364-01 Jane Austen: Then and Now

Jodi Wyett
wyett@xavier.edu

Follow this and additional works at: http://www.exhibit.xavier.edu/english_syllabi_spring_2014

Recommended Citation
http://www.exhibit.xavier.edu/english_syllabi_spring_2014/48
English 364
Jane Austen: Then and Now
Spring 2014
SYLLABUS

12:00-12:50 pm MWF        Hailstones Hall 3
Professor: Dr. Jodi L. Wyett        Office: Hinkle 304
E-mail: wyett@xavier.edu        Office Phone: 745-3158
Office Hours: WF, 1:00-2:30 p.m. and by appointment

Required Texts:
Jane Austen, Sense and Sensibility (1811; Oxford World Classics, 2008)
Edited by Margaret Anne Doody, Claire Lamont, and James Kinsley. ISBN: 9780199535576
Jane Austen, Pride and Prejudice (1813; Oxford World Classics, 2008)
Edited by Fiona Stafford and James Kinsley. ISBN: 9780199535569
Jane Austen, Mansfield Park (1814; Oxford World Classics, 2008)
Edited by Jane Stabler and James Kinsley. ISBN: 9780199535538
Edited by George Justice. ISBN: 9780393927641
Jane Austen, Northanger Abbey (1817; Norton, 2004)
Edited by Susan Fraiman. ISBN: 9780393978506
Jane Austen, Persuasion (1817; Oxford World Classics, 2008)
Edited by Deidre Shauna Lynch and James Kinsley. ISBN: 9780199535552
Edited by Edward Copeland and Juliet McMaster. ISBN: 9780521746502

Several other critical readings, indicated on the schedule with an asterisk (*), are available on e-reserve. You can access the e-reserve page from the library website or via the links on our Canvas site. The library e-reserve password for this course is austen all lower case.

Course Description:
This course will explore the historical context and enduring popularity of the works of Jane Austen. We will discuss Austen’s six published novels, some of her juvenilia, five film adaptations, some scholarly criticism, and some other recent adaptations of her work. We will focus on analysis of Austen’s work in relation to the social and cultural conditions of late eighteenth- and early nineteenth-century Britain and its place in the development of the English novel. But we will also consider its continued relevance to our lives. Since the 1995 BBC Pride and Prejudice mini-series, Austenmania has hardly abated. Why do adaptations of her work remain so popular? This course will explore not only the ways in which Austen’s work responds to and reflects the major social issues of her time (the Napoleonic wars, the abolition of the slave trade, gender inequity in property laws and customs, the human costs of maintaining the landed gentry, etc.), but also the ways in which modern adaptations either incorporate or, more often, ignore these themes. We will examine closely how and why many contemporary Austen adaptations whitewash these difficult issues. This class serves as a British Literature elective for English majors and minors, fulfills the university core literature requirement.
(upper-level course required for honors scholars), and serves as an elective for the Gender and Diversity Studies minor.

Student Learning Outcomes/Objectives:

By the end of this course, students should be able to:
- read and write more critically, closely, and effectively;
- present ideas orally;
- conduct and evaluate research in the field;
- understand literature in its historical context;
- analyze and apply current theories (including feminist, queer, Marxist/materialist, and postcolonial);
- connect new approaches to older texts;
- understand film as an art form, crafted by myriad people and cultural forces; and
- think more critically about popular media.

Course Requirements:

Since this course aims to hone and develop your skills for critical reading, writing and speaking, you will do a great deal of each. There will be periodical 1-page analytical quizzes and short close-reading papers due for some of the assignments, particularly the films. Quizzes will be administered at the beginning of class. If you are late for class on a quiz day you will have to work within the allotted time limits for that quiz and may receive a zero. We will also have periodical graded in-class activities that are part of your exercise grade, including a game based on historical context readings and a pop culture artifact presentation. Please note that due to the nature of the quizzes and in-class activities, they cannot be made up under any circumstances.

