Course Description: This is the fourth semester of a beginning Spanish course for students who have credit in Spanish 201 or have placed in the course by examination after having had three or more years of the language in high school. The principal goals of language study are to practice the four language skills (speaking, listening, reading and writing) in order to learn to communicate in Spanish (talk with others, express ideas in writing, read and understand what others have written) and learn about the Hispanic world. All instruction is in Spanish.

Please note: All students (2 years or more of the language in high school) are required to take a placement test in the language that they took in high school. If a student wishes to start a new language, he/she will start with any language in 101. Students wishing to move down to SPAN 201 will earn elective credit for that level and will fulfill the requirement with SPAN 202, thus honoring the original placement of SPAN 202. In order to change levels the student needs to see the chair of the department or the language coordinator. Please consult with the instructor if you have any other questions regarding placement.

Course Objectives: You can expect to have obtained the following skills in increasing depth upon successful completion of the course:

* You should be able to understand most Spanish spoken at normal pace, and develop skills and coping strategies for filling in the gaps of imperfect comprehension.
* You should be able to ask and answer questions on a variety of everyday topics, describe people and places, narrate recurring (present) events, and express likes and dislikes. You should also be able to achieve some ability in narrating past and future events as well as expressing hypothetical situations in the present and past.
* You should be able to perform many daily routines, such as making phone calls, telling people to do something, giving advice, recommendations, and suggestions.
* You will gain some experience in reading materials written for the heritage reader.
* You should be able to write and express opinions and feelings about different topics, make comparisons, and discuss literary Hispanic authors, artists and short films from Spain and Latin America.
* In order to achieve these goals class attendance and participation are crucial. Therefore, irregular attendance and/or lack of preparation or participation will result in a lower grade. (Please consult the “Attendance Policy” for further details.)

These objectives prepare students to meet standards 2a and 2b of the Xavier University Modern Language standards.

Required Textbooks
This includes the paper textbook, Student Activities Manual and Supersite access code.

This class requires technology access to complete online assignments and assessments, and access study tools, media, your scores, instructor-student communication, and more.

You spend more if you buy your textbook and access code separately, so shop smart! Used books and books bought on other sites DO NOT include the code. Complete packages can only be found at your bookstore or at vistahigherlearning.com/store.

(Before the 1st day of class, we strongly recommend you go to vhlcentral/help/student-startup to learn how to set up and navigate your new Supersite account.)

Responsibilities of Students
* Attend and participate in classes regularly. You will earn a grade for your active participation at each class that includes your preparation (Attendance Policy and Class Participation Criteria are included).
* Listen and complete all activities in the listening section of the Manual; watch the short complete films and the corresponding exercises.
* Complete the additional exercises in the text and in the manual.
* Prepare the assignments before class. The professor may or may not collect homework exercises from the texts or from the workbook/lab manual; in either case, the student is responsible for preparing them as assigned and turning them in a timely manner. Any penalty for late work will be determined by the instructor. Students will have the opportunity to ask questions about all assignments.
* Take all quizzes and exams at scheduled times. Students are responsible for all material covered in class and in the texts, and for schedule changes announced in class.
* Show respect for classmates/instructor by observing appropriate behavior in class: i.e.refrain from interrupting or speaking when classmate/instructor is answering or explaining.
* Electronic devices should be turned off during class or testing. Infractions will be reported to the disciplinary bodies of XU.
* Attend and participate in a specified number of conversation sessions with program language assistants.

Please use the lavatory facilities PRIOR to arriving to class, unless, of course, it is an emergency, as entering and leaving are disruptive and distracting to both the instructor and classmates.
*Please do not start packing up before the end of the official class period as others are trying to hear what the instructor or another classmate is trying to say.
*Please do not participate in side discussions during classroom presentations by the instructor or other students.  It is considered rude and disrespectful, not to mention you may be missing important information that is being conveyed.
*Please schedule your appointments, expected phone calls, flights, etc., around your courses. If a family member or another person is scheduling a flight for you, be sure that person has a copy of your class schedule. If a given class time is not convenient for you, you should either choose another course or time block or adapt to the time you have chosen.
*Please respect the questions and opinions expressed by other students in the class.

In turn, you can expect me to be professional, objective, well prepared, and ready for every single class session. You can expect me to be fully available to meet with you during our office hours and on special appointed times, and to give you implicit and explicit corrective feedback.

This is a multi-section course, taught by several instructors who share the same course requirements, objectives, syllabus and grading criteria. In other words, all the sections of SPAN202 are the same, except for the differences due to the personality of each individual instructor.

Make-up Policy:

Quizzes: There will be no make-ups for quizzes. In cases of verifiable and documented cases of illness and emergency, the quiz after the missed quiz will count twice. If the last quiz is missed due to verifiable and documented illness, then the third quiz grade will count for the final quiz grade.

Exams: There will be no individual make-ups for the midterm of final exams. In verifiable and documented cases of illness or emergency (problems with work schedule or travel plans are typically not valid excuses), the grade from the next test will count twice. If any problem arises, it is the responsibility of the student to notify the instructor as soon as reasonably possible. In no case may a student miss more than one test. A second missed test would be recorded as a 0. There are no make-ups for the final exam.

Compositions: There will be no individual make-ups for compositions. In cases of verifiable and documented cases of illness and emergency, the composition after the missed composition will count twice.

