Archbishop Alter Will Attend Edgecliff Advent Celebration On Dec. 1

Nitro Group Provides Spirit Of Advent Assembly

"Spirit of the Liturgy During the Advent Season" will be the theme of the special assembly for students on December 1. Members of the planning committee for the program are: Florence Jans, Dorothea Brodebeck, Lorretta Baker and Betty Gleason. Betty Moran is general chairman.

Archbishop Karl J. Alter will attend the assembly. That evening he will be guest speaker and the a dinner in Emerald Hall to which the resident students and members of the Liturgy Commission have been invited.

The closing event of the program will be the chanting of the O Antiphon, scriptural verses which are sung before the Magnificat in the Divine Office December 17-23. The antiphon is taken from the fact that each of them begins with the word O. They are titles given to the Redeemer and bring out various characteristics of His person and mission.

Betty Moran, president of the Liturgy Commission and general chairman of the special Advent assembly, with three of her committee members Dorothea Brodebeck, Chery Kemper and Betty Gleason, examines some of the O Antiphon placards to be used in the Dec. 1 program.

McAuley Hall Program Honors St. Cecilia, Patroness of Music

Members of the music and speech departments joined to present a program in honor of St. Cecilia, the patron saint of musicians, on Monday, Nov. 22, in the organ room of McAuley Hall.

The program included piano and organ selections and a dramatic reading. The pianists' program consisted of the following: Sonatas by Mozart, Mary Ann Curtin; Sunken Cathedral by Debussy, Florence Jans; Rhapsody In Blue by Gershwin, Joana Fochi; Harmonious Blacksmith by Handel; Rhapsody in E by Bax, Judy Ryan; Sorcerers by Schumann, Roberta Robert; Liebestraume by Lied and Second Arabesque by Debussy, Mary LaVallie. A two piano number was presented by Judy Ryan and Carolyn Heeger. Students of organ, Marian Piller and Mary Catherine Hughes, offered Prelude and Fugue by Bach and Jubilant Dec by Silver respectively as their selections.

Jeaninne Grannen, a member of the speech department, prepared a reading from the Peer Gynt Suite to complete the program.

Evening Mass Ends Marian Celebration

One of the oldest churches dedicated to Our Lady in this area, St. Mary's 13th and Clay, will be the scene of the Solemn Pontifical High Mass which will officially close the Diocesan Marian Year celebration. This evening Mass will be the major event of the celebration for Archbishop Karl J. Alter on Tues., Dec. 8 at 8:00 p.m. Mons. Paul F. Leibold, Chancellor, will deliver the sermon at the Mass.

The Choral group of Our Lady of Cincinnati College will form part of the choir which will be composed of the students from the Seminary, the College of Mount St. Joseph, Graville, and other choral groups. The choir will sing the Regina Pyxis Parts by Flor Peter, and Ave Maris from Mater.

Featured HIGHLIGHTS

NOVEMBER

24. Thanksgiving Vacation Begins at Noon
29. Classes Resume

DECEMBER

1. Liturgical Assembly
4. Speech Festival at Xavier University
6. Science Club Meeting
7. Student Council Meeting
8. Solitude Day
End of Marian Year
9. CSMC Meeting
13. Residential Students Buffet Dance
14. Mothers Club Meeting
15. Sociological Club Meeting
16. Edgecliff Flyers Meeting
17. Alumni Christmas Party
18. Joint IEC and Tri-Lingual Christmas Party
19. Christmas Carol

Proff Entertains At Joint Meeting

Dr. Anne Groenbauer, chairman of Edgecliff's German department, served as the main speaker at the first joint meeting of the International Relations and Tri-Lingual clubs, Nov. 16. The meeting was devoted to a discussion of Germany with special emphasis on her customs and her place in the world of nations. A special attraction was the singing and explanation of several famous "Deutsche Volkslieder" by students of the German language and accompanied by Dr. Groenbauer.
Two Parties Or Not?

Even though some vanquished candidates are still pressing for recounts of votes, elections are over. Nationally speaking the voters have spoken. But for the advertisers, it's a never-ending battle to win in 1956.

This fact is clearly evident, yet, it indicates a trend which is not so clearly discerned by the general public. More voters are at last recognizing that the parties were increased to foster every insignificant point of view in order to win in 1956.

The principle of dependability cannot be built up at once. This fact is fairly evident, yet, it indicates a trend which is not so clearly discerned by the general public. More voters are at last recognizing that the parties were increased to foster every insignificant point of view in order to win in 1956.

The principle of dependability cannot be built up at once. This fact is fairly evident, yet, it indicates a trend which is not so clearly discerned by the general public. More voters are at last recognizing that the parties were increased to foster every insignificant point of view in order to win in 1956.

The principle of dependability cannot be built up at once. This fact is fairly evident, yet, it indicates a trend which is not so clearly discerned by the general public. More voters are at last recognizing that the parties were increased to foster every insignificant point of view in order to win in 1956.