You will also write a brief critical review (2-3 pp.) of one of the contemporary critical essays we are reading, leading the class discussion of that particular essay with several peers who have also reviewed it. Based on our discussion of Northanger Abbey and our interpretation of its significant themes, you will craft a scene for a film adaptation and analyze it. A research paper proposal with an annotated bibliography is required in preparation for completing a fully documented and researched critical essay (8-10 pp.), due at the end of the semester. Finally, there will be a comprehensive in-class final exam where you will be asked to synthesize your ideas about the texts we have read and viewed.

Film Screenings: You must view each of the films on the schedule before the class period in which we will begin class discussion. We will view many film clips in class, but our class time will be devoted to active discussion, not screenings. I will leave the films on reserve at the library (in building use only). I may also schedule public viewing times prior to our discussion of each film if there is enough demand. You may, of course, rent or download the films if you prefer to watch in the comfort of your own homes!

Attendance and Participation: Class discussions and in-class activities are essential to this course. Thus if you wish to succeed in this class, you need to attend and participate every day. Participation includes not only coming to class but also arriving prepared, on time, and ready to contribute to class discussions and activities. Your contribution will be measured by the “step up/step out” method. That is, you’ll be expected to offer thoughtful comments during discussion (step up), but you should do so without monopolizing the class or blurting out whatever crosses your mind (step out). Also note that for the duration of the class period, you will be expected to disconnect from your personal technology. No phone calls or texts should be coming in or going out during class. Laptops should be stowed unless you have a documentable need for one. Adult comportment is expected of all students.
If you must miss class, consult as soon as possible with a trusted classmate for any notes and announcements. Attendance will also be taken into consideration when calculating participation grades. Sustained habitual absences, defined as missing a week’s worth of consecutive classes, will result in a grade of VF (vanishing failure).

Grading:

You are responsible for your own grade in this course. You must be actively engaged in claiming an education. I cannot help you with problems in this class if you do not tell me what they are. You are encouraged to make individual appointments to see me, to come to my office hours, to call me at my office, to send me e-mail messages, and, of course, to speak up in class! Be aware that e-mail is not an appropriate venue for discussing certain issues and I do not always check my email on the weekends.

I do not accept late assignments or e-mail attachments. Late is defined as anything turned in after the beginning of the class period in which it is due and I must receive a hard copy of your work at that time. Except in the most dire, unavoidable and documentable circumstances, you must have prior approval from me for any late or missed assignments.

Plagiarism, the use of another person’s words or ideas as one’s own (yes, this applies to anything you find on the internet, too), will not be tolerated. It is against the law. If you plagiarize, it will result in, at the very least, failure of this course and may result in further academic discipline from the University. Don’t do it.

Everything will be graded on a 100-point scale (e.g., 80-82=B-, 83-86=B, 87-89=B+). Assignments will be weighted as follows:

- Quizzes, Exercises, Short papers — 15 %
- Analysis of Criticism Essay/Presentation — 15 %
- Screenplay Assignment — 20 %
- Research paper proposal and annotated bibliography — 5 %
- Research paper — 25 %
- Final exam — 10 %
- Class participation — 10 %

Tutoring:

A valuable resource for all students is the Writing Center, 400 Conaton Learning Commons, 745-2875. Tutors can help you on an individual basis with any aspect of your writing at any stage in the writing process. They will not write papers for you nor will they proofread.

Students with Disabilities:

Anyone who feels he/she may need an academic accommodation based on the impact of a disability (e.g.: sensory, learning, psychological, medical, mobility) should contact me to arrange an appointment to discuss your needs as soon as possible. I rely on the Disability Services Office for assistance in verifying your eligibility for academic accommodations related to your disability. If you have not previously contacted Disability Services, I encourage you to do so at 513-745-3280 on the Fifth Floor of the Conaton Learning Commons, Room 514 or e-mail Cassandra Jones at jonesc20@xavier.edu, to coordinate reasonable accommodations.
tentative schedule

all assignments are to be read or completed for the day on which they are listed. any changes to the schedule will be discussed and announced in class.

