The "Headless Horseman" was the central feature of the New Enrollment record set. In a series of scenes, the horseman's empty head appeared as the color change of a trophy.
On Sportsmanship

If you feel that you are in need of more exercise, an escape from routine, the answer to your problem lies in school sports. Although our facilities are limited, interested sportswomen will avail themselves of what we have. A little bit of swimming, swim meets or archery tournaments offer choice hours for both boys and girls.

While sports offer one of the finest kinds of recreation to the student, at the same time they develop teamwork and spirit. Inter-class competition is found to conform strangely to school programs in sports.

Horseback riding and bridge are among the two best loved American pastimes. Minus any suggestion of rivalry, may we point out that it would be well to organize those who prefer each of these hobbies into clubs. A healthy mind is said to be an active mind. A suitable release from the daily grind of book work would be an organized schedule of sports, aside from compulsory gymnastics.

Agreed?

"With Malice Toward Some"

Not one of us is absolutely free of prejudices. Whether it’s mother’s prejudice against canned peas, father’s allergy for purple, or grandmother’s dislike for smoking; basically, they are all unreasonable.

Since prejudice are opinions and are not based on certainty, we wonder if they exist in the first place. Most often the opinions of most people of a particular race or of a certain creed. Have you ever made any statements similar to those of the following? Do you expect from her? She’s a German’s. “That’s enough for you.” All the rest of the world long as he keeps his distance.

One who makes such statements we conclude that the speaker is unintelligent and gravely sins against charity. A good Christian knows that God is all just, that all mankind is equal in His eye, and all things to have some respective value. The Jew and the Gentile is equal in His eye.

When we pass an unfair judgment on another person (unfair in the sense that we are ignorant of human nature. All of us are darkened intellects and weak wills.

As Catholics, we must be free of racial and national prejudices. To suppress those that may arise, let us weigh them in the right of judgment.

Al Smith

With the passing of Al Smith on Oct. 4, the American scene lost one of its ablest citizens. Emerging from New York city, in 1912 the son of paupers, it meant to be a gentleman and he made use of every opportunity. He was a man of long and distinguished career as four-time governor of the state of New York which culminated at the time of his nomination to the Presidency in 1928. Later he became increasingly active in business and was given control of the management of the Empire State building.

Not only was Al Smith a distinguished political and businessman, he was a distinguished Catholic as well. He was on politician whose highest endeavor denoted he was a son of the Catholic Church. Rather, he used his religion as an impetus to improve himself and for those who knew him. Plain-spoken, sympathetic, and kind, he was loved by everyone.

One of the kindest tributes ever accorded Al Smith appeared in the column of Heywood Broun on the morning following the 1928 election. It said, “Herbert Hoover goes into the White House with into the hearts of the American people.

As Americans, we owe an inculcable debt to the tens of thousands of our young men who have died in this war. We can pay that debt in no better way than to offer our prayers for them. As followers of Him who said, “Love your enemies, pray for them that虽 hate you, pray for them that虽 persecute you,” we can help ourselves to our fallen enemies. We satisfy this obligation, too, by our prayers and sacrifices in November.

Autumn Thoughts...

Gone hath the Spring, with all its flowers,
And gone the Summer’s promised show.

And Autumn, in her leafless bowers,
Is waiting for the Winter’s snow.

I said to Earth, with a sigh so low:

"An emblem of myself thou art."

"Not so," the Earth did seem to say,

"For Summer shall warm your heart.

John G. Whitmer.
New President Of All Group Makes Business Of Interviewing

By Betty Kieran

Impressions

The first meeting of the College's new President, Miss Mary Lee Feldkamp, at the student center, was an occasion of great pride and enthusiasm for the student body. The new President, who has been chosen after a thorough search conducted by the faculty, has already made a profound impression on the students.

Miss Mary Lee Feldkamp

"We talked. While the new case worker pursues her clients at home, we attend our activities at the college, and I don't know, then being my first year at school, I'd be compelled to tell the theory of interviewing, which I immediately prepared her for her first position as registrations in society's source of livelihood alone, while the case worker serves under varied social as pests."

In addition to her sociology courses here at school, Bobby was compelled to study the "theory of interviewing," which immediately prepared her for her first position as registrations."

Travelers...

