1976-10-08

Edgecliff Student Newspaper

Edgecliff College - Cincinnati

Follow this and additional works at: http://www.exhibit.xavier.edu/edgecliff_newspaper

Recommended Citation

http://www.exhibit.xavier.edu/edgecliff_newspaper/257

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Journals, Publications, Conferences, and Proceedings at Exhibit. It has been accepted for inclusion in Edgecliff College Newspaper by an authorized administrator of Exhibit. For more information, please contact exhibit@xavier.edu.
Plant Party Held in Alumni Lounge

Edgcliff's green thumb came popping up all over when the "Down To Earth Plant Shoppe" presented a party for its loyal customers Thursday night in the Alumni Lounge.

Over 30 different types of plants were on hand when "Down To Earth," a shop specializing in all types of plants, pottery, and macrame, gave an informal talk on the care of plants and answered questions on various problems with plants. The plants were on sale after the party for prices ranging from one dollar for small well meaning or persons with direction.

Vol. 42, No. 2

Edgcliff College

Friday, Oct. 8, 1976

Student Aid Available

The Bureau's director Dr. Robert J. Bolles says, "Millions of dollars originally set up in foundations to aid students in varied fields of higher education goes untouched each year. Qualified students do not know of the funds and in many cases have never heard of the foundation or funds. Hundreds of foundations have been set up at the request of some worthy students and to put many foundations on notice that their aid is available.

The Bureau is the first such organization to set up in foundations to aid students in varied fields of higher education. There are now and have been administrators of these foundations who find security in their position as administrator or director to play down the revenue service and their tax exempt status. Nothing is gained by faithfully and diligently trying to themselves a nice fat annual fee to administrate a do nothing foundation." Dr. Bolles went on to say, "It is the Bureau's hope to make contact with many under-qualified students and to put many foundations on notice that their aid will be requested by worthy students and that failure on the part of foundations to respond will be reported to the internal revenue service and their tax exempt status questioned.

Students interested in information about participating in this program may write: American College and University Service Bureau, Dept. P, 1728 - 5050 Poplar Ave., Memphis, Tn. 38117.

Get Away... to the Smokies

First semester "Get Away Weekend" will be in the small town of Gatlinburg, Tennessee, in the Smokey Mountains the weekend of October 7th and 8th. For more information, see Father Alchele, Dr. Schara or Vickie Cottrell.

Notice!

Due to the large curve in the street, the corner of Francis Lane and Victory Parkway is not safe. Whenever possible students are urged to park in the parking facilities on campus, or on another, less dangerous street. This would eliminate the chance of any future accidents.

Vaccine Available

Swine flu vaccine is now available for ages 18 and older. The vaccine will be administered on October 30th, 1976 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Alumni Lounge. The vaccine will be given by air gun free of charge. If you are interested in receiving the shot, sign the list on the door of my office by October 20th. Only those people who have signed the list will be eligible to receive the vaccine.

Clerical help is also needed at the time of the vaccinations. If you have the time to help in a clerical manner, please sign the other list on my door, and I will contact you. If you have any questions regarding the vaccine or clerical help, please call me at ext. 320.

Dottie Dreyer, Campus Nurse

Philip Morris Inc. Holds Student Competition

The Department of Religious Studies and The Cincinnati Archdiocesan of Religious Education will present its fifth annual religious workshop, October 23rd, in the Edgcliff Theatre.

This year's theme will be, "Family Life: A Theological Perspective." According to Dr. William Roberts, chairman of the workshop, the title was chosen because of the importance and relevancy of family life today.

The guest speaker will be Dr. Monika Hallig, Professor of Theology, at Georgetown University in Washington D.C. She is an internationally known teacher and author of several books.

The cost of the workshop is $5.00 per person. It is open to the students and faculty here at Edgcliff, as well as the surrounding Cincinnati and Kentucky communities.

Philip Morris Incorporated has announced its eighth annual Marketing/Communications Competition for college students. The purpose of the program is to provide students with a practical and realistic business project, bringing them into direct contact with the business community. Entries may deal with any aspect of the broad area of marketing/communications related to Philip Morris Incorporated, its operating companies or any of its non-tobacco products.

Student chapters of professional societies, regular classes or ad hoc committees of no less than five students and a faculty advisor may submit proposals. They should include the purpose and objective of their program. Deadline for entries is December 17, 1976. This year Philip Morris will offer separate awards to graduates and under-graduates students, recognizing the varied degrees of training and levels of experience between the two. A $1,000 grant will be awarded to the winning committee in each division. Winners will receive $500 grants, and other finalists in each category will receive special merit awards.

In addition to the grants, two student representatives and the faculty advisor from each winning entry are invited to attend the award ceremony, which will be held in New York City.

Philip Morris executives will present the awards on December 16th. The winners will be invited to attend a gala social and a dinner at the annual meeting of the Advertising Federation of America, to be held on December 17th. The winners will also be invited to attend an awards luncheon on December 18th. The awards will be presented at the annual meeting of the American Marketing Association, to be held on December 19th.