Homework: There will be no individual make-ups for homework assignments. If you will not be present an assignment is due, please make sure you turn the assignment in by class time (by giving it to another student or leaving it for the professor, for example). If you are not present when homework is assigned, please make sure you contact the professor or another student to get the next class day’s assignment.

Testing: There will be four lesson quizzes, a midterm exam, and a final examination on material covered in class. Dates for the quizzes and exams are listed in the syllabus. Quizzes and exams will cover the material assigned in the textbook as well as additional material covered in class. Format will vary but each test will consist of oral and written parts.

Speaking test: The speaking test will occur in one of two formats: A 10-15 minute interview in Spanish with your instructor; or a Voice Board activity. You will be asked to speak on a variety of topics, including those covered in the course. This activity will take place at the end of the semester and your instructor will inform you as to which format will be used. Failure to keep your appointment or complete the voice board activity will result in a 0.

Compositions: As indicated, there will be three compositions over the course of the semester. The instructor will assign a topic one week before the composition is due (out-of-class) or written (in-class) and you will have the opportunity to correct your mistakes and improve your grade. The composition will be evaluated according to the following criteria:
Group Presentations: Throughout the semester there will be oral presentations given in Spanish by pairs of students and based on material covered in the textbook. The presentation will revolve around a central thesis: What do you want to prove/demonstrate with your presentation? Each group should present for a minimum of 10 minutes (maximum of 15) and each student should participate equally. The presentation should introduce new vocabulary, use visual media (such as Power Point), and be as interactive as possible. The instructor will offer grading criteria and additional information on this assignment in class. The grade will be determined as follows: Grammar and grammatical structures (30%), Fluency (20%), Vocabulary (20%), Pronunciation (20%), and Preparation (10%). A list of dates and topics will be distributed by your professor.

Conversation tables: Over the course of the semester, you will be expected to attend conversation tables held during different days and times. For one part of the grade, you will earn a numerical average that will correspond to your attendance. For example, attending 8 out of 8 possible meetings will result in a 100; 7 of 8, an 88; 6 of 8, 75; etc. To receive full credit for your conversation, you must be present for the entire thirty minutes (you will not earn credit if you arrive late to or leave early from your conversation). After the conversation table, on the next class day you must turn in to your professor a summary paragraph—that will be graded—of no less than 150 words, offering details of your conversation. Please type your paragraph out and email it to your instructor or print it out and bring it to class. The final grade for conversation tables will be the average of 1) your attendance at the tables; and 2) the corresponding summary paragraphs.

The summary paragraph must be turned in the class day after meeting at the conversation table and will be evaluated in the following manner:

Principal Idea:

4: The paragraph has a clear and thoughtful topic sentence that refers to the main idea of the question or assigned topic.
3: The topic sentence contains the main idea of the conversation or assigned topic.
2: The topic sentence is relatively clear and addresses the main point fairly well.
1: There is no clear topic sentence.

Content (Body of paragraph):

4: The paragraph contains at least five sentences that support the main idea with reasons, details or facts. The details are well organized, interesting and elaborate on the main topic of the conversation. The conclusion wraps up the paragraph and refers to the main idea without repeating it.
3: The paragraph contains at least five supporting sentences. The details in these sentences elaborate on the main topic fairly well. The conclusion wraps up the paragraph fairly well and refers to the main idea.
2: The paragraph contains a few supporting sentences that support the main idea. The conclusion repeats the

ACADEMIC HONESTY

You should be aware of the University policy on Academic Honesty as it appears in the Web site. This policy applies to all courses in the Department of Modern Languages.

“All work submitted for academic evaluation must be the student’s own. Certainly, the activities of other scholars will influence all students. However, the direct and unattributed use of another’s efforts is prohibited as is the use of any work untruthfully submitted as one’s own.

Penalties for violations of this policy may include one or more of the following: a zero for that assignment or test, an “F” in the course, and expulsion from the University.”

Your instructor may use plagiarism detecting software, such as Turn-It-In, to review your written assignments. Help on specific homework from a tutor is also considered a violation since your work is yours not the tutor’s; tutors can help with general questions and grammatical problems; they are not to correct work that is going to be submitted for a grade. Copying homework from a classmate, copying from internet sources including translation services, will be considered violations. As you can see, penalties for violations can be severe, so you are encouraged to submit only your own work in all your classes.

DEPARTMENT OF MODERN LANGUAGES ATTENDANCE POLICY

The Department of Modern Languages at Xavier University strives to increase the student's fluency and competency in listening, comprehension, speaking, reading, and writing while providing a solid grammatical background for the modern language offered. The focus is on a communicative and proficiency-based approach while providing an in depth exposure to the workings of both language and culture of the target language. A significant key to success in a modern language course which teaches a skill and moves at a fast pace is regular class attendance.

The entire range of the students’ skills can be evaluated only if they are in class. Therefore, we will allow no absences without penalty. Any absence will result in a loss of 3% per absence from the student’s final course participation grade. Attendance will be accurately documented to ensure fairness in enforcement. If a student is more than 5 minutes late, he/she will be counted as absent. If you have a long distance to walk immediately before our class, please let the professor know. Students are strongly discouraged to schedule appointments or interviews during class time.

There is a strict no make-up policy. A grade of zero will be given for any missed work.
