NFCCS To Conduct Workshop For Cincinnati Region Dec. 1

Louisville To Be Scene Of Fourth Meeting

Learning For Leadership will be the theme of the Fourth Cincinnati Regional Workshop of the NFCCS, to be held Saturday, Dec. 1, at Ursuline College, Louisville, Ky.

The purpose of the workshop is to acquaint the campus community with the projects and ideas of other club members throughout the region. Panel sessions which will emphasize the theme of the workshop, will include noted speakers, student panels and discussion periods. Tentative plans include a dance on Saturday evening.

Further details as to housing and transportation will be announced in the near future.

New Teachers Introduced

With mid term examinations just around the corner, new faculty members are already familiar faces to Edgecliff students. Sister Mary Frances, Dr. Flor- ence H. Bush, and Mr. Wal- then are well into their first semester as Edgecliff professors.

Doctor Hornbeck received her B.S. in Education from Xavier University; her M.A. at Columbia University Teachers College, with specialization in adult education, and her Ph.D. at New York University. Her background in sociol- ogy includes not only teaching experience, but also social casework.

Dr. has been associated with the Cincinnati Department of Pub- lic Welfare and served as director of Child Welfare in the diocese of Grand Rapids and the Cincinnati Catholic Charities.

She received her diploma from the National Catholic School of Social Service in 1941 and has been a director of Child Welfare at Cincin- nati Xavier and Xavier Univer- sity, New Orleans. In addi- tion, she is a lawyer and author of several books, pamphlets and articles.

A native of Chicago, Mr. Wal- then, history department, obtained his bachelor's degree at Xavier University in 1930. He re- ceived his master's at Xavier in 1931, having specialized in diplo- macy.

Since January Mr. Whalen has been working on his doctorate at the Graduate School in Cincinnati. He served as a student teacher at Purdue University, and was an instructor at Xavier on a teach- ing fellowship, last year.

Sister of the Sacred Heart and Spanish, who is the Spanish department's new member, obtained her bachelor's degree in education at the Athenaeum, M.A. from Xavier University and has done graduate work at Catholic Uni- versity.

In addition to teaching ele- mentary and intermediate Span- ish, Sister also teaches Spanish Modern Novel.

Irish Envoy Greeted

With mid term examinations just around the corner, new faculty members are already familiar faces to Edgecliff students. Sister Mary Frances, Dr. Florence H. Bush, and Mr. Walthen are well into their first semester as Edgecliff professors.

Doctor Hornbeck received her B.S. in Education from Xavier University; her M.A. at Columbia University Teachers College, with specialization in adult education, and her Ph.D. at New York University. Her background in sociol- ogy includes not only teaching experience, but also social casework.

Dr. has been associated with the Cincinnati Department of Pub- lic Welfare and served as director of Child Welfare in the diocese of Grand Rapids and the Cincinnati Catholic Charities.

She received her diploma from the National Catholic School of Social Service in 1941 and has been a director of Child Welfare at Cincin- nati Xavier and Xavier Univer- sity, New Orleans. In addi- tion, she is a lawyer and author of several books, pamphlets and articles.

A native of Chicago, Mr. Wal- then, history department, obtained his bachelor's degree at Xavier University in 1930. He re- ceived his master's at Xavier in 1931, having specialized in diplo- macy.

Since January Mr. Whalen has been working on his doctorate at the Graduate School in Cincinnati. He served as a student teacher at Purdue University, and was an instructor at Xavier on a teach- ing fellowship, last year.

Sister of the Sacred Heart and Spanish, who is the Spanish department's new member, obtained her bachelor's degree in education at the Athenaeum, M.A. from Xavier University and has done graduate work at Catholic Uni- versity.

In addition to teaching ele- mentary and intermediate Span- ish, Sister also teaches Spanish Modern Novel.

Irish Envoy Greeted

Ambassador Hearne is shown clasping with Jo Ann Doppes and Mary Noye, co-editors of The Edgecliff.

John J. Hearne, Ambassador From Eire, Visits Campus

The first Irish ambassador to the United States, John J. Hearne, visited Edgecliff Oct. 20.

Small in stature but tall in ideals, Ambassador Hearne is called the "architect and drafter- man of the Irish Constitution" because of the important role which he played when it was being drafted in 1897.

In a few words he presented a picture of the Irish place in Western civilization. He empha- sized that the spirit of political freedom has its beginnings in Western Europe.

"The chief explanation of this great country of yours can be found in the heart and soul of your world. The Irish are the descendents of the Irish." said he.

