Prospectus.

This institution, known at present as St. Xavier College, was established October 17, 1831, by the Right Rev. Edward D. Fenwick, D.D., first Bishop of Cincinnati, under the name of the "Athenæum." In the year 1840 it was transferred, by the Most Reverend Archbishop J. B. Purcell, D.D., to the Fathers of the Society of Jesus, who have conducted it ever since under the title first mentioned. It was incorporated by the General Assembly of the State in 1842. In 1869 an act was passed which secures to the institution a perpetual charter and all the privileges usually granted to universities.

The course of study embraces the Doctrine and Evidences of the Catholic Religion, Logic, Metaphysics, Ethics, Astronomy, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Mathematics, Rhetoric, Composition, Elocution, History, Geography, Arithmetic, Penmanship, Book-keeping, Actual Business, Commercial Law, the Latin, Greek, English, German and French languages. The College is provided with suitable Philosophical Apparatus, and possesses a valuable collection of Mineralogical and Geological specimens. In the department of Chemistry extensive improvements have been made, both in point of a large stock of apparatus, and of excellent facilities for work. The new Laboratory is supplied with every requisite appliance. Each of the forty desks is fitted with drawers and lockers, separate drainage and water supply, and gas for both heating and illuminating purposes. This Laboratory is used by students in Qualitative Analysis and General Chemistry; a Laboratory Course in the latter being required in addition to the regular lecture and daily repetition.

The Library numbers about 16,000 volumes. There are also select libraries for the use of the students.

General Regulations.

The Academic Year consists of one session, beginning on the first Monday of September, and ending in the last week in June, when the Annual Commencement, the Conferring of Degrees and the Distribution of Premiums take place.

The session is divided into two terms—the first ending on the first of January and the second in the last week of June. A thorough examination of all the classes is made at the close of the second term. There are four competitions during the course of the year—the first in October, the second in December, the third in February and the fourth toward the end of April. The first, second and third competitions are followed by distribution of premiums. The places or degrees of merit obtained by the students in the different classes are publicly proclaimed, and honors are awarded to such as have been most distinguished for good conduct, diligence and proficiency.

On completion of the Classical Course, the degree of A.B. is conferred upon those who, on examination, are found deserving of that distinction. Subsequently the degree of A.M. can be obtained by devoting a second year to the study of Philosophy in the institution, or two years to a learned profession. Students of the Commercial Course receive an honorary certificate on completion of the course.

Every candidate for admission who is not personally acquainted with some member of the Faculty, must produce proper testimonials of a good moral character. If he comes from another College, he will be required to present a certificate of good standing in the institution which he has left.

Quarterly reports are sent to the parents or guardians of the students, to inform them of the conduct and improvement of their sons or wards.

Punctual attendance is earnestly recommended. Parents are regularly informed of the non-attendance of their sons. In case of absence, a note assigning a sufficient reason must be brought to the Prefect of Discipline.
In order that the lessons may be prepared with proper assiduity, parents are requested to insist on their sons studying at home for two or three hours every evening. When students are to be withdrawn from the institution, due notice should be given to the President.

The College is open every morning at half-past seven o'clock. Those who come before the time of class proceed at once to the Study Hall, and devote the interval to private study. All are required to be present five minutes before half-past eight o'clock, at which hour the Catholic students hear Mass. At nine o'clock the regular exercises of class commence, closing at three o'clock.

For the maintenance of order and discipline, strict obedience, assiduous application and blameless conduct are required of every student. Any serious fault regarding these essential points renders the offender liable to effective correction, and even to dismissal, if it be deemed necessary by the Faculty.

None are received as boarders in the College.

Terms.

As the institution is not endowed, it is entirely dependent for its support on the fees paid for tuition.

Tuition, per session of ten months, for all classes, $60.00.

Students of Chemistry and Natural Philosophy, for the use of the apparatus, pay $10.00 per session.

Diplomas for Graduates in the Classical Course, $5.00.

Certificates for the completion of the Commercial Course, $5.00.

Payments must be made quarterly or semi-annually in advance. The account for tuition dates from the day of the student's entrance. No deduction is allowed for absence, save in case of dismissal or protracted illness. The session is divided into quarters, beginning respectively about the 1st of September, the 15th of November, the 1st of February and the 15th of April.