The principle of dependability cannot be built up at once. This fact is fairly evident, yet, it indicates a trend which is not so clearly discerned by the general public. More voters are at last recognizing that the parties were increased to foster every insignificant point of view in order to win in 1956.

The principle of dependability cannot be built up at once. This fact is fairly evident, yet, it indicates a trend which is not so clearly discerned by the general public. More voters are at last recognizing that the parties were increased to foster every insignificant point of view in order to win in 1956.

The principle of dependability cannot be built up at once. This fact is fairly evident, yet, it indicates a trend which is not so clearly discerned by the general public. More voters are at last recognizing that the parties were increased to foster every insignificant point of view in order to win in 1956.

The principle of dependability cannot be built up at once. This fact is fairly evident, yet, it indicates a trend which is not so clearly discerned by the general public. More voters are at last recognizing that the parties were increased to foster every insignificant point of view in order to win in 1956.

The principle of dependability cannot be built up at once. This fact is fairly evident, yet, it indicates a trend which is not so clearly discerned by the general public. More voters are at last recognizing that the parties were increased to foster every insignificant point of view in order to win in 1956.

The principle of dependability cannot be built up at once. This fact is fairly evident, yet, it indicates a trend which is not so clearly discerned by the general public. More voters are at last recognizing that the parties were increased to foster every insignificant point of view in order to win in 1956.
The Edgecliff

Nov. 24, 1954

Noted Catholic Psychiatric Visits Campus

"Psychiatry and the Catholic Church," a recent lecture by Dr. Frank J. Ayd, Jr., a California psychiatrist, was cancelled by the speaker, at the Nov. 17 assembly in the college auditorium.

Dr. Ayd, who previously lectured at Loyola college in Baltimore, where he later became chairman of the department of psychology at the Graduate School, and received his medical degree from the University of Maryland. He has lectured on psychiatric matters at the Catholic University of America and played an important role in the National Catholic Student Conference during the past five years.

Dr. Ayd visited Edgecliff as a part of his lecture tour of the Cincinnati area, having also spoken at Xavier university, Villanova University, and the Cincinnati Society to members of the Lay Catholic Movement.

Dr. Ayd will undertake a lecture tour next year which will include members of the Lay Catholic Movement and the North American college in Rome.

Junior Poetess Appears On TV

Edgecliff now has among its student body an honorary member of the Jabberwock Review. She is Sara Ann Zombie, whose poem "Zombie" was discussed on WCET's program by Ed Post on Nov. 4. The four judges, Dr. Daniel Steible, Miss Sara Thongon, a student of English, and two guest panel members, rated her poem "Zombie" as the best heard on the television program, which is on Channel 48 every Tuesday evening.

Another student recently seen on WCET is Johnie Polich '55 who played Chopin's Polonaise and Fantste Improptus. She appeared on WCET's program "Debut" Nov. 13.

Own Poetry Topic Of Frost Lectures

Robert Frost, nationally acknowledged as America's most distinguished poet, lectured on Monday evening, Nov. 16, and Thursday afternoon, November 19, at the Ohio State University, University of Cincinnati, Oberlin College, and DePauw University. Several of these lectures and students were present to hear Mr. Frost give readings from his poetry, and discuss the commentaries upon them, as his style, meaning, and circumstances surrounding their composition.

Mr. Frost also spoke about his philosophy of life, and expressed an admiration for individualism as opposed to socialism. One of the most amusing comments that he made during the evening was that he hoped education would never become so homogenized that the individual would come to the top.

The most familiar poems of Mr. Frost were rest. Dr. Post noted: "The Ego Not Taken, Births, Stopping by the Woods on a Snowy Evening." He also noted some not-too-well-known humorous ones, for example: "The Telephone." Monday evening before his lecture, Mr. Frost was presented with an honorary Doctor of Law degree from the university. Professor Harry M. Frost was presented with the superior of the George Euston Poetry Prize, and all teachers and students of high schools and colleges in this vicinity were invited to attend these lectures.

On Stage" wishes to present a verbal bouquet to all those concerned with the Recent Edgecliff Players presentation of "Pygmalion" that deserve recognition as one of the best performances our stage has seen. It certainly outdistances the current fare being offered on Cincinnati's legitimate stage.

The symphony presents Guzman, Novacek, pianist, in an afternoon performance at 3 p.m. Saturday. The concert will be preceded by a free recital for the students of the high school by the visiting vocalists.

Mr. Frost will speak at the Nov. 28 presentation of the "Theatre of the World's Most famous Poets" at the Christian Science Auditorium.

No Free Concerts

The symphony presents Guzman, Novacek, pianist, in an afternoon performance at 3 p.m. Saturday. The concert will be preceded by a free recital for the students of the high school by the visiting vocalists.