For additional information, please contact Marketing/Communications Competition, Philip Morris Inc., 100 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017.
Ford Vetoes Electric Car Legislation

by Jack Anderson with Joe Spear

WASHINGTON — On Sept. 1, President Ford vetoed legislation that would have established a federal fund to stimulate the development of electric cars. The bill, which had been introduced in both the House and Senate, was signed into law by the president.

The veto, announced in a White House statement, said that the proposals were "too expensive, too complex, and too uncertain of success." The president also said that the bill "would divert scarce resources away from other priorities." The statement added that the White House would "continue to explore" ways to promote the development of electric vehicles.

The veto was signed in the Oval Office, where the president was joined by his family and a small group of aides. During his remarks, the president said that he was "proud" of the legislation and that he was "looking forward" to working with Congress on the issue.

The legislation, which was sponsored by Senator Tom Harkin, Democrat of Iowa, and Representative Ed Markey, Democrat of Massachusetts, would have established a $1 billion fund to be used to develop and produce electric vehicles. The fund would have been administered by the Department of Energy and would have been available to any company that could demonstrate a plan for developing and producing electric vehicles. The legislation also included provisions for tax credits and other incentives for the purchase of electric vehicles.

Representative Markey said that he was "disappointed" by the veto and that he would continue to work with the president on the issue. "We believe that electric vehicles are the future of transportation," he said. "They are cleaner, more efficient, and more affordable than gasoline-powered vehicles. We will continue to work with the president to make this a reality."
Dianne Burns
Communication
entire student body make it. Without students manage to find their way to song writer. Her past experiences as strong and as quite interesting.

Harry Edgecliff
beginning their education.

"characters"

The next step was marriage. But that may have been.

The next step was marriage . But that really didn't interfere with the music. She began performing with her husband, "Cincinnati Joe."

Children came next. Writing commercials for radio and television seemed to fit right in with her work schedule at home.

The latest undertaking in Lydia's music career is managing a music production company, "Cincinnati Sounds," with her husband, Joe. "Muski-Madras" their last act, has just taped the song, "Shine Out With Me." This tune will be on WBIZ's album project, due to be released within the next week. The album will sell for $1.50, and all proceeds will go to charity.

After what many would call a very full and productive life, Lydia Wood is just beginning—and Edgecliff says, "Welcome Back!"

Music, Marriage, and Edgecliff

By Kathryn Free

After four children and a continuing music career, Edgecliff is welcoming Lydia Wood back to school.

Lydia has been contemplating coming back to school for a long time, but not until her last child, "Lucky," came along did she make definite plans to continue her education.

She chose Edgecliff because of the closeness, the small campus, the mellow mood, and the friendly atmosphere. Lydia describes the teachers here as "characters" and feels that each has a different approach to teaching. Edgecliff has been a tremendous help in coordinating her family life with studying by providing day care facilities here at school.

Lydia doesn't come to Edgecliff with just any old past—hers is rather unique and quite interesting. One of her careers began with folk music that eventually evolved into rock music. She considers herself as a semi-performer-song writer. Her past experiences include writing music for Judy Collins and Harry Belafonte.

The latest undertaking in Lydia's music career is managing a music production company, "Cincinnati Sounds," with her husband, Joe. "Muski-Madras" their last act, has just taped the song, "Shine Out With Me." This tune will be on WBIZ's album project, due to be released within the next week. The album will sell for $1.50, and all proceeds will go to charity.

After what many would call a very full and productive life, Lydia Wood is just beginning—and Edgecliff says, "Welcome Back!"

Star Trek Quiz

By Surinda Kaplan

Trekies, You'll notice that the questions are getting harder. Well, they'll get harder. But, there'll still be a few easy ones so don't get discouraged!

1. What are the Enterprise's registration number?
2. In what episode did one of the crew members acquire extraordinary psychic powers and claim godhood?
3. In "The Empath," which crew member was tortured and nearly died?
4. What was the name of the episode with the Antaresian boy who could make things disappear with a nod?
5. What was the name of the main character in "The Squire of Gothos?"
6. What was the name of the temporary commander in "The Doomsday Machine?"
7. What saved the Enterprise in the episode "Elsan of Troyius?"
8. What was the name of the last child, "Lucky,"
9. Who is referred to as the "Great Bird of the Galaxy?"
10. Are there starships larger and rampler than the Enterprise class ship?

By Cynthia Shepherd

"I like being here at Edgecliff, because it's small, and you get to know people on a personal level," says Dr. William Roberts, Chairperson of the Religious Studies Program. He went on to say that he found a good deal of interest and openness toward the program on the part of the students.

Dr. Roberts accepted the position as Director of the program last year. He has held many other positions, including: Chairperson of Religious Studies at Wheeling University, in Virginia; has taught many religion courses; has held an administrative position in Religious Education; plus has had a heavy involvement in adult education. Dr. Roberts is the author of three books, and many articles, and is presently a member of several different organizations throughout the city.