(Continued from Page 1)

Although we have not mentioned all the trips the two volcanoes, Popocatepetl and Iztaccihuatl, were heightened by the sight of gold and emeralds, and the latter, which is located in the heart of town facing the zocalo. Her stories of trips to the ancient pyramids of the Aztecs were heightened by a confession of her own phobia regarding height. Miss Geers concluded her account with a quote from the Empress Carlotta, "When there's the land that poets dream of."

"Bigger and longer" trips were described by Naomi Schlosser, beginning with the first over-night trip to the picturesque villages of Cuernavaca and Taxco. Her account of the merrily bumpy ride of the three of us in the car, bus similar to the "Toonerville Trolley" (as we all agreed it was an attraction) of the American students, served under varied social as pests..." she said.

"Again, as my first year at school and so forth," she said, "I believe that some of the last chapter was this, that we are all of us college students, now with the new em-..."

Student's part and..." she said. Whereas it is the land that poets dream of."

Freshmen welcomed in 3-Program

The three-day orientation program for the freshmen began on Tuesday, Sept. 12, with the registration of all freshmen. The incoming students were welcomed in the college auditorium with an address by Mary Lou Palmer, who showed the outstanding presentation, "We feel..."

"Godspeed" all the way. When I see him again, I appreciate all it takes to get him back. Until then, "Sincerely."

Dressing up!

Women forecast predicts a small revolution taking place in the college's wardrobe this fall. "We feel," she said, "that the revolution, as they say it, seems to be that "sloppy Joe's," "mellowed saddles," and all other slang terms are the current fads. Since the "casual," "carefree" look of the last fall, when people given the brush, and college girls have taken to DRESSING UP."

First of all, in achieving that well-groomed appearance, let's see to it that our hair is sleek and shining. A good shampoo, "shampoo" and some exercise on Misy Sally Student's part and "loose"..."

A sophisticated bandeau, a colorful flower, or one of those new sliri..."

People need not worry about investing in attrac-..."

Since there is so much talk of politics, campaigns and candi-..."

You might expect to find at the freshies' part and..." she said. Whereas it is the land that poets dream of."

More favorites

Running or playing frisbee are such favorites as the swivvy tafeta with the semi-full skirt and sport or dress and featured in..." she said. Whereas it is the land that poets dream of."

9. "Again, as my first year at school and so forth," she said. Whereas it is the land that poets dream of."

Letter...

(Continued From Page 2) like Johnny, you write and talk almost as if you were speaking sim-..." she said. Whereas it is the land that poets dream of."

"It's a little difficult to say all that is said in such a short time..." he said. Whereas it is the land that poets dream of."

New Lounge

The seniors are really quite thrilled with their new lounge. Every one of them has expressed their gratitude that we have a "fit-in-sit" room. We are now thinking of adding a few more chairs to complete the lounge. If any one can give us any old Wedgwood chairs..." she said. Whereas it is the land that poets dream of."

Lett...
CLUB HIGHLIGHTS

With the current all-oute drive to recruit new members into the staff of campus clubs, presidents of these respective organizations have set forth a well rounded calendar of events for the forthcoming coming. To mention a few of the approaching activities past, present, and future:

The Society club support meeting slated for Nov. 6, will be highlighted by a talk by Mr. George Stimson who is associated with Delta Airlines of this city. Mr. Stixman will point out the opportunities open to college graduates in the field of airline personnel.

Home Economics club officials have great expectations for a one hundred percent delegation at the Southwestern Home Economics Regional meeting at Miami university, Oxford, O., on Nov. 18.

C. B. M. C. members heard the chapter moderator, Fr. Witzman protest the ill-born theory that the missions are financially self-supporting. According to Fr. Witzman, the missions save too much money, with nothing behind it.” Prayers and sacrifices were specified as the chief work for the coming year, with special emphasis given to the negro situations.

The Edgcliff staff (club) has plaged seven editions to its subscribers with the hope that all of this year’s material will be appreciated by the staff and the students as a whole.

The well painted house never grows old.

The well painted house never grows old.

CHAS. J. BARDIG
111 HARRISON AVE
Phone PA. 3122
Point for Contractor, Home and Industry

Compliments of
The Jos. H. Homer Metal Co.

The Junior class wishes to thank the student body for contributing to the success of their theatre party.

Compliments of
A Friend