WEEK I
M 1/13 Introductions. Introduction to the period. FOR TODAY, WATCH: “The Supersizers… Go Regency” (see Canvas “links” or just Google it), and READ Maggie Lane, “Daily Life in Jane Austen’s England,” in the Norton Emma, pp. 346-351. COME TO CLASS PREPARED TO OFFER A FEW THINGS YOU’VE LEARNED ABOUT THE TIME PERIOD DURING WHICH AUSTEN WROTE.
W 1/15 Introduction to period cont. Preface to Cambridge Companion to Jane Austen (CCJA, xi-xii) and Jan Fergus, “The Professional Woman Writer” (CCJA, I-20). We will also consult the “Chronology of Jane Austen’s Life,” CCJA, xv-xxvi, in class.

WEEK II
M 1/20 MLK Day—no class
W 1/22 Sense and Sensibility (novel), Vol. I.
F 1/24 Sense and Sensibility, Vol. II.

WEEK III
M 1/27 Sense and Sensibility, Vol III.
F 1/31 Analyzing Film, cont. (casting, adaptation, scripting—including journey from page to screen). Read script of Emma Thompson’s Sense and Sensibility (1995), focus on the following scenes: from p. 64, “LUCY (low) Dear Miss Dashwood, perhaps now we might have our—discussion,” to p. 67 “ELINOR I give you my word” (more scenes TBA. Don’t print the whole script! Download it and print only the pages we will discuss or just view it on a tablet or computer.).* Watch Emma Thompson’s Golden Globe Award acceptance speech: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=BD_9RyiRe_o
View clips and compare: script to film and Thompson to Davies.

WEEK IV
M 2/3 Eve Kosofsky Sedgwick, “Jane Austen and the Masturbating Girl.”* Presentation:

W 2/5 Group 1: Juliet McMaster, “Class” (CCJA, 111-126), Group 2: Edward Copeland, “Money” (CCJA, 127-143), Group 3: David Selwyn, “Making a Living” (CCJA, 144-158), and Group 4: E. J. Clery, “Gender” (CCJA, 159-175).
F 2/7 In-class activity: House Hunters: Highbury Edition.

WEEK V
M 2/10 Austen, Pride and Prejudice (novel), Vol I.
W 2/12  Pride and Prejudice, Vol II.
F 2/14  Pride and Prejudice, Vol III.

WEEK VI
M 2/17  Devoney Looser, “Feminist Implications of the Silver Screen Austen;”*  Presentation: ____________________________, ____________________________, ____________________________,__________________________.
W 2/19  Discuss multiplicity of P&P adaptations, including scenes from 2005 film, BBC 1995 miniseries, Bridget Jones’s Diary, and film posters from 1940 version.

WEEK VII
M 2/24  Austen, Northanger Abbey (novel), Biographical Notice of the Author, pp. 190-196; and Vol I.
W 2/26  Northanger Abbey, Vol II.

WEEK VIII Spring Break

WEEK IX
M 3/10  Austen, Mansfield Park (novel), Vol I
W 3/12  Mansfield Park, Vol II.

WEEK X
W and F — no class (ASECS conference)

WEEK XI
M 3/24  Misty Anderson, “‘The Different Sorts of Friendship’: Desire in Mansfield Park;”*  Presentation: ____________________________,
W 3/26  Read selections from Austen’s Juvenilia (pp. 197-212 of Norton Northanger Abbey and on e-reserve).*  Discuss Mansfield Park (1999 film).
F 3/28  Gillian Russell, “Sociability” (CCJA, 176-191).  8:30 p.m.: Optional Evening Performance @ Playhouse in the Park: Pride & Prejudice

WEEK XII
W 4/2  Emma, Vol. II.

WEEK XIII
M 4/7 John Mosier, “Clues for the Clueless,”* Presentation: ________________________, W 4/9 Discuss Clueless.

WEEK XIV
M 4/14 Persuasion, Vol. II. Northanger Abbey Screenplay due.
F 4/18 Easter Break — no class

WEEK XVI
M 4/21 Easter Break — no class
W 4/23 Roger Sales, “In Face of All the Servants: Spectators and Spies in Austen”* Presentation:
__________________________, __________________________, __________________________,

WEEK XIV
W 4/30 Pop Culture Artifacts III: Show and Tell.
F 5/2 Exam review, Course evaluations.

Final Exam: 12:00 - 1:50 p.m., Wednesday, May 7