Since Dr. Roberts has been here at Edgecliff, the curriculum of the Religion Department has been reconstructed to widen the offerings in response to the needs of the students. Among the many courses offered, is a marriage course taught by Dr. Roberts; if an enrollment of about 47 students, predominantly female.

"The purpose of the course, as I see it, is to provide a deeper understanding of the religious perspective of marriage," says Dr. Roberts, "and how this applies to the concrete day-to-day living of married life." This is the first time that the course has been offered in four or five years, and Dr. Roberts expressed the desire to see if offered every year.

When Dr. Roberts is not teaching classes here, or lecturing elsewhere, you might find him at home with his wife and three "lovely daughters," or jogging down the street. Besides being with his family, he loves to cook, get involved in politics, psychology, and college football.

Classified Ads

Music, Marriage, and Edgecliff

By Kathryn Free

After four children and a continuing music career, Edgecliff is welcoming Lydia Wood back to school.

Lydia has been contemplating coming back to school for a long time, but not until her last child, "Lucky," came along did she make definite plans to continue her education.

She chose Edgecliff because of the closeness, the small campus, the mellow mood, and the friendly atmosphere. Lydia describes the teachers here as "characters" and feels that each has a different approach to teaching. Edgecliff has been a tremendous help in coordinating her family life with studying by providing day care facilities here at school.

Lydia doesn't come to Edgecliff with just any old past—hers is rather unique and quite interesting. One of her careers began with folk music that eventually evolved into rock music. She considers herself as a semi-performer-song writer. Her past experiences include writing music for Judy Collins and Harry Belafonte.

The latest undertaking in Lydia's music career is managing a music production company, "Cincinnati Sounds," with her husband, Joe. "Muski-Madras" their last act, has just taped the song, "Shine Out With Me." This tune will be on WBIZ's album project, due to be released within the next week. The album will sell for $1.50, and all proceeds will go to charity.

After what many would call a very full and productive life, Lydia Wood is just beginning—and Edgecliff says, "Welcome Back!"

The Student Government here at Edgecliff College is not, nor does it hope to be, a nothing group trying to pre-guess just what the student body wants. After problems arose, some students manage to find their way to Student Government and then steps are taken to correct whatever the problem may have been. In short, S.G. of Edgecliff College, can only be as strong as and as weak as you, the entire student body make it. Without the support or wealth of information and ideas from the masses, progress is hard to accomplish.

Student government consists of four students, or senators, from each class, elected by majority vote. There are also, of course, the officers. Now from this group stems many different committee heads hopefully to return to the Government with proper reports and the normal what, if, when and why.

Following is a list of all the officers, senators and committee heads. They are there for you, the student body, to use. If you have a question, or a problem, take it to your senator—after all they do represent you—use them. S.G. can only serve you as well as you let them. Hope to be hearing from you.

OFFICERS
President — Dianne Burns
Vice President — Peg O' Malley
Secretary — Kyle Kark
Treasurer — Bob Bohanan

SENIATORS
Remy Yunker
Jan Thill
Chuck Gelgar
Dan Willcox
Jenna Ryan

C O N G R AT U L A T I O N S T O T H E N E W L Y E L E C T E D F R E S H M A N S E N A T O R S :

FR.
Kelly Barrett
Katy Free
Kurt Junker
Cindy VanNiman

C O M M I T T E E H E A D S

4 standing, permanent commit-

mities

1 — Athletic — Remy Yunker Dan Willcox
2 — Social — Albin Walabiblig
3 — Spiritual Values Mary Beth Hein Vickie Clift
Loren Townsend (Lisleon)
4 — Communications —

a) Public Relations Linda Muenchlin
b) Publicity Jan Thill
Tina Cianciolo

c) Communique
Denny B. Thomas

Dr. Roberts Director of Religious Studies

By Cynthia Shepherd

"I like being here at Edgecliff, because it's small, and you get to know people on a personal level," says Dr. William Roberts, Chairperson of the Religious Studies Program. He went on to say that he found a good deal of interest and openness toward the program on the part of the students.

Dr. Roberts accepted the position as Director of the program last year. He has held many other positions, including: Chairperson of Religious Studies at Wheeling University, in Virginia; has taught many religion courses; has held an administrative position in Religious Education; plus has had a heavy involvement in adult education. Dr. Roberts is the author of three books, and many articles, and is presently a member of several different organizations throughout the city.

Since Dr. Roberts has been here at Edgecliff, the curriculum of the Religion Department has been reconstructed to widen the offerings in response to the needs of the students. Among the many courses offered, is a marriage course taught by Dr. Roberts; if an enrollment of about 47 students, predominantly female.

"The purpose of the course, as I see it, is to provide a deeper understanding of the religious perspective of marriage," says Dr. Roberts, "and how this applies to the concrete day-to-day living of married life." This is the first time that the course has been offered in four or five years, and Dr. Roberts expressed the desire to see if offered every year.

When Dr. Roberts is not teaching classes here, or lecturing elsewhere, you might find him at home with his wife and three "lovely daughters," or jogging down the street. Besides being with his family, he loves to cook, get involved in politics, psychology, and college football.