1972-09-06

Edgecliff Student Newspaper

Edgecliff College - Cincinnati

Follow this and additional works at: http://www.exhibit.xavier.edu/edgecliff_newspaper

Recommended Citation

http://www.exhibit.xavier.edu/edgecliff_newspaper/230

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Journals, Publications, Conferences, and Proceedings at Exhibit. It has been accepted for inclusion in Edgecliff College Newspaper by an authorized administrator of Exhibit. For more information, please contact exhibit@xavier.edu.
Departments receive new members

The new faculty on campus this year is comprised of a mixture of instructors from across the nation, and some from around the world. There are approximately 39 of them and each will bring a different background and life style to the campus community.

New members of the Education department include Sister Carolyn Brink, M.A., Instructor, who received her degree in Education from University of Cincinnati, M.S.; Sister Patricia Moloney, M.A., Instructor who received her degree in Education from the University of Cincinnati; and Sister Pauline Beltz, M.S., Assistant Professor, who received her B.A. from Thomas More College; and Sister Judith Winsberg, O.B.U., who received her B.A. at Edgcliff College, and her M.A. at Xavier University.

Richard J. Sweeney, who received his B.S. in Arts degree at Xavier University, will be serving the English department as a teaching assistant.

Among those helping students "master math" will be Mr. Richard S. Conger, who received his M.A. in Mathematics from the University of New Hampshire.

Mr. Terence M. Donohue, Jr., who is also outstanding in the field of Education at Xavier University, and Mr. Richard Steible, Jr., who is outstanding in the field of Education at Xavier University, have been appointed to the department.

Encouraging musical development are Donald Schenk, who received his B.A. from Xavier College community selects leaders To compromise Dean's List of Service

The Dean's List of Service, a special recognition for outstanding service to the college by a student, was initiated for the first time last year by the Office of the Dean of Students.

According to Sister Margaret Longhill, who is now continuing her graduate studies at Xavier University in Atlanta, Ga., the Dean's List of Service is similar to the Dean's List for academic excellence.

Sister Margaret continued: "Students who achieve academically are always listed on the Dean's List, however, there are many students who also outstanding in many areas to the Edgcliff college throughout the course of the year. This year the list may be seen as an office, club or committee mem-

The Excellence in Teaching Award was given to Sister Elaine Cartier, M.R.M., of the Biology department at Edgcliff College, at the faculty awards dinner in May of 1972.

Sister Elaine was chosen as the recipient of this annual honor by student vote. The result of the voting was kept a secret until the night of the dinner, two days before graduation.

A graduate of Edgcliff College herself, Sister Elaine interred in medical technology at Mercy Medical Center in Springfield, Ohio. She entered the Sisters of Mercy and earned a B.S. in nursing from Xavier University, a Bachelor of Science degree in nursing from the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C.

Sister Elaine became chairwoman of the Biology department in 1969. When asked how she viewed the future of her department, Sister Elaine Cartier commented: "The present number of students in the department is the largest it has ever been. More people are becoming interested in the health fields today."

Sister Elaine was asked what pleased her most about the honor. Her reply came instantly: "The reason the award has so much meaning for me," she said, "is that it is the result of the students' votes."

Sister Elaine Cartier, right, views her award for Excellence in Teaching with Roberto Gruber, who was a member of the Biology department until 1972.

An award for Excellence in Teaching was presented to Sister Elaine Cartier, Chairwoman of the Biology department at Edgcliff College, at the faculty awards dinner in May of 1972.

Sister Elaine was chosen as the recipient of this annual honor by student vote. The result of the voting was kept a secret until the night of the dinner, two days before graduation.

A graduate of Edgcliff College herself, Sister Elaine interred in medical technology at Mercy Medical Center in Springfield, Ohio. She entered the Sisters of Mercy and earned a B.S. in nursing from Xavier University, a Bachelor of Science degree in nursing from the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C.

Sister Elaine became chairwoman of the Biology department in 1969. When asked how she viewed the future of her department, Sister Elaine Cartier commented: "The present number of students in the department is the largest it has ever been. More people are becoming interested in the health fields today."

Sister Elaine was asked what pleased her most about the honor. Her reply came instantly: "The reason the award has so much meaning for me," she said, "is that it is the result of the students' votes."

Sister Elaine Cartier, right, views her award for Excellence in Teaching with Roberto Gruber, who was a member of the Biology department until 1972.
New Faces, new Edgecliff

The Edgecliff extends a hearty welcome to all the new faces now a part of our college community, as well as the familiar ones. Each year brings new faces to familiar places... and our face has changed! This year we are attempting to make ourselves more accessible to you through more frequent publication. We are changing our format. Hopefully, we will become more useful. We're even considering changing the name of the Edgecliff.

New column included in this issue concerns political, cultural, events, and book reviews... and a column entitled Meet the Professor.

We hope the students and other members of the college community will take advantage of our "new face" and get to know us.

The Edgecliff

Dear Editors:

This is an open letter to Linda Weiler and all the Orientation Committee members.

Congratulations on a very successful Orientation Week! We are writing this open letter because there are so many to thank and we want all of you to get public recognition from the college community.

Since last March endless hours have been spent in planning this week, and it couldn't have run so smoothly without your tireless dedication. We appreciate what was obvious as well as the many things done that no one is aware of.

The parents felt reassured because of your friendly, helpful spirit.

For us it has been reassuring to share those days with you and observe your growth in assuming responsibility and leadership.

