignments submitted for this course, both the ideas and wording must be the student’s own or must be clearly attributed to their proper sources using full citations. All electronic devices will be completely forbidden during exam days. If the instructor sees an electronic device during an exam day, the instructor will presume the student is using it to cheat and take appropriate measures.