Mr. Frost will speak at the Nov. 28 presentation of the "Theatre of the World's Most famous Poets" at the Christian Science Auditorium.

Theatrical Review

"On Stage" wishes to present a verbal bouquet to all those concerned with the Recent Edgecliff Players presentation of "Pygmalion" that deserve recognition as one of the best performances our stage has seen. It certainly outdistances the current fare being offered on Cincinnati's legitimate stage.

The symphony presents Guzman, Novacek, pianist, in an afternoon performance at 3 p.m. Saturday. The concert will be preceded by a free recital for the students of the high school by the visiting vocalists.

Mr. Frost will speak at the Nov. 28 presentation of the "Theatre of the World's Most famous Poets" at the Christian Science Auditorium.

Theatrical Review

"On Stage" wishes to present a verbal bouquet to all those concerned with the Recent Edgecliff Players presentation of "Pygmalion" that deserve recognition as one of the best performances our stage has seen. It certainly outdistances the current fare being offered on Cincinnati's legitimate stage.

The symphony presents Guzman, Novacek, pianist, in an afternoon performance at 3 p.m. Saturday. The concert will be preceded by a free recital for the students of the high school by the visiting vocalists.

Mr. Frost will speak at the Nov. 28 presentation of the "Theatre of the World's Most famous Poets" at the Christian Science Auditorium.
Members of the new evening class in art stop their work long enough to examine the progress of one of their fellow amateur artists. The class consists of, seated from left to right: Julha Nicholas, Jean Decker Kemper '47, Kit Nichols '47, Rachel List Siegmann '47 and Rosemary Center '47. Standing from left to right are: Mary Alice Harsh, Marilyn Meyer '53 and Eleanor Waters '51. Kuntze B. Kemper was absent when the picture was taken.

By Kay Wetzal '56

One of the latest pieces of modern advice to be issued goes something like this, "Every adult should have a hobby!" In accord with Edgcliff's ever-expanding modernization movement, a course is being offered for the current most popular class of hobby enthusiasts, the amateur artists.

Art and crafts class, Our Lady of Cincinnati's second venture in evening courses, is being offered on Tuesday nights from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The first class was held Oct. 19, and the classes will run through January.

Although the class is open to the public, most of its members are Edgcliff alumnae. In fact, it was organized at the request of some of the more artistic alumnae. According to Dr. Daniel J. Steible, who represents Sister Mary Gary, Krish, Edgcliff president, at the banquet, returned to the campus with a citation in the form of a diploma, which has been framed and now hangs in the faculty lounge in the Administration building. This citation of merit says, in part:

Ohio's colleges and universities, faithful to these precepts, are among the most precious of her assets. Thousands of dedicated scholars and teachers, tens of thousands of students are ever preparing to challenge the new frontiers of science and invention, inspire service and leadership by thousands of loyal alumni, and millions of dollars invested in buildings and equipment add prestige to Ohio as one of the great educational centers of America... BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: that a copy of this Citation be issued to OUR LADY OF CINCINNATI COLLEGE in recognition of its individual achievement...

Edgcliff Offers First Evening Art Course

(Continued from page 3)

in the diocesan celebration of Madonna Week. There was great impetus given at this time to increasing the number of greeting cards honoring this saint. The cards were created and published by the Liturgy Commission. The text for these cards is taken from either the Little Office of the Blessed Virgin or from the liturgy of the Church.

This school year saw the Sociology Club, g pneumonia, air-brush technique, silversmithing, painting and silkscreening. Sister Madeleine Sajewski, chairman of the art department, will use these pictures and her evening art class as student matter for her part in the coming National Catholic Art Association Convention in Indiana.

FURTHER (Continued from page 1)

Students - Scientists Experiment

(Continued from Page 1) concentrate on the Edgecliff campus.

As each constituent of the extract is isolated it will be tested further with African violets. In this manner it will be determined if it has an adverse effect on insects. The Seminar is also studying the potential of some of the natural compounds which were recently discovered at Edgcliff. Bacteria are known to have toxic and/or germicidal effects of these compounds.

Students Participate In Youth Parade

Forty-two students of Our Lady of Cincinnati College participated in the annual Christmas parade held on Sun., Nov. 7, at 2:30 p.m., which marked the climax of the diocese's observance of National Catholic Youth Week. The procession began at Commercial Square and ended at St. Mary's Church, 13th and Clay Streets, where the students took part in a special Marian hour.

While marching in the procession, the participants wore special badges of the decades of the Rosary. The procession was directed by the Sacred C.Y.O. of the Cincinnati area.

Violinist Plays For Club

Miss Sandra Barnolt, nineteen year old violinist from the Conservatory, descends from a distinguished Music club members at their Nov. 23 supper-club meeting. Miss Barnolt belongs to a very musical family since her parents are members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. At present she is studying with Mr. Julian Barnolt.

DONT FORGET... to save your cancelled tax stamps. A box in the office of the dean is ready to receive them.