Expressing his hope for a strong and unified Ireland, the ambassador declared, "Ireland will stand on guard again, as a Western European nation, secure within her frontiers, her whole people gathered and guided once more within their ancient citadel. She will be free to go forward confidently into the future with those other nations, some of whom are co-founders, like her, and all of whom, like her, are co-sharers of the culture and co-keepers of the conscience of the West."

Ambassador Hearne was in Cincinnati to accept an honor- ary degree from Xavier University and was guest of honor and principal speaker at a dinner sponsored by various Irish so- cieties of the city.

Don't forget... to save your cancelled tax stamps. A box in the office of the dean is ready to receive them.

National Youth Federation And Council

The National Council of Catho- lic Youth and the National Fed- eration of Diocesan Catholic Youth Councils are two new or- ganizations formed at the 10th Annual Youth Convention held from Oct. 11 to 14 at the Sheraton- Cincinnati Hotel.

The original purpose of the convention and formation of the National Council of Catholic Youth which would unite all the Catholic youth in the United States through the diocesan or- ganization in the various National Diocesan Councils, the National Fed- eration of Catholic College Stu- dents and the Newman Club Federation. But it was realized during the proceedings that the diocesan organizations were not or- ganized nationally and were not on an equal footing with the suc- ce ssfully functioning NFCCS and the Newman Club Federation.

Thus the convention had first to form a national organization for the diocesan youth activities. And it was the adoption of the constitution of the National Federation of Diocesan Catholic Youth Coun- cils, and the election of its officers which accomplished this. Immediately afterward, the National Council of Catholic Youth was organized.

NPDCYC

The National Federation of Dio- cesan Catholic Youth Councils is the national organization of all the diocesan youth groups and activities, such as CYO, Boy Scouts, Girls Scouts, Daughters of Isabella, etc.

One of the purposes of the new organization is the promotion of the Diocesan Council Plan, which is very active and successful in the East, Pennsylvania, Northern Ohio, the Southwest and other parts of the country. The Council Plan promotes the formation and development of youth activities and groups, and integrates them, forming a counsel of representa- tives from the various parishes and organizations.

The organizational set-up is similar to that of NFCCS. Dele- gates are elected from each diocese, and along with the dele- gates from the Newman Clubs and organizations which are included in a given area, which is called a re- gion, form a Regional council. Regional officers will be elected. The national officers will be elected.

(Continued on Page 3)

Dr. Mc coy Addresses Assembly

Dr. Raymond T. McCoy, dean of the graduate at Xavier univer- sity, will be the main speaker at the student assembly Oct. 31. The theme of the assembly on world affairs, will speak on "The War in the World." A principal figure in the United Nations In- stitute several years ago, Dr. Mc- coy is a graduate of the college faculty and students.

He also is the only member of in- formative and interesting address which he presented before the United Nations, its functions and capabilities.
Want To Be An Airline Stewardess? Joan Helmers, 31, Tells How It's Done

Joan Helmers, class of '31, loves her job as a stewardess for American Airlines. She is now working on a regular run out of La Guardia field, New York, flying in DC-3's and Convair Flagships.

Joan attended American Airline's Training Center at Chicago Municipal Airport, where she and 35 other girls were instructed in the fundamentals of the job, including flight operations, airline schedule, and various other necessary details.

At her recent visit to Our Lady of Cincinnati College, Joan was nearly overwhlemed with all the questions that the girls fired at her.

Information

Because it is evident that there is an interest in careers as stewardesses at the college, the Edgecliff offers the following information in regard to the duties and qualifications of stewardesses.

This is the first of an information series that the Edgecliff will run about interesting and unique aspects of careers.

If you're a girl who likes travel, working with people, and holding responsible positions, you probably are interested in a stewardess' life.

But it must be said that you must be single, twenty and especially your personal qualifications. A stewardess, especially your personal qualifications, is not well equipped for a career as a stewardess, needs to be interested in a stewardess career, and is eager to undertake the responsibilities and opportunities that are a part of her job.

Many of us may have experienced a time when we were involved in something that was relatively easy and fun, but in a crowded front-lines hospital receiving a blood transfusion.

The subject we must be interested in is the subject we are interested in. The subject we must be interested in is the subject we are interested in. The subject we must be interested in is the subject we are interested in. The subject we must be interested in is the subject we are interested in. The subject we must be interested in is the subject we are interested in.

Before college life and habits get too involved in anything that will make that interesting, it is best to get it enough to join it, you'll want to take part in its programs and enjoy the social relations associated with it. But don't get carried away. By all means, enjoy the job, but don't make the clubs and activities an aid and not a detriment to your college career.