Courses of Instruction.

There are two Courses of Instruction, the Classical and the Commercial.

I. THE CLASSICAL COURSE.

The Classical Course is designed to impart a thorough liberal education. In the accomplishment of this purpose, the Ancient Classics hold the first place as the most efficient instrument of mental discipline. Besides Latin, Greek and English, the Course embraces Religious Instruction, Mental and Moral Philosophy, Astronomy and Mathematics, History, Literature, the Natural Sciences—in a word, all the usual branches of a complete education. It has been found, by long experience, that this is the only Course that fully develops all the faculties, forms a correct taste, teaches the student how to use all his powers to the best advantage, and prepares him to excel in any pursuit, whether professional or commercial.

The Course is divided into two departments—Collegiate and Academic.

Collegiate Department.

CLASS OF PHILOSOPHY.

The object of this class is to form the mind to habits of correct reasoning, and to impart sound principles of mental and moral philosophy.

French and German.

The study of French or German is optional in either course. Instruction in these languages is given without extra charge.
Post-Graduate Course.

At the earnest and repeated request of many former students, a Post-Graduate course of Philosophy and Literature was begun in this College in November, 1896.

The attendance during the past four years has been more than encouraging, and there is every reason to hope that it will so continue.

The primary object of the lectures is to enable our own graduates to continue their philosophical and literary studies. Hence, when other supplementary subjects are introduced, they are treated not in the spirit of a technical training school for specialists, but on broad general lines suited to thoroughly educated men whatever their profession may be.

Attendance is not restricted to those who have received the Bachelor's degree or who are candidates for higher honors; any gentleman will be admitted who can give satisfactory proofs of his ability to follow the lectures with interest and profit. A number of professional and business men have taken advantage of this provision to make a thorough study of the leading questions in rational philosophy and sociology.

The course is completed in three years; but the Faculty has made such arrangements that any one who wishes to pursue a particular study for a longer time may find ample opportunities.

The usual degrees are conferred, but only on the strictest conditions. Regular attendance, a written or oral examination, and an original thesis are required in every case. No honorary degrees in Philosophy, Literature or Science are given. However, a certificate will be granted, at the end of the three years, to gentlemen who have not made the full preliminary college course but who have been faithful in attendance, have submitted a thesis and have passed a satisfactory examination.

The subjects chosen for theses should be submitted for approval to the Faculty not later than December 31st: the theses should be handed in before April 1st. The examinations will be held about the middle of April.

The courses offered for the scholastic year 1899-1900 were:

Faithful attendance at the lectures in at least one of the principal courses is expected even from those who are not candidates for degrees.

Evenings will be set apart for "scholastic circles’; and from time to time there will be lectures on special topics, to which members may invite a limited number of friends.

The regular lectures are given on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays, at 7 p. m., in the hall which has been fitted up especially for the purpose.

No one will be admitted to any of the regular lectures without a ticket signed by the Treasurer.

Terms: Season tickets for the entire course, $10.00; Diplomas, $5.00; Certificates, $5.00.

THE STUDENTS' LIBRARY.

The Students' Library, established in 1848, is an indispensable aid to the Faculty, in carrying out their programme of collegiate training and instruction. The necessity of wide and sympathetic reading in the best authors is obvious, if culture is to be broad, and attainment varied. In particular, the teaching of literature is not by precepts alone, but, in large measure, by that manner of practical instruction which consists in bringing the student's mind into intelligent contact with the best examples of literary thought and form.

The Library is free to all students of the College whose standing in their respective classes gives satisfaction. It is well stocked with select works in the various departments of English literature and is provided with an elaborate card catalogue, based on the decimal system of classification.

In connection with the Students' Library, though with a distinct organization, is the Students' Reading Room, the object of which is to offer those resorting to it, special opportunities for reading and study. A numerous collection of works of reference, and a stock of journals, magazines, etc., representative of the best periodical literature of the day, are daily at the service of the members.

THE GYMNASIUM.

Believing that for a student a sound body is necessary to a sound mind, the Faculty, in planning the new building, provided an ample gymnasium. It has been thoroughly equipped. To prevent the danger arising from imprudent exercise, and to afford an opportunity for systematic, scientific and physical, as well as mental development, a competent instructor has been secured.