We thank you and joyfully anticipate working with you this year.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Chairman

Dear Editors

"Mine is a glad world, despite its roundness, I am sure it is a glad world.

And an easy leather chair," I thought. Unfortunately, I couldn't

Guest best describe my freshman year at Edgecliff, even though I really found "an easy leather chair" under my pile of books!

Yet, it wasn't all study and no play. You haven't experienced life until you've pushed one of your classmates to Krogan's in a shopping cart or set off the door alarm while going home from (would you believe?) beginning ballet class!

Political Forum

Which way America, which way to vote?

by Marjorie Wettje

Every since the coronation of Richard Nixon, the nation has been ecstatic frasico of Miami Beach there has been an increasing number of "vote for Nixon" posters on the campus.

Richard Nixon, obviously, has quite a few things going for him.

To begin with, he is the President. (make no mistake about that, I say "President" and not "Governor")

By now limited (as has been demonstrated by the lavish donation of the Republican convention hall) and (3) there seems to be almost perfect harmony among Republican ranks.

Even Governor Rockefeller is heartily endorsing Nixon. McGover is so far back in the polls that he seems to be climbing a mountain with an ice pick in hand.

The issue on which Senator McGovern is running is (or it seems to me) immediate exit from them. The President is so close to winding down the war successfully. If the last seven days are anything like November 5, there will be no doubt who will be President for the next four years.

What is McGovern's foreign policy? (1) A return to the way it was immediately? Certainly you do now hear Mr. Nixon's for he served extremely high in the Peking and Moscow primaries.

He promises to cut defense spending sharply which means the nation is set to drift back into the drenched evil of Communism.

The President, to me, is high up on the executive scale out of touch with the people. He is a political man and runs the office. But the country is not made up of systems, committees, and offices to be part of America is the people and until Mr. Nixon crosses to the right for the people, we will see all their imperfections, nopes, dreams, and desires, he feels to be a leader of men.

In George McGovern I see, not a great administrator, but a friend of the people of America. His bid may not be sold, but Congress would fully examine it before approving the place.

His plan for pull-out from Vietnam is logical. Vietnamization is not working and if Mr. Nixon's plan continues, we may see Viet-Nameless and Alexandra as the willful tsarina (Mountbatten, 1961).

And so, as of now, I remain undecided on who is the best man, seeing good (an administrator in McGovern, an honest friend of the people in McGeorge) and bad (McGovern's stand, or lack of it, or abortion, and Nixon's cookery with the grassroots of America) qualities in both men. I stand open minded.

HONESTY

Senator McGovern has about him no air of honesty that can sed-reform in politicians. He impresses me as truly sincere in his hopes and wishes for the country. I'm not denying that the President is sincere also, but I haven't been able to see it in him.

At the Democratic convention, everyone expected the entire place to disintegrate in the midst of traditional Democratic arguing It did not. In fact, the people there were probably more human in their search for democracy: A motley crowd, but a good representation of America. That seems to be what McGovern stands for.

THE PEOPLE

The President, to me, is high up on the executive scale out of touch with the people. He is a political man and runs the office. But the country is not made up of systems, committees, and offices to be part of America is the people and until Mr. Nixon crosses to the right for the people, we will see all their imperfections, nopes, dreams, and desires, he feels to be a leader of men.

In George McGovern I see, not a Linux and, Alexandra is a type of movie that is becoming more and more popular now-a-days: the historical epic. It depicts the dissolution of aristocracy into chaos and the ruthless take-over of the Soviet regime.

The surprising objectivity of this movie does not make a hero or a villains out of any of the participants in the national tragedy, but rather permits the viewer to decide, if he must, who is at fault.

There are excellent portrayals of Nicholas, Alexandra, and Rasputin rendered against backdrop of the crimping hemophilia of the tasso-

which, the assassination of Stolypin, and payment of a death barrage of the tsar.

Nicholas is portrayed as a good father whose lack of molives as a son confirms his family to death; Alexandra as the villainous tsarina whose anger over the taxtech cost her the confidence of the Russian people and Rasputin as the disloyal mone's whose cunning madness ingratiated himself into the empress' favor.

Nicholas and Alexandra is not chryse like Mary Poppins. It is a realistic, objective, and honest film. The issues and people are not made clear cut but left delectably ambiguous with certainly reserved only for the end.

New Student Center

The white house in college at 2100 Upload Place, formerly the chaplain's residence, will be Edgecliff's new Student Center. Watch for further details. Ideas may be submitted to Student Government.

The Edgecliff is published every three weeks by the students of Edgecliff College

The Edgecliff has adopted the following editorial policy: We reserve the right to edit all material whatsoever. Editorial comments do not necessarily reflect the views of the college or of the students as a whole.

New Faces, new Edgecliff

The Edgecliff extends a hearty welcome to all the new faces now a part of our college community, as well as the familiar ones. Each year brings new faces to familiar places... and our face has changed! This year we are attempting to make ourselves more accessible to you through more frequent publication. We are changing our format. Hopefully, we will become more useful. We're even considering changing the name of the Edgecliff.

New column included in this issue concerns political, cultural, events, and book reviews... and a column entitled Meet the Professor.

We hope the students and other members of the college community will take advantage of our "new face" and get to know us.

The Edgecliff

The surprising objectivity of this movie does not make a hero or a villain out of any of the participants in the national tragedy, but rather permits the viewer to decide, if he must, who is at fault.

There are excellent portrayals of Nicholas, Alexandra, and Rasputin rendered against backdrop of the crimping hemophilia of the tsar.