A Word

Before college life and habits get too involved in anything that will make that job interesting, it is best to get it enough to join it, you'll want to take part in its programs and enjoy the social relations associated with it. But don't get carried away. By all means, enjoy the job, but don't make the clubs and activities an aid and not a detriment to your college career.

For The Boys

Most of us remember when, a few short years ago, we were besieged at every corner by signs proclaiming “Give Your Blood For Our Boys” and an accompanying picture of a wounded soldier who wrote to his mother: “Mom, it may be all we have before long.”

We were, in fact, miserably unable to express our feelings. But we can express ourselves completely without making that interest in the subject we are interested in. There is also an abridged column of this sort, is the writer's standard of judgment. It is not always easy to make use of these points in mind that a review cannot be completely objective — personal opinions may have to be involved in anything that will make that job interesting, it is best to get it enough to join it, you'll want to take part in its programs and enjoy the social relations associated with it. But don't get carried away. By all means, enjoy the job, but don't make the clubs and activities an aid and not a detriment to your college career.

Most of us remember when, a few short years ago, we were besieged at every corner by signs proclaiming “Give Your Blood For Our Boys” and an accompanying picture of a wounded soldier who wrote to his mother: “Mom, it may be all we have before long.”

We were, in fact, miserably unable to express our feelings. But we can express ourselves completely without making that interest in the subject we are interested in. There is also an abridged column of this sort, is the writer's standard of judgment. It is not always easy to make use of these points in mind that a review cannot be completely objective — personal opinions may have to be involved in anything that will make that job interesting, it is best to get it enough to join it, you'll want to take part in its programs and enjoy the social relations associated with it. But don't get carried away. By all means, enjoy the job, but don't make the clubs and activities an aid and not a detriment to your college career.

To Freshmen

familiarity we seem to ignore it. But we're not too young now. Many of us have reached the age of twenty-one and with it automatic and, we believe, legal removal of the burden of citizens. This, we believe, is one of them.

The so-called blood warehouses of the United States are not, of course, because of the lax attitude of most of the people. Yet an act of mercy such as this would take us an hour of our time.

Hamilton County has quota to fill of twenty-seven thousand pints of blood for this year alone.

Why don't we help?

One of the nicest things to any boy, especially your personal qualifications, is not well equipped for a career as a stewardess, needs to be interested in a stewardess career, and is eager to undertake the responsibilities and opportunities that are a part of her job.

For those who know and love Wolfe, his return to New York will prove a wonderful opportun­ity to become better acquainted with Wolfe the man and creative artist. His letters are filled with the love and love of America that gave such enormous power to his fiction.

Through his letters the reader follows Wolfe from his college days to his trips abroad and his eventual rise to fame as a writer. The letters also reveal the external workings of Wolfe's development when Wolfe has an under exterior bluster. His last letter takes us a few days of his tragic death.

The introduction, John Terry presents an intimate portrait of Wolfe and his mother as he knew her, and we are given an idea of how they were related.

The principle weak point of the book is that it contains all of Wolfe's letters and is a fine portrait of one of the finest American writers of the Century.

This is the first of an information series that the Edgecliff will run about interesting and unique aspects of careers.

If you're a girl who likes travel, working with people, and holding responsible positions, you probably are interested in a stewardess' life.

But it must be said that you must be single, twenty and especially your personal qualifications. A stewardess, especially your personal qualifications, is not well equipped for a career as a stewardess, needs to be interested in a stewardess career, and is eager to undertake the responsibilities and opportunities that are a part of her job.

Most of us remember when, a few short years ago, we were besieged at every corner by signs proclaiming “Give Your Blood For Our Boys” and an accompanying picture of a wounded soldier who wrote to his mother: “Mom, it may be all we have before long.”

We were, in fact, miserably unable to express our feelings. But we can express ourselves completely without making that interest in the subject we are interested in. There is also an abridged column of this sort, is the writer's standard of judgment. It is not always easy to make use of these points in mind that a review cannot be completely objective — personal opinions may have to be involved in anything that will make that job interesting, it is best to get it enough to join it, you'll want to take part in its programs and enjoy the social relations associated with it. But don't get carried away. By all means, enjoy the job, but don't make the clubs and activities an aid and not a detriment to your college career.

Most of us remember when, a few short years ago, we were besieged at every corner by signs proclaiming “Give Your Blood For Our Boys” and an accompanying picture of a wounded soldier who wrote to his mother: “Mom, it may be all we have before long.”

We were, in fact, miserably unable to express our feelings. But we can express ourselves completely without making that interest in the subject we are interested in. There is also an abridged column of this sort, is the writer's standard of judgment. It is not always easy to make use of these points in mind that a review cannot be completely objective — personal opinions may have to be involved in anything that will make that job interesting, it is best to get it enough to join it, you'll want to take part in its programs and enjoy the social relations associated with it. But don't get carried away. By all means, enjoy the job, but don't make the clubs and activities an aid and not a detriment to your college career.

Most of us remember when, a few short years ago, we were besieged at every corner by signs proclaiming “Give Your Blood For Our Boys” and an accompanying picture of a wounded soldier who wrote to his mother: “Mom, it may be all we have before long.”

We were, in fact, miserably unable to express our feelings. But we can express ourselves completely without making that interest in the subject we are interested in. There is also an abridged column of this sort, is the writer's standard of judgment. It is not always easy to make use of these points in mind that a review cannot be completely objective — personal opinions may have to be involved in anything that will make that job interesting, it is best to get it enough to join it, you'll want to take part in its programs and enjoy the social relations associated with it. But don't get carried away. By all means, enjoy the job, but don't make the clubs and activities an aid and not a detriment to your college career.
Cliff Breeze

By Elaine C. Huber

The Breeze claims but one excuse for its presence on these pages: It is a small campus newspaper that seeks, from time to time, to present the viewpoint that students should not be content to accept the conventional wisdom that college life is a race against time.

But you, the people who read the Breeze, are not the only people we have in mind. There are the students who are not members of the Breeze staff, the faculty members who have a stake in the future of the University, and the alumni who have a stake in the future of the University.

The Breeze is published weekly during the fall and spring semesters and biweekly during the summer.

Home Ec Club Help With Meals

"We strew the best meals on campus," has long been the boast of the Home Ec Clubs. Helping to keep other clubs at Edgcliff to become more adept in the culinary art, the girls have prepared a cookbook crammed full of delicious and appetizing menus easily prepared for other clubs.

Besides the menus, the ambitious meal planner will find complete market lists based on the number of reservations,Inset; and servings to make for "Better Club Suppers Through Experienced Hands." Like their cook-book, their club program is crammed full of interesting events. November is a time when all of the ingredients are ready for the special planting.

National Youth Federation and Council Formed

(Continued from Page 4)

Not annually when the national convention is held.

Officers Elected

The first national officers were elected Oct. 13 at the convention, making a living, executive, and local. The president is William Martin, Jr., 23-year-old veteran. Gene Irvin, 18, a college student from San Antonio, Texas, is vice president. Patricia McNall, 22, of Indiana, Ind., a private secretary, is secretary of the federation. Fred Mindman, 25, An insurane salesman, from Little Rock, Ark., is treasurer.

The National Council of Catholic Youth, the second organization of the agenda, is then quickly organized. This union all Catholic youth into one body. The organizational set-up is very simple, it is composed of the president and vice-president of each of the cubbing federations, the NFCDC and the National Federation of Catholic Youth Councils, and the representatives of all the other organizations forming the National Council of Catholic Youth.

Compliments of Simon Leis

Jeann Feltenag, Elaine Duwel

Dr. Morgenthau To Speak At Ohio IRC Convention

"We strew the best meals on campus," has long been the boast of the Home Ec Clubs. Helping to keep other clubs at Edgcliff to become more adept in the culinary art, the girls have prepared a cookbook crammed full of delicious and appetizing menus easily prepared for other clubs.

Besides the menus, the ambitious meal planner will find complete market lists based on the number of reservations, inset; and servings to make for "Better Club Suppers Through Experienced Hands." Like their cookbook, their club program is crammed full of interesting events. November is a time when all of the ingredients are ready for the special planting.

National Youth Federation and Council Formed

(Continued from Page 4)

Not annually when the national convention is held.

Officers Elected

The first national officers were elected Oct. 13 at the convention, making a living, executive, and local. The president is William Martin, Jr., 23-year-old veteran. Gene Irvin, 18, a college student from San Antonio, Texas, is vice president. Patricia McNall, 22, of Indiana, Ind., a private secretary, is secretary of the federation. Fred Mindman, 25, an insurance salesman, from Little Rock, Ark., is treasurer.