Disputation in Philosophy,
BY MEMBERS OF THE CLASS OF 1900,
Wednesday, April 25, 1900.

PSYCHOLOGY.

Introduction .................................................. Paul F. Cassidy.

THESSES.

1. The vital principle or brute soul in animals is one in act or essence, but manifold in virtue.
2. Animals have no intelligence.
3. The human soul is a simple, spiritual substance.
4. Matter is essentially incapable of thought.
5. From the union of soul and body in man there arises one composite nature and one person.
6. The soul is the substantial form of the body.
7. The human soul possesses intrinsic and extrinsic immortality.
8. The desire of perfect happiness implanted in man's nature is another proof that the soul is immortal.

Defendant: Thomas D. Cooney.
Objectors: P. Elmar Becker, William J. Ryan.

Essay—“Animal Intelligence,” ..................................... Clarence J. Rattermann.

ETHICS.

THESSES.

1. No created object but only God, the Supreme Good, can be man's ultimate objective end.
2. There can be no morality in a system which admits atheism, pantheism or materialism.
3. Neither private nor public utility can be the rule or criterion of morality.
4. The proximate rule of morality is man's rational nature considered in all its essential relations. The ultimate criterion is found in God—that is, the divine essence as the source of all order and goodness.
5. The morality of every act in the concrete is determined by the object, the end and the circumstances.
6. There is a Natural Law.
7. The Natural Law considered in itself is absolutely unchangeable; and in its more general precepts it cannot for any length of time be invincibly unknown to anyone who has attained the full use of reason.
8. There is an adequate or perfect sanction of the Natural Law, not in this life, but in the next.

Defendant: L. Gustave Bouscaren.
Objectors: John F. Nealan, George A. Nees.
Examination of Philosophy Class.

Philosophy.

FIRST TERM.

THESES IN APPLIED LOGIC, ONTOLOGY AND COSMOLOGY.

1. Truth in general can be described as conformity of mind and thing, or equation of object and intellect.
2. There is truth in simple apprehension, but only imperfectly and implicitly; truth in the fullest sense is found in judgment.
3. Certitude, considered objectively, admits of different species, viz., metaphysical, physical and moral; but, considered formally, certitude is one and indivisible.
4. Certitude may admit of degrees, not in the exclusion of doubt, but in the firmness of assent.
5. Universal skepticism, as an internal fact or as a system of doctrine, is absurd.
6. There are some truths that must be admitted without demonstration because they are immediately evident.
7. In every demonstration and in every process of thought these three things are implied and admitted, viz., the first fact, the first principle and the first condition.
8. The testimony of the external senses about their own proper objects, under the requisite conditions, is free from error.
9. The testimony of the internal sense about its own proper object, under the requisite conditions, is free from error.
10. The intellect in its immediate judgments, whether a priori or a posteriori, is free from error.
11. Reasoning, which is materially true and formally correct, is free from error.
12. Consciousness, as to its own proper object, is free from error.
13. There must be an ultimate, supreme and universal criterion of truth.
14. The ultimate criterion of truth is objective evidence.
15. Human testimony can give us certainty in some cases concerning contemporary and past events.
16. The term being, in general, is not univocal nor equivocal, but analogous with the analogy of intrinsic attribution.
17. The idea of being in general is very different from the idea of infinite being.
18. The principle of contradiction is rightly called the first principle.
19. We know the essences of some things.
20. The essences of things are, in a certain sense, immutable, absolute, necessary and eternal.
21. Intrinsic possibility of things does not depend formally on the divine power nor on the divine will, but immediately on the divine intellect and remotely on the divine essence.
22. Every being is one, true, good.
23. Truth considered objectively is necessary, absolute and immutable.
24. The concept of substance represents something real, and is not a fiction of the mind nor a mere collection of qualities.
25. The principle of sufficient reason is absolutely certain; that of causality is analytic as well as certain.
26. The origin of the world can not be explained by the theory of materialism, nor by that of pantheism.
27. The world could come into existence only by creation.
28. The primary end of creation is the extrinsic glory of God.
29. This world is not absolutely but only relatively the best possible world.
30. Miracles are possible and can be distinguished from the works of any created agent.

SECOND TERM.

THESES IN PSYCHOLOGY AND NATURAL THEOLOGY.

1. The human soul is a spiritual substance.
2. Matter is essentially incapable of thought.
3. From the union of soul and body there arises one composite nature and one person.
4. The soul is the substantial form of the body.
5. The human soul is both intrinsically and extrinsically immortal.
6. The human soul is free with the freedom of choice or of active indifference.
7. The origin of ideas is correctly explained by the scholastic system.
8. Our mind has universal ideas or concepts. Hence nominalism is false.
9. The direct universal exists in the object, but not in the manner in which the mind apprehends it. Hence conceptualism is false.
10. The reflex universal exists in the mind formally; in the object fundamentally or potentially. Hence exaggerated realism is false.
11. The existence of a Supreme Being [God] can be proved: (a) From the existence of contingent beings in the universe; (b) by the order of the universe; (c) by the common belief and conviction of mankind, represented by the most enlightened peoples and classes of the human race.
12. God is infinitely perfect.
13. God is ONE, SIMPLE, IMMUTABLE, ETERNAL.
14. God knows all things, including future free acts of man, whether absolutely or conditionally future.
15. God wills and loves His own infinite goodness necessarily, but all other things freely.
16. Physical evil is not intended for its own sake, as an end; but God can intend it or permit it as a means to some good end.
17. Moral evil is never intended by God; but the negative permission of moral evil is not opposed to the divine attributes.
18. Conservation is continued creation; to continue in existence creatures need the constant influence of the divine power.
19. God immediately concurs with each and every act of secondary causes.
20. God's Providence extends to all things in the universe.

THESIS IN MORAL PHILOSOPHY.

1. No created object, but only God the uncreated, can be man's ultimate objective end.
2. There is an intrinsic difference between moral good and moral evil.
3. The morality of an act does not depend on the opinion of men, on the laws of the State, on public or private utility, but on the essential order of things and man's relations therein.
4. There can be no morality in a system which admits atheism, pantheism or materialism.
5. The morality of an act is determined by the object, the end and the circumstances.
6. There is a natural law.
7. The natural law, considered in itself, is absolutely unchangeable; and in its more general principles it can not be invincibly unknown to anyone who attains the full use of reason.
8. There is an adequate or perfect sanction of the natural law, not in this life, but in the next.
9. Only a rational and free being can be the subject of right and duty; and these terms are correlative.
10. Man is bound to worship God with internal and external worship.
11. Should God reveal a religion, man would be bound to accept it; and therefore indifferently in regard to religion is wholly wrong.
12. Suicide is a grievous crime.
13. Lying is intrinsically evil.
14. Duelling is unlawful.
15. Homicide is a crime against the Natural Law.
16. The right of permanent ownership is derived from the law of nature.
17. Authority is essential to every society.
18. The social state is natural to man.
19. Domestic or conjugal society was instituted by God, the Author of nature.
20. The matrimonial bond is intended by the law of nature to be perpetual; hence divorce is unlawful.
21. Marriage is not a civil but a natural contract; hence in its nature and its principal rights it is independent of the State.
22. The education of children belongs by strict right to the parents, not to the State.
23. The most important element of education is religion; and to exclude it (religion) violates the rights of God, of parents and of children.
24. Civil society is natural to man.
25. Rousseau's 'Social Contract' is fictitious, illogical, absurd.
26. Authority, essential to every society, is from God.

EVIDENCES OF RELIGION.

THE PLAN OF SALVATION AS REALIZED IN INDIVIDUALS.

1. The plan of salvation is realized by the actual application of the fruits of the Redemption to individuals.

GRACE.

1. Grace is a supernatural aid or gift, and may be either actual or habitual.
2. Actual grace is necessary to everything that is profitable for our eternal salvation.
3. It is necessary also for the just (1) to perform supernatural works, (2) to observe the moral law and overcome grievous temptations; while (3) final perseverance requires a special grace, and (4) the preservation from all venial sins is an extraordinary privilege.
4. God gives sufficient grace to all men.
5. While grace can be rendered inefficacious by man's free will, the efficacy of grace does not impair the freedom of the human will.
6. By habitual or sanctifying grace internal justification and regeneration, together with the divine virtues of faith, hope and charity, and the Holy Ghost Himself, the author of grace, are communicated to the soul.
7. Sanctifying grace is lost by every grievous sin; it is preserved and increased by good works.
8. Good works are, under certain conditions, truly meritorious.

THE SACRAMENTS AS MEANS OF GRACE.

I. THE SACRAMENTS IN GENERAL.

1. A sacrament is an outward sign by which grace is communicated to the soul, instituted by Jesus Christ, and consisting of two elements—matter and form.
2. The sacraments are productive of two kinds of grace—sanctifying and sacramental—and that by their own inherent virtue (ex opere operato).
3. On the part of the recipient of the sacraments certain conditions or dispositions are necessary in order that the reception may be valid, and due preparation that it may be fruitful.
4. On the part of the minister of the sacraments certain conditions are necessary in order that their administration may be valid and licit.
5. Christ instituted seven sacraments.

II. THE SACRAMENTS IN PARTICULAR.

BAPTISM.
1. Baptism, a sacrament of the New Law, cancels both original and actual sin; together with the eternal and temporal punishment due to them; it confers supernatural life on the soul, makes us members of Christ and of His Church, and gives us a pledge of grace in this life and of glory in the next.
2. Baptism is necessary as an ordinary means of salvation for all, even for infants.
3. While the ordinary minister of baptism is a bishop or priest, and the extraordinary a deacon, any one, whether male or female, can validly, though not always licitly, baptize.

CONFIRMATION.
1. The divine institution of the Sacrament of Confirmation is proved from Scripture and tradition.
2. The imposition of hands and anointing with chrism, accompanied by suitable words, constitute the matter and form, or complete sign, of confirmation.
3. The ordinary minister of confirmation is the bishop; by papal delegation, however, a priest may become its extraordinary minister.
4. Everyone who is baptized can receive confirmation validly; to receive it worthily, however, the state of grace is required.

DIFFERENTIAL CALCULUS.

FIRST TERM.
1. The Equation of Increments.
2. The Different Kinds of Functions.
3. The Four Fundamental Rules for finding Differential Coefficients:
   (a) The Differential Coefficient of a Linear Function.
   (b) The Differential Coefficient of a Polynomial Function.
   (c) The Differential Coefficient of any Logarithm of a Function.
   (d) The Differential Coefficient of the Sine of a Function.
4. The Derived Rules for finding Differential Coefficients.
5. The Theory of Maxima and Minima values of a Function.
6. The Deduction of Taylor's Formula and Maclaurin's Formula, from the expansion of the Equation of Increments, and from the Theory of Maxima and Minima.

7. The Development of Functions in Infinite series.
8. Application of the Calculus to the Solution of Problems in continuous quantity.

ASTRONOMY.

SECOND TERM.
1. The Celestial Sphere; definitions and general considerations.
2. Corrections to Astronomical Observations: The Dip of the Horizon; Parallax; Semi-Diameter; Refraction; Twilight.
3. The Determination of Latitude, of Time, of Longitude, of Azimuth, and of the Apparent Right Ascension and Declination of a Heavenly Body; the Time of Sunrise or Sunset.
4. The Earth: The Approximate Determination of its Dimensions and Form; Proofs of its Rotation; Accurate Determination of its Dimensions by Geodetic Surveys and Pendulum Observations; Determination of its Mass and Density.
5. The Earth's Orbital Motion.
6. The Moon: Her Orbital Motion, Distance and Dimensions; Rotation and Librations; Phases; Light and Heat; Influence exerted on the Earth; Surface Structure.
7. The Sun: Distance and Dimensions; Rotation; General Views as to Constitution; the Chromosphere and Prominences; Corona.
8. Eclipses: Form and Dimensions of Shadows; Lunar Eclipses; Solar Eclipses, Total, Annular and Partial; Ecliptic Limits, and number of Eclipses in a year; the Saros; Occultations.
9. Comets: Their Number, Motions and Orbits; their Constituent Parts and Appearance; their Spectra, Physical Constitution, and Probable Origin.
10. Meteors: Aerolites, their Fall and Physical Characteristics; Shooting Stars and Meteoric Showers; Connection between Meteors and Comets.
11. The Stars: Their Nature and Number; the Constellations.