The National Council of Catholic Youth, the second organization of the agenda, is then quickly organized. This union all Catholic youth into one body. The organizational set-up is very simple, it is composed of the president and vice-president of each of the hubbing federations, the NFCDC and the National Federation of Catholic Youth Councils, and the representatives of all the other organizations forming the National Council of Catholic Youth.
Coming Events

November

Monday 5 — Literary Guild supper meeting.
Tuesday 6 — Home Economics Club meeting.
Wednesday 7 — Sociology Club meeting.
Thursday 8 — Edgelfield Players meeting.
Wednesday 14 — International Relations meeting.

European Relief To Benefit From OSP Variety Show

Nearly one hundred girls representing each class participated in the annual variety show under the direction of Patricia Robinson. The "All American Girl" was the theme of the show, given by the cast and all connected with the show twice this year Oct. 24 and 26 for the benefit of American Language majors hoping to find a job in the teaching field. The hopes of the committee, while living, were realized by the auditorium being filled to capacity both nights.

Clare Booth Luce Speaks At Convention Closing

Scheherazade."

Clare Booth Luce, playwright and former congresswoman, was the memory of the Edgecliff's Choral Group under the direction of John J. Fehring singing at the final dinner of the National Catholic Youth Conference at the Sheraton-Gibson Roof Garden recently.

More than 1,000 Catholic youths and youth leaders attended the dinner to hear Mrs. Clare Booth Luce, playwright and former congresswoman.

Mrs. Luce in her speech charged the Catholics with the duty of bringing Catholic truth also to non-Catholic youth whom she described as "illiterate, fatalistic, and apathetic."

"Most young people today are indifferent to faith. They have a very keen sense that all they are reading will only confuse them. They don't bother to read and they don't bother to pray because, in the end; they feel they will discover that one truth is as good as another or maybe that there is no truth..."

"Many young people are fatalistic because the prospect of an atomic war gives them a sense of physical insecurity which produces emotional uncertainty" Mrs. Luce said.

"That requires explanation is not the opportunism, skepticism, and fatalism of this younger generation. What we need to explain is the false liberalism, conveited optimism, and godless materialism of their elders."

"In a world where young people have very little to hope for...there is only one course of action. That is to try to be Christian ambassadors, to try to be Christian heroes, to try to be saints."

Alumna Writes "Charity Ball Waltz"

A member of the Class of 1898, Miss Mary Jane Kleve, has recently written "The Waltz," which will be introduced as a formal for the Charity Ball Pageant of Fashions taking place Tuesday, Oct. 30, at the Sheraton.

Miss Kleve wrote both the music and words of the dance. The composition will be given its premiere at the fashion show by Mrs. J. Vincent Aug. Mrs. Aug also made a special recording of the "Charity Ball Waltz," and the records will be available for those in attendance at the fashion show.

Before the fashions and the fashion spectacle will be presented, the City of Cincinnati's "Claret Cup" will be served at tables set for groups of three.

The evening will go to the work of the Dominican Sisters of the Sick Poor.

To Address Sociologists

The Louisville Chapter of the National Catholic Women's Honors Society, is sponsoring a Short Story Contest.

Prizes of $30.00 for the first place winner and $10.00 for the second place winner will be awarded.

All stories must be in the mail by March 13, 1952.

Artists Attend C.A. Meet

Several Edgelfield students who are interested in art attended a meeting of the College Committee of the Catholic Art Association on Oct. 23. These delegates were Barbara Glauser, Sally Bunker, Nancy Baarlaer, Peggy Feltroy, Barbara Doyle, and Marian Fox.

The College Committee of the C.A.A. was formed in 1949 for the purpose of combing academic and human creative work to the Kingdom of Christ. Edgelfield students met with a group from Mount Saint-Joseph, Villa Madonna, and Xavier to plan this year's activities. A discussion on the philosophy of Catholic art was featured.

The student section plans to discuss philosophical problems, particularly in the arts, their application to work, and the evaluation of actual works of art by casual analysis. By means of this exchange of ideas, and through meditation, reading, and study, the students hope to become patrons and makers of products of the fine and applied arts which can be termed truly Christian.

Clare Overbeck, president, and Ann Winter of Edgelfield Classical Club, were representatives of the college at the Ohio Classical Association convention at Netherland Plaza, Oct. 26 and 27.

The topic, "Earliest Written Records of Europe," was presented by Dr. Carl Blegen, director of the University of Cincinnati's excavations at Troy. Other speakers included professors at Ohio Wesleyan, and other prominent representatives of our universities.

Highlighting the convention was the lecture "Some In The Late Republican Culture" with slides showing scenes of the newly discovered city of